VICTIM BURNED IN BED AFTER SIGNING WILL

Companion, 20, Tells of Starting Fire.

Kalamazoo, Mich., Oct. 14 [Special].—A 20 year old youth confessed tonight to the torch murder of George E. Eastman, 57 years old, a Chicago salesman, who was found fatally burned early today in his room in a Park avenue rooming house. The youth is Robert Larry Gordon, 20, formerly of Willimantic, Conn., Eastman's protégé and constant companion for the last three years.

Gordon made his statement of guilt to Police Chief Ralph Chapman, County Prosecutor Ray W. Fox, and Assistant Prosecutor A. Wallace Kent. They were unable to reconcile his statement that he and Eastman had quarreled frequently in recent weeks with a will, signed by Eastman and witnessed by the landlady only yesterday, which left Eastman's entire estate, of unknown value, to Gordon.

Gordon's confession, given only after he had ascertained that the maximum penalty for murder in Michigan is life imprisonment, described how he bought a can of gasoline after leaving Eastman on the pretext of getting a drink. He then gave him sleeping tablets to make him sleep.

Gordon's Confession.

"Having waited for quite some time," Gordon said, "I could hear the awaited effect of the pills. Slipping out of the room and into the bathroom I acquired a sort of boiling pot which I used to spread the gas around the room.

"It was poured from the five gallon container into the pot, and from here saturated over various areas. The odor of the gas was getting to be very strong. Having spread two or three gallons or maybe more over the room, getting some in every corner, I took the unused portion in the can and placed it on the roof along with the pot."

Gordon then explained that he lowered the window to within about five inches of closing, and waited beside the window. He watched for a pedestrian to approach a fire alarm box across the street, then lit a match and flicked it into the bedroom.

"The combustion was terrific," he related.

Disposes of Evidence.

Gordon said he then dropped the gasoline containers to the ground and dropped down from the porch. He crossed to his parked car and placed the articles inside. He drove past the fire alarm box, where the man [Kenneth Krowein, 18] was still standing. He called to him to turn in an alarm.

Gordon said he drove around a while longer, covering about 12 miles in all. He disposed of the gas containers and changed his clothes.

He was arrested when he returned to the scene an hour and a half later and attracted the attention of police by asking about Eastman. He at first stoutly denied his guilt.

The explosion and fire were at 1:44 a. m. Eastman died at 5:17 in the Bronson Methodist hospital, after moaning:

"Don't, Bob, you're killing me."

Met in Willimantic.

Gordon and Eastman met in Willimantic about five years ago, Gordon said, and the older man obtained work for him with his firm, then, after the suicide in Willimantic of Eastman's wife three years ago, took Gordon on the road with him as driver and companion.

Chief Chapman said he thought the reason for the quarrel was that Eastman had not been able to pay Gordon as much as the $31 weekly the youth made when he worked for the firm. The chief said he thought the boy brooded over this and planned the crime under the influence of liquor.

Prosecutor Fox said both first and second degree murder charges will be placed against Gordon.

Eastman, according to his brother, Wilbert E. Eastman, 328 South Lincoln street, Park Ridge, Ill., had been in poor health for some time. He was Michigan representative for the Gibbs Boardtile company, 615 North Aberdeen street, Chicago.

Burn Effigies of Talmadge at Georgia U.

Athens, Ga., Oct. 14 [Special].—A student uprising at the University of Georgia gathered momentum today as youthful demonstrators, who last night hanged and burned three effigies of Gov. Eugene Talmadge on the campus, planned to converge on the state capitol tomorrow to protest the executive's educational policies.

The outburst followed action of the Southern University conference yesterday in dropping the university from its membership because of the recent ouster of Dean Walter D. Cocking, against whom Talmadge had made charges. The conference termed the matter "a clear case of political interference."

Soon after hearing of the conference action last night, about 1,500 students massed on the campus in a wild demonstration. A riot squad of police and members of the fire department were called out but no arrests were made.

Parade Thru Fraternities.

The students paraded thru dormitories and fraternity houses and made speeches on the theme of "down with Talmadge" and "to hell with Talmadge."

The paraders, young men and girls, marched first to the agricultural campus. There, amid much cheering and shouting, they swung a red gallused effigy of the governor to a tree limb and then set it aflame. Other effigies were hanged and burned at Lucy Cobb dormitory and at the entrance arch of the university.

Talk of Mass Walkout.

Students continued today to gather in groups and talk excitedly of the situation. There was talk of a mass walkout of classes but the threat faded when students learned that the conference action did not bar their university from the list of accredited institutions.

Most of the faculty members and university officials were tight lipped about the situation, but William Tate, dean of men, commented: "I think the students have a perfect right to express their feelings."

The unanimous action of the conference, composed of 41 leading colleges from Maryland to Texas, approved an executive committee report stating that Cocking, dean of the college of education, was "dismissed from his position without due and reasonable notice and upon charges which are not substantiated."

The dean was dismissed this summer on Gov. Talmadge's charge that he had advocated racial coëducation. When the original board of regents at the university refused to oust Cocking, the governor revamped the board.

Raises Racial Issue.

Gov. Talmadge, who left Atlanta today for his farm home in McRae, Ga., commented that "the majority of those voting to discredit the University of Georgia are in favor of co-education of the blacks and the whites."

Several weeks ago he said that if the University of Georgia lost its accredited rating he would cut salaries of the school's professors in half, asserting that "they would not be worth as much."

Altho the Southern University conference has power only to drop the university from its list, which does not alter its accredited rating, the Cocking ouster is being investigated by a committee of the Southern Association of Colleges and Secondary schools, which does have that power.

REPORT NEW SLASH IN AUTO PRODUCTION WILL BE ANNOUNCED

Washington, D. C., Oct. 14 [Special].—Government officials were reported ready tonight to advise automobile manufacturers tomorrow that January production must be cut more than 50 per cent.

The auto makers will be told, it was said, that all shiny bumpers, fixtures, and other accessories must be drastically curtailed if not eliminated to save nickel, chromium, zinc, and brass for armament purposes.

They will be advised that the prospect for the future is for greater and greater curtailment of automobile production as the arms program grows, it is reported.

It was understood that the January production "ceiling" would provide for slightly more than 200,000 cars, as compared with a production of 411,233 automobiles in January, 1941.

Stacy May, chief of the office of Production Management bureau of research and statistics, who returned recently from England, is quoted as saying the United States eventually may have to limit production to 52,000 a year instead of the current plans to turn out more than 2,000,000.

Lieut. Kinsley and 3 Killed in Plane Crash

MANILA, P. I., Oct. 15 [Wednesday] (AP).—An army medium bomber crashed at Clark field in Pampanga province last night, killing its four occupants, the army reported today.

Lieut. R. R. Kinsley.

The plane was participating in a target mission involving anti-aircraft operations. Army officials said the pilot, Second Lieut. Rexford R. Kinsley, evidently was blinded by searchlight beams and his ship went out of control.

Besides Lieut. Kinsley, Privates Robert C. Frankhouser, Clarence A. Drapich, and Francis Bronnillete, all aviation mechanics, were killed.

The army said Lieut. Kinsley was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Philip H. Kinsley of 1211 Cleveland street, Evanston, Ill. Home towns of the other three were not announced.

Kinsley, a graduate of Kelly field, Tex., was a classmate of Second Lieut. James H. Weaver, who was killed Monday when his plane collided with another pursuit ship and crashed.

Weaver, who was 28 years old, was a son of Mrs. Preston A. Body of Freeport, Ill. He was a graduate of New Mexico Military institute and five weeks ago married Katherine Wolfe, daughter of Col. and Mrs. Shuey Wolfe.

FATHER ON TRIBUNE STAFF.

Philip H. Kinsley, father of Lieut. Kinsley, has been a member of the Chicago Tribune staff since 1918 and a Chicago newspaperman since 1904. His special articles and news stories are widely known thruout the country. He has been both a Washington and foreign correspondent for THE TRIBUNE. He served in the American navy during the Spanish-American war.

Two Killed in Storm.

Greensburg, Pa., Oct. 14 (AP).—Two army flyers were killed tonight when their plane crashed during a hard rainstorm in a desolate wooded area near Armbrust, Westmoreland county. They were First Lieut. Marshall E. Stewart, 36, of the air corps reserve, of Phoenix, Ariz., and Dr. J. [Jack] Schluger of Dayton, O. Both were stationed at Kelly field, Texas. Firemen said the plane was so badly damaged that it was difficult to determine its type.

3D LEND-LEASE BILL FOR AID TO RUSSIA LIKELY

Stettinius Reveals Probable Request.

BY WILLIAM STRAND.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Oct. 14.—A third lend-lease request from the Roosevelt administration, this one to supply war aid to soviet Russia, is in the offing for American taxpayers, Edward R. Stettinius Jr., lend-lease administrator, admitted to congress today.

E. R. Stettinius Jr.

Stettinius was the first witness testifying at a closed session of a senate subcommittee which began consideration of the new 5 billion 985 million dollar lend-lease bill passed by the house last week.

The measure, scheduled to go before the senate early next week, would raise to approximately 13 billion dollars the total appropriations by the present congress for aid to foreign countries whose defense Mr. Roosevelt deems vital to the defense of the United States.

President Discusses Aid.

Later in the day President Roosevelt said during a press conference that no lend-lease aid is going to Russia at present, but added that he could not say whether Russia would ultimately require such aid.

He said he saw nothing on the Russian front which would cause him to doubt ultimate success of the lend-lease system. In the meantime, he continued, Russia is buying supplies steadily in this country and paying for them with cash.

The President said he expects to discuss lend-lease aid for Russia on the return of W. Averell Harriman, head of the American aid mission to Moscow. Informed sources, agreeing with Stettinius, said that if Harriman reports the soviet government will need a considerable amount of American war assistance a third lend-lease bill will be drawn.

Opposition Develops Quickly.

The reluctance of many members of congress to pour out American money and materials to bolster the Red army was quick to manifest itself in the questioning of Stettinius at today's hearing, it was reported.

Stettinius explained that the amount in the pending bill is based on specific requests made by nations which were receiving aid before the outbreak of the Russian-German war and there is no provision for aid to Russia in the legislation.

As Russia is buying its materials and paying cash on the barrel head, he is reported to have told the senators, no immediate lend-lease aid for that country is planned. However, in response to further questioning, he testified that the administration believes it has the discretionary power to make lend-lease allocations to the

AFRICANS FLY FLAGS TO HAIL U. S. MISSION BUT GET STARS MIXED

[Copyright: 1941: By the New York Times.]

BRAZZAVILLE, Middle Congo, French Equatorial Africa, Oct. 13 [Delayed via London].—American flags, some varying in the number of stars, are being flown here to welcome the American military mission. They were fashioned by well intentioned if untutored native labor. A military band of local troops played "The Star Spangled Banner" by ear to welcome the mission.

The mission, consisting of Col. Harry Francis Cunningham of the United States army, Lieut. Comm. John Mitchell of the naval air corps, and Lawrence Taylor of the state department, is here, according to the officials, to study this vast territory in an effort to learn how best to serve Free France, whose capital is Brazzaville. Col. Cunningham said he believed effective aid can and will be given to Gen. Charles DeGaulle's army here, observing that the Free French have done much to develop harbor facilities at the Atlantic port of Pointe Noire, now connected with Brazzaville by rail. American vessels are discharging and taking on cargo there.

Trailed Craft 3 Hours, then Made Attack

Washington, D. C., Oct. 14 [Special].—The naval battle between the United States destroyer Greer and a submarine off Iceland last month took place after the Greer had been trailing the submarine for 3 hours and 28 minutes, a report from the navy disclosed tonight.

The statement also revealed that the presence of the submarine was reported to the American destroyer by a British plane and that the plane dropped four depth charges in the vicinity of the submarine and then flew away. It was over two hours later that the submarine fired two torpedoes at the Greer.

The report was sent to the senate naval committee and was made public by Chairman David I. Walsh [D., Mass.], whose senate naval affairs committee had been requested by a senate resolution to ascertain all the facts attendant on the conflict.

Statement Made by Stark.

The statement concerning the battle, made by Admiral Harold R. Stark, chief of naval operations, was made public as a result of questions by administration opponents as to whether the Greer actually had been the aggressor.

The report raised the possibility that the submarine commander could have believed that the Greer dropped the depth charges released by the British plane and consequently sent torpedoes in the direction of the American ship.

The report also disclosed that a British destroyer had been on hand for almost an hour, just five miles from the Greer, when the American ship made its first depth bomb attack on the submarine. The Greer dropped 19 depth charges in all and did not at any time sight the submarine's periscope, the report stated.

Condensed Account of Fight.

A condensed account of the incident, as set forth in the report, follows:

The Greer was en route to Iceland with mail, passengers and freight on Sept. 4, 1941, and was 175 miles southwest of Iceland when she was informed at 8:40 a. m. [Greenwich civil time] that a submerged submarine was 10 miles ahead.

[This was 6:40 a. m. at the position southwest of Iceland where the Greer then was and 3:40 a. m. Chicago daylight time. Subtracting two hours from the times given in the navy report gives the time at the zone of operations.]

The Greer began searching for the submarine and at 9:20 a. m. located it with her underwater sound equipment. The destroyer trailed the submarine, broadcasting the undersea craft's position, and maintaining contact until 12:48 p. m.

At 10:32 the British plane dropped four depth charges and 20 minutes later departed from the area. At 12:40 p. m. the submarine changed course, closed the Greer and at 12:49 a torpedo track was sighted about 100 yards astern of the destroyer. Seven minutes later the Greer attacked the submarine with a pattern of eight depth charges. Two minutes passed, then a second torpedo track was sighted about 500 yards from the Greer.

After avoiding the submarine's second torpedo, the Greer lost sound contact with it and searched for it for 2 hours and 12 minutes before finding it whereupon the Greer immediately attacked with more depth charges. The American destroyer continued the search until 6:40 p. m., a total elapsed time of 10 hours from when she was notified of the submarine's presence, then proceeded on her way to Iceland.

GERMANS SHELL MOSCOW OUTER RING OF FORTS

Claim 6,000,000 Reds Put Out of Action.

MAPS OF WAR IN RUSSIA.

Turn to the back page for a map of the war along the entire front in Russia. On page 2 is a map of the area around Moscow depicting the German drive on the Russian capital.

BERLIN, Oct. 14 (AP).—Germany's military leadership announced tonight a total of 6,000,000 Russian soldiers put out of action, of whom more than half are captives, and reported an "irresistible" advance by the Nazi armies of the center which has put the outermost defenses of Moscow within range of German heavy artillery.

[The Russians early today admitted a German thrust to Kalinin on the Volga river, 95 miles northwest of Moscow. This was the first mention of fighting there by either the Russians or Germans. Story on page 2.]

A special high command communique said the Russians made prisoners since June 22 "have far surpassed 3,000,000," or more than 500,000 in excess of all World war prisoners taken by the Germans.

Report Mop-up of Traps.

At the same time the high command reported definite annihilation of the Red armies in the Vyazma area, 125 miles west of Moscow, and said the Russian armies about Bryansk, 220 miles southwest of Moscow, were being steadily dissolved in several traps.

Vyazma, which the Russians announced only Monday night they had abandoned, was said to have been in German hands since Oct. 7.

"The number of prisoners taken in this gigantic double battle has increased to over 500,000. It is increasing hourly," the high command said.

This does not mean, however, that the fight is over, the Germans added. They said the mopping up of soviet pockets of resistance was a tedious and slow matter.

Outer Defenses Extensive.

Nevertheless, they insisted, the fate of the Russian campaign is decided; the main forces of the Russians are retreating without order or plan, and "it doesn't matter either that a city like Kaluga [90 miles southwest of Moscow] has not yet been taken."

In claiming the advanced position of the German artillery before Moscow, the Berlin spokesman acknowledged that the Red capital's outer belt of fortifications lies a considerable distance from the center of the city. No one divulged how close the Germans actually were.

[It is assumed that the defenses might extend to 50 miles or more from Moscow, and there were reports from London that the Germans at one point had got within 65 miles of the capital on the west before they were for the time being repulsed.]

Moscow Not an Open City.

A military commentator compared the spirit of Moscow's people with that of the population of Paris just before the French capital capitulated in the spring of 1940. However, he added, Moscow is no open city but is fortified heavily, in contrast to Paris, and will be treated accordingly.

On other fronts the situation was thus portrayed by Dienst aus Deutschland, a semiofficial commentary:

"In the north Finnish troops are working their way northward from Petrozadovsk, along the Murmansk railway, and southward have improved their position near the Svir river.

"East of the Valdai heights, German forces are gradually approaching the Leningrad-Moscow railway line which is already broken in some sections but not yet reached here by German troops. [This was the thrust toward Kalinin.]

Donetz Basin Threatened.

"In the south, the situation of Kharkov may be likened to that which obtained in relation to Kiev. The Donetz basin is threatened. On the extreme southern wing there is good progress."

Other military commentators completed this picture by claiming the Russians on the Leningrad front were exhausting themselves in ineffectual attempts to break out of the siege ring drawn around the city,

GERMANS SMASH TO VOLGA RIVER IN MOSCOW DRIVE

Reds Admit First Fighting in a New Sector.

MOSCOW, Oct. 15 [Wednesday]—(AP).—The Germans crashed toward Moscow from a new direction today in heavy fighting at Kalinin, on the Volga river only 95 miles northwest of the capital, while the Red armies of the center reported they had beaten the Nazis back 10 miles in the critical Vyazma sector.

In the south, on the Sea of Azov, the early morning Russian communique conceded the loss of Mariupol [which the Germans claimed on Oct. 7], but it was the gigantic encirclement drive on Moscow which presented the most immediate danger.

Thrusts from Four Directions.

German spearheads are thrust at the capital from the south, southwest, west, and northwest—from the sectors of Orel, Bryansk, Vyazma, and, finally, Kalinin.

[This was the first mention of Kalinin by the Russians. The Germans had mentioned a drive from the Valdai hills in the northwest to the outskirts of Rzhev, 140 miles from Moscow and also on the Volga about 50 miles upstream from Kalinin. There was no indication of a crossing of the Volga.]

The seriousness of this latest threat was obvious from Kalinin's position, on the main trunk railroad from Moscow to Leningrad, and east of the natural obstacle of the Valdai hills.

The city, formerly Tver, but now named for Michael Kalinin, chairman of the presidium of the supreme soviet—Russia's nearest parallel to a national president—is an important center of about 216,000 population.

Position Improved Elsewhere.

There and in other theaters the Red armies fought under oath "to die but not let the enemy to Moscow." They were heartened in their resolve by the successes of counterattacks in the Vyazma sector, where the Russian position appeared generally somewhat improved. The point of the Red's 10 mile counterattack was not precisely located.

[Information reaching London indicated that it perhaps was about Mozhaisk, a town 65 miles west of Moscow where German advance units were said to have been thrown back, presumably to the vicinity of Borodino, 10 miles farther to the west, where Napoleon's armies fought their last great engagement before entering Moscow in 1812.]

In the two other areas of great decision—about Bryansk, 220 miles southwest of Moscow, and above Orel, 200 miles to the south of the metropolis—general German advances made possible by continued superiority in numbers of men and machines were acknowledged, but these were declared to be proceeding slowly and at rising cost to the invaders.

[The Russians in the last week have announced withdrawals from the towns of Vyazma, Bryansk, and Orel, but have continued to use the names as designations of fighting sectors.]

Begin More Counterattacks.

In the northwest, presumably in the Leningrad sector, a new German push was reported checked with losses of 1,500 dead and 3,500 wounded for the Germans.

Russian counterattacks were said meanwhile to be increasing in frequency; the soviet transport system was declared to be still functioning satisfactorily; Red reserves were said to be moving up without interruption; and the Russian air force was described as still in heavy action in skies far from mastered by Hitler's aerial squadrons.

In the raging continuance of the air war, the Russian communique recorded destruction of 89 German planes on all fronts on Sunday to Russian losses of 23, and said that so far eight Nazi planes had been listed as brought down during Tuesday near Moscow alone.

LABORITE'S SLAP AT LORD HALIFAX STIRS CHURCHILL

'Abuse' of Ambassador Hit in Commons.

BY LARRY RUE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Oct. 14.—In a somewhat heated discussion in the house of commons, Prime Minister Churchill today rebuked Aneurin Bevan, Laborite member of parliament and trade union leader, for "abusing" Lord Halifax, British ambassador to the United States.

Bevan had inquired whether it was wise for a member of the war cabinet "to give the enemy gratuitous assurances that they will not be attacked anywhere?" He referred apparently to a statement attributed to Halifax on Oct. 4 to the effect that Britain had not the equipment necessary to attempt landings on the European continent.

Refers to "Bad Record."

Bevan suggested that it was desirable "to reassure the country about the irresponsibility of the assurances of a person with a bad record." Churchill retorted:

"I am sorry to see that Mr. Bevan has gone out of his way to abuse our ambassador in the United States."

Bevan protested, "No," whereupon Churchill continued:

"An irresponsible man with a bad record? I call that abuse—and abuse of a man who is occupying a high position outside the country."

Bevan asked:

"Will the prime minister give me and my colleagues an opportunity to establish the charge in an early debate?"

Speaker Stops Exchange.

The prime minister rose to reply, but resumed his seat when the speaker intervened.

An attempt by Emanuel Shinwell, a Labor member, to elicit from Churchill a statement on the aid to Russia program and to gain his permission to debate the subject failed. Churchill replied:

"No, sir. This must obviously be left to the Russian high command, who is conducting their great battle. I should not presume to add anything to their communiques at this juncture."

"Are you aware," Shinwell continued, "that there is considerable disquiet thruout the country about whole form, substance, and scope [cries of 'Hear, hear,' and 'No'], and will you provide facilities for an early debate?"

"Mr. Shinwell should not suppose that he has a monopoly on anxiety in these times," the prime minister retorted amid laughter.

REPORTS HESS GETS SAME RATIONS AS HIS GUARDS—AND NO PAY

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Oct. 14.—The diet and whereabouts of Rudolf Hess, Britain's "prisoner of state," were discussed by ministers during the question time in parliament today. Hess, former deputy of Adolf Hitler, was picked up in Scotland after he bailed out of a plane on a mysterious flight from Germany last May 10.

Capt. David Margesson, minister of war, was asked "whether Hess is kept in a camp in Scotland or to what camp he has been moved and what his daily rations are." He replied that the public interest forbade the disclosure of his whereabouts, but said that "Hess' rations are the same as those of his guards." In reply to another question he said Hess is getting no pay.

Margesson declared that no communications have been sent to or received from Germany since the recent plan for an exchange of incapacitated war prisoners broke down. Henderson Stewart, a Liberal, asked if the government is initiating fresh negotiations. Margesson said that this had not been done but that those who conducted the last negotiations are "aware of our views."

REDS TOLD THEY GET 5,000 U. S. PLANES A MONTH

LONDON, Oct. 14 (AP).—The Moscow radio was heard tonight telling the Red army that 5,000 planes a month "are being sent us from America."

[This figure is higher than the present production rate in the United States.]

Another Moscow broadcast said that "from the east new Russian units are arriving, fresh regiments are entering the battle."

"They are like waves of the sea," the announcer said.

3D LEND-LEASE BILL FOR AID TO RUSSIA LIKELY

Stettinius Admits Such Request Probable.

Reds out of the pending measure if necessary.

"Therefore," one of the committee members concluded, "to fill the requests of the other nations and supply materials to Russia as well, it appears there would have to be another lend-lease appropriation in behalf of Russia."

"I suppose there will be," Stettinius was quoted as replying.

Supplies En Route to Russia.

President Roosevelt in a statement yesterday announced that large amounts of supplies already are en route to Russia and that other munitions—including tanks, planes, and trucks—will be started on their way to the soviet army before the end of the month.

Several senators declared privately today that the administration's Russian aid program would be more palatable to them if Great Britain would show a more active interest in her communist ally. They also said they would like to receive more positive evidence that freedom of religion actually exists in Russia than that offered by the White House spokesmen heretofore.

62 Billions Appropriated.

The senators calculated, it was learned, that with the amounts made available to the Reconstruction Finance corporation a total of 62 billion dollars has been appropriated for rearmament. On Stettinius' testimony that American industry is now producing at the rate of a billion dollars a month or 12 billion dollars a year, they noted that enough funds are available to keep the program running for the next five years.

The lend-lease administrator, however, said that production is to be stepped up to 18 billion dollars by next year and to the unprecedented peak of 30 billion dollars by 1943.

Chairman Alva B. Adams [D., Colo.] told reporters after the session that the administration representatives had assured the committee that the funds previously appropriated and those in the new bill would last until late in 1943.

Study Tribune Revelations.

It is known that the committee is studying revelations in a Tribune news story two weeks ago. The Tribune dispatch revealed that funds have already been allocated to equip completely an army of 10 million men, including an air force of 2 million men with 80,000 planes, an armored force of 100 divisions with 45,000 tanks, and more than 400 infantry divisions, 100 of them motorized.

The President, in his discussion of lend-lease activities, reported that transfers of arms and other supplies to the foes of the axis powers under the program reached a record peak of 155 million dollars during the month of September. He said that all but 5 per cent of the original 7 billion dollar lend-lease appropriation has been allocated and Stettinius has been authorized to allocate the remainder.

It has been widely believed in capitol circles that the British purchasing commission and other recipients of lend-lease aid had exhausted the 7 billion dollars and had already begun to make allocations against the pending new appropriation.

BRITISH AND RUSSIANS TO MOVE TROOPS OUT OF IRANIAN CAPITAL

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

TEHERAN, Iran [Persia], Oct. 14.—The British and Russians have agreed "in principle" to the withdrawal of their troops from Teheran, capital of Iran, it was announced today. A British legation spokesman said the evacuation might begin within 10 days. The Reds are expected to retire to Kazvin, 90 miles away, and the British to Sultanabad, about 200 miles away.

The British explanation of the withdrawal is that the armies came here to force the ouster of the Nazi colony and with that done there is no reason to remain. The presence of the allied troops is resented by the Iranian government, which feels that its authority was weakened by the occupation. Neutral diplomats believe the Iranians insisted on the evacuation before continuing discussions of an alliance with the allied powers.

With the penetration of the Germans into southern Russia, Iran has been assuming a somewhat firmer tone in its dealings with the allies. Nervousness is evident among the foreign colony here as a result of the Nazi progress. Plans are being made by some to evacuate their wives and children. The general expectation is that unless the German thrust is blocked soon, railroad stations and communication centers in Teheran will be subjected to Nazi bombing.

DO 4 FREEDOMS INCLUDE NEGRO? SENATOR ASKED

Chicagoan Seeks View of Alabama New Dealer.

William E. King [top] and Sen. Hill.

William E. King, member of the Illinois Industrial commission, former state senator and leader of Chicago Negroes, yesterday called upon Sen. Lister Hill [D., Ala.] to say whether he believes the four freedoms should apply to Negroes in Alabama, as well as to the population of Europe.

Sen. Hill, participating in a radio debate Sunday night, defended President Roosevelt's foreign policy, spoke of the "futile fetish of neutrality." and said that neutrality "is a dream that has passed—a hope that has perished."

Asks for Expression.

In his letter to the senator, King asked him to state his position toward anti-lynching legislation, equality for Negroes at the ballot box, Jim Crow cars, and other forms of segregation.

"I was one of the thousands who listened Sunday night to the American Forum of the Air," King wrote, "when you spoke in opposition to Wayland Brooks, senator from my own state, Illinois. You spoke as a champion of the present national administration, its principles and policies—policies such as the four freedoms.

"Freedom of speech and expression! Freedom of worship! Freedom from want! Freedom from fear!

"'Everywhere in the world' was the language used on Jan. 6 of this year when these four freedoms were proclaimed to the congress of the United States.

"Does That Mean South?"

"Everywhere? In your mind does that mean in the south as well as in the north? In Alabama as well as in Europe and in Asia? Does it mean the same freedoms for every man, be he black or white? Does it mean equal rights for all American citizens?

"If your answer is in the affirmative—as it surely must be—then what are you willing to do toward curing conditions in Alabama which conflict with these ideals? What about equality at the ballot box? Jim Crow cars? Segregation?

"I am writing to you, not for any selfish purpose of my own, but in the interests of my people. I was born and reared in the south but to my adopted state in the north I have given my best. I have served in both the house of representatives and the senate of the general assembly of Illinois. My service has been commended.

"May I have your reply at your earliest convenience?"

SUMMONS G. O. P. TO 'UNITE ON FOREIGN POLICY'

Montpelier, Vt., Oct. 14 (AP).—Gov. William H. Wills called tonight for an "extraordinary caucus" of Republican leaders to unite the party in foreign policy.

The Republican governor voiced the demand in a letter to the party's national chairman, Rep. Joseph W. Martin [R., Mass.]. He proposed the caucus "for counsel so that the Republican party may emerge able to discharge at this critical juncture its duty not only to itself, but to the nation."

Citing lack of unity in the party, Wills asserted:

"It is essential that we preserve the democratic system of two party government, without which we shall have succumbed internally to that which we abhor abroad."

172 LOSE LIVES AS U-BOAT SINKS BRITISH VESSEL

Sinking of Two Other Ships Disclosed.

LISBON, Portugal, Oct. 14 (AP).—Sinking of the British freighter, Petrel, of 1,354 tons, by a submarine with the total loss of her 94 passengers and 78 crewmen was reported at Oporto today.

The Petrel sailed from Oporto last week to join a convoy bound for London and had as her passengers a number of prominent Portuguese.

Eighty Survivors Land.

The sinking of the British freighters John C. Holt and Saint Clair during an attack on a convoy was disclosed with the landing of 80 survivors here from the Portuguese steamer Carvalho Araujo. The survivors, arriving from the Azores, said the ships went down last month.

[Lloyd's lists neither the John C. Holt nor the Saint Clair. There is a British freighter of 5,007 tons, the John Holt, however. There is a French ship of 3,824 tons, the Saint-Clair, and a small British ship of 1,637 tons, the St. Clair.]

Attack Nazi Supply Ship.

LONDON, Oct. 14 (AP).—British flyers carried the war to the Norwegian coast and occupied France today in a continuing all-hour offensive.

Overnight they had bombed Duesseldorf, Cologne and other objectives in western Germany, and shipping and port facilities along the Netherlands and French occupied coasts. In this fourth consecutive night assault on the reich, five planes were lost, the British said, and Berlin, agreeing added that a total of 36 British planes had been shot down in the past 24 hours.

By daylight British planes attacked German supply ships off the Norwegian coast. Bombs hit two ships. The crew of a third was forced to take to the boats. A fourth ship was hit by an aerial torpedo.

GIVE ROOSEVELT GREEN LIGHT ON WAR: STIRLING

Atlantic City, N. J., Oct. 14 (AP).—Rear Adm. Yates Stirling Jr., 69 years old, former chief of staff of the United States fleet, declared today that the United States was already at war and "it is time to give President Roosevelt the green light to go ahead." He spoke before the American Hardware Manufacturers' association.

"As far as the navy is concerned, America is at war now," he said. "All ships are on war footing. They are patrolling the seas without lights and gun crews are at their posts." He added that "another brush with Nazi raiders" was all that was needed to bring this country into "a shooting war."

Stirling said that altho people of conquered Europeon nations were aroused against Hitler, the Germans were using their shipyards and slave labor to produce warships. "Hitler," he said, "might surprise the world within a short time with new battleships of a radical design."

GERMANS ADMIT STEADY SHRINK IN TEXTILE SUPPLY

New Ration Card Curtails Buying of Clothes.

BY ALEX SMALL.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Oct. 14.—The third "cloth card" to be issued in Germany since the beginning of the war is the admitted product of steadily dwindling textile reserves.

Germans, who are standing in line to receive their new cards, will have to do some calculating to figure out the apparel they may purchase until Dec. 31, 1942, when the card expires. The 120 points of the card must be stretched to cover a 16 month period, whereas the former cards were issued on a yearly basis, and contained 150 points. In other words, there are about half as many points for each month as before.

Must Await a Certain Date.

The new ration cards contain a number of innovations. Points reserved for suits and overcoats cannot be used until the specified date has arrived. This means that a man in need of a suit of clothes today must wait until July 15, 1942, to get it, unless he can prove that he has no more than two suits. In that case, he may apply for a special permit. The same holds in the case of an overcoat. A suit costs 80, an overcoat 90 points of the total of 120 points.

The card lists additional articles—from pulse warmers to girdles—which now cost not only money but also points. Hats, occupational garbs, rubber apparel, and even sewing materials are on the point system. The stocking ration remains the same as before, but must serve for the longer period. Twenty points are undated and will be "called up" not before the end of 1942.

The Soldier Comes First.

The reduction in clothes rations, authorities state, is the result of an investigation of the stocks on hand. Where enough raw materials are available, as in the case of stockings, it is pointed out that the lack of workers—now at the front—will continue to throttle production. Wool and cotton reserves, it is admitted, have dropped especially.

The explanation of the situation in the textile fields is simple, the Germans say. Increasing demands of the armed forces in Europe and Africa must be satisfied. Apparel for one German soldier serving in the "African expeditionary force" requires more textiles than a large German family.

Unjustifiable bottlenecks also have developed, causing jamming of even the restricted flow of production. Wholesalers and cutters are blamed for this tieup.

"The longer the war lasts, the greater the restrictions will be in supplying the civilian population with goods, especially textiles," authorities declare.

WOMEN FAVOR READING WILLKIE OUT OF G. O. P.

Wendell L. Willkie's advocacy of intervention placed him in the position yesterday of having been read out of the Republican party, as far as members of the Downers Grove Women's Republican club were concerned.

The 1940 Presidential nominee was officially spurned at a meeting held late Monday in the St. Andrew's Golf club, near West Chicago, by action sponsored by Mrs. Evelyn Smital, president of the Lombard Women's Republican club. She described the meeting as follows:

"Werner Schroeder, Republican national committeeman for Illinois, had just told us that the pulse of the people should be taken. So I suggested that we take the pulse of the women present on this question: 'How many are in favor of having Mr. Willkie continue to represent the Republican party? Those who are, please stand.'

"Not a soul arose. Then I asked: 'How many are in favor of reading Mr. Willkie out of the party?' As far as I could see, all present arose."

GIRL KILLS SELF 5 DAYS BEFORE WEDDING DATE

Adeline Biadaszkiewicz.

Miss Adeline Biadaszkiewicz, 23 years old, a factory worker, who was to have been married Sunday, was found shot to death in her bedroom at 3752 Eddy street yesterday. Members of the family said she had been in ill health for about a week. Police at first were puzzled by the shooting, but later termed it a suicide after the family admitted having concealed the fact that a .22 caliber rifle, with one cartridge fired, was found beside the bed. Sergts. Frank Donohue and Oliver Karwoski, investigators for Coroner A. L. Brodie, aided in probing the shooting.

GRANT HOSPITAL FILES PETITION IN BANKRUPTCY

A voluntary request that the Grant hospital at 551 Grant place be declared bankrupt was filed yesterday with the United States District court. In its petition the hospital stated it did not have the funds available to meet a $400,000 bond issue maturing on Nov. 1.

Assets were listed to the amount of $1,799,679, nearly all represented by real estate and hospital equipment. The petition asked that the hospital management be continued in possession and allowed to serve the public. Revenues, it was stated, were large enough to maintain the institution and keep the equipment in order.

Judge Charles E. Woodward ordered a special master in chancery, Victor E. La Rue, to investigate and make a preliminary report.

Rob Radio Actress of Rings Valued at $2,300

Mrs. Maxine Kellman, a radio actress, was robbed of a diamond ring worth $2,250 and a wedding ring valued at $50 last night by a lone gunman who climbed into the Kellman car near their apartment at 143 North Parkside avenue. Her husband, Morrie Kellman, surrendered about $60 from his wallet. The gunman apparently knew of Mrs. Kellman's rings, since he ordered her to remove her gloves. Kellman is owner of the Globe Auto Glass company, 637 West Roosevelt road.

U-BOAT TRAILED BY U. S. WARSHIP BEFORE ATTACK

Navy Reveals Details of Greer's Clash.

TEXT OF REPORT

[Times given are in 24 hour navy style for Greenwich civil time. Those under 1200 are a. m. and over 1200 are p. m. Thus, 1300 would be 1 p. m., 1400 2 p. m., etc.]

Following is the statement by Adm. Stark on the Greer clash:

"On Sept. 4, 1941, at 0840 GCT, the U. S. S. Greer, while en route to Iceland with United States mail and passengers and some freight, was informed by a British plane of the presence of a submerged submarine, distance about 10 miles directly ahead.

"This British plane continued in the vicinity of the submarine until 1052 when she departed. Prior to her departure, at 1032, she dropped four depth charges in the vicinity of the submarine.

Acting on the information from the British plane the Greer proceeded to search for the submarine and at 0920 she located the submarine directly ahead by her underwater sound equipment. The Greer proceeded then to trail the submarine and broadcasted the submarine's position. This action taken by the Greer was in accordance with her orders, that is, to give out information but not to attack.

"The Greer maintained this contact until about 1248. During this period [3 hours 28 minutes] the Greer maneuvered so as to keep the submarine ahead.

Sub Closes with Greer.

"At 1240 the submarine changed course and closed the Greer.

"The disturbance of the surface and the change in color of the water marking the passage of the submarine was clearly distinguished by the Greer.

"At 1248 an impulse bubble [indicating the discharge of a torpedo by the submarine] was sighted close aboard the Greer.

"At 1249 a torpedo track was sighted crossing the wake of the ship from starboard to port, distant about 100 yards astern.

"At 1256 the Greer attacked the submarine with a pattern of eight depth charges.

"At 1258 a second torpedo track was sighted on the starboard bow of the Greer, distant about 500 yards. The Greer avoided this torpedo.

"At this time the Greer lost sound contact with the submarine.

Makes Contact Again.

"At 1300 the Greer started searching for the submarine and at 1512 in latitude 62-43 N., longitude 27-22 W., the Greer made underwater contact with a submarine. The Greer attacked immediately with depth charges.

"In neither of the Greer's attacks did she observe any results which would indicate that the attacks on the submarine had been effective.

"The Greer continued search until 1840, at which time she again proceeded toward her destination, Iceland.

"From the above it is clearly evident that the Greer, tho continuously in contact with the submarine for 3 hours 28 minutes, did not attack the submarine altho the Greer herself was exposed to attack.

"At no time did the Greer sight the submarine's periscope.

"The weather was good.

"The commander in chief of the Atlantic fleet corroborates the above report in detail and further states that the action taken by the Greer was correct in every particular in accordance with her existing orders."

Questioned by Walsh.

Interrogation of Adm. Stark by Sen. David J. Walsh ensued and was as follows:

Q.—Did the incident take place in an area declared to be blockaded by German government? A.—The Greer incident took place in an area approximately 175 miles southwest of Iceland, and directly in the path of communication between American ports and Iceland. This area was within the zone of operations announced by the German government on March 26, 1941, as a zone within which vessels entering exposed themselves "to the danger of destruction."

Q.—Did the Greer have orders from the department to proceed thru this area? A.—The Greer had orders from the CIC [commander in chief] of the Atlantic fleet to proceed thru the area. The navy department had full knowledge of this.

Q.—Were any other ships in company with or in sight of the Greer just before or at any time during the encounter? If so, [a] what were the names and nationality of these vessels, and [b] did any of these ships take part in the encounter either directly or indirectly? A.—A British destroyer was in sight about five miles distant from the Greer when the Greer made a depth bomb attack at 1512. This British destroyer had arrived on the scene at 1415 and had asked the Greer if she [the Greer] desired to conduct a coördinated search for the submarine. To this question, the Greer replied "No." The British destroyer stood thru the area and disappeared to the southward.

British Plane Active

Q.—Were any airplanes in sight of, or in communication with, the Greer just before or during the encounter? If so, [a] what were the nationality of these planes, and [b] did any of these planes furnish any information to the Greer or take part either directly or indirectly in the encounter? A.—Yes. At 8:40 a British plane approached the U. S. S. Greer and signaled that a submarine had submerged about 10 miles directly ahead of the Greer. The plane furnished no further assistance to the Greer. At 10:32 this plane dropped four depth charges in the vicinity of the submarine and, at 10:52, the plane departed from the area. It should be particularly noted that this plane left the area at 10:52 and did not return, and that the Greer fired no guns or torpedoes or dropped any depth charges until 12:56—some 8 minutes after the submarine fired a torpedo at the Greer—or, in other words, over 2 hours after the British plane had left the scene.

Q.—Was the commanding officer of the Greer informed that a submarine was operating in this vicinity before his vessel was attacked, or before the submarine or her periscope was seen? If so, when and from whom did he receive this information. A.—Yes. See answer to preceding question. The periscope of the submarine was not seen at any time by the Greer.

Greer Follows Sub.

Q.—If he had information from an outside source that there was a submarine in the vicinity, [a] did he change his course and speed and start a search for the submarine; [b] how long did he search for the submarine before he was fired upon, and [c] did other vessels or planes assist in this search? A.—As soon as information by the Greer from the British plane that a submarine was directly ahead of her, the Greer increased speed, started zig-zagging, and commenced a search for the submarine. Five minutes after the search began, namely, at 9:20, the Greer located the submarine by her underwater sound equipment; she held this contact until 12:48, namely, 3 hours 28 minutes before the submarine made her attack. No assistance by either planes or ships was given to the Greer during this period.

7. Q.—If he first learned of the presence of the submarine from his submarine detection device or from sighting it, [A] did he change his course to search for or head for the submarine; or [B] would he have been out of range of the submarine's torpedoes if he had continued on his course? A.—The first part of this question is answered by the answer to the preceding question. As to the second part of this question, the answer is problematical. No person can predict what the submarine's course would have been. The answer, therefore, might be "yes" or it might be "no."

Two Torpedoes Fired.

Q.—How many torpedoes were fired at the Greer and at what intervals were they fired? How long was it after the submarine was sighted or first heard that the first torpedoes were fired? How near did the torpedoes come to hitting the ship? A.—Two torpedoes were fired at the Greer. The firing of the first one was indicated by the sighting of the impulse bubble at 1248, just 3 hours and 28 minutes after the Greer first detected the submarine by means of her sound equipment. At 1249 the wake of this torpedo was observed about 100 yards astern. At 1258 the wake of a second torpedo was observed 500 yards distant on the starboard bow. The Greer avoided it, the torpedo passing about 300 yards clear of the ship.

Q.—How many depth charges were dropped by the Greer, and at what intervals? A.—U. S. S. Greer dropped eight depth charges, commencing at 1256; 11 depth charges were dropped, commencing at 1512. All these depth charges were dropped after the first torpedo had been fired at the Greer.

Q.—Has anything been seen or heard from this submarine since the last depth charges were dropped by the Greer? A.—Not by the U. S. S. Greer, nor has the department any word.

Q.—Has the department received a copy of the log of the Greer from the 2d to the 5th of September, both dates inclusive? A.—No.

Q.—What information in general is entered into the log? A.—All facts concerning the incident are entered in the log.

Q.—Is there any reason, or reasons, why this log should not be made public? If so, what are these reasons? A.—It is not desirable that this log be made public for the reason that to do so would disclose confidential military information.

Q.—Are there any reasons why the commanding officer and other officers and men of the Greer should not appear before the committee? If so, what are those reasons? A.—Yes. Testimony of such officers would be almost certain to disclose vital military secrets which would endanger other naval vessels. In addition, to establish a precedent or to have naval officers at sea feel that whenever they take action they would or might be called before a congressional investigating committee to explain and justify their action, would be prejudicial to the conduct of operations on the high seas.

Declines to Reveal Orders.

Q.—In view of the fact that the United States navy now has orders to shoot at axis submarines or raiders, is there any reason why the orders under which the Greer was operating at the time shouldn't now be made public? A.—Naval operation orders that in any manner do or might involve military action are considered as of the most secret nature and should not be disclosed publicly, because of the unquestioned value they would be to foreign powers.

Q.—Have officials of the state department taken up with the German embassy the question of this attack upon a United States naval vessel? If so, it is requested that the committee be furnished with a copy of the official communication. A.—No.

Q.—Has the German embassy forwarded any official explanation of the attack to our government? If so, it is requested that the committee be furnished a copy of this explanation. A.—No.

WHY NOT SEEK PEACE NOW? IRISH PRIMATE ASKS

DUBLIN, Ireland, Oct. 14 (AP).—Joseph Cardinal Macrory, Catholic primate of Ireland, declared today he believed there was an incomparably better chance of a just peace being reached now than there would be if the war were fought on to a victory or stalemate.

"The question is why they do not try to negotiate a peace now," the cardinal said.

He saw no reason, he asserted, why statesmen did not try to end the war now except that "on each side it is not a just peace that is wanted but victory itself, destruction or practical annihilation of its opponents."

It's Winter in Alaska, but Ice Sells for $80 Per Ton

ANCHORAGE, Alaska, Oct. 14 (AP).—Winter is at hand, but ice has sold in this northern city at $80 a ton the last few weeks. Walter Grohnert found a good supply for his cocktail bar and advertises it thus: "Ice 50,000 years old—pure glacier crystals." It comes from the Independence mine, where a vein of glacial ice was found to be good "pay dirt" after this fast-growing city exhausted the supply of ice cut last winter.

USE LEND-LEASE FUNDS TO BUILD BASE IN IRELAND

10 Million Is Allocated for Mystery Project.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Oct. 14.—Ten million dollars has been allocated under the lend-lease program for the mystery naval base being built in northern Ireland by American workmen under the direction of American naval officers, it was learned today.

It is estimated that 30 to 40 million dollars more will be allocated for completion of the base under the 5 billion 985 million supplemental appropriation the administration is asking for the continuance of the aid program.

Altho the spending is well under way, official Washington is still speculating over the ultimate use to be made of the base—wondering whether it will be used by British forces or is being built as a base for an American expeditionary force to England.

Disclosed by Sen. Taft.

The disclosure that the base is under construction was made in the senate three months ago by Sen. Robert A. Taft [R., Ohio], who reported that a dozen American naval officers were sent abroad in the guise of naval attachés to direct building of the base.

Hundreds of American workmen were imported to work under their direction and the contract for construction was let to Merritt, Chapman & Scott and the George A. Fuller company, New York contracting firms.

"I have no information that the base is being built for use by an American expeditionary force," Sen. Taft said today. "However, the base will be there and with its construction under the direction of American naval officers I would assume that it would be fit for American use if such an eventuality should arise."

Deny Protection Asked.

At the navy department reports in the London press that the American technicians and workmen at the site had asked for the protection of American marines were denied.

A navy spokesman insisted that the base is being built for the use of the British navy. The only connection with this country is the use of American dollars and American brains and muscle in the building of the base.

He scoffed at the suggestion that the base was being built for an American expeditionary force, altho he acknowledged that if America should send troops to England they probably would be sent to this base among others available for troop movements.

It was learned that a considerable number of warehouses are being built at the base, which is taken to indicate that it is being constructed either to accommodate an expeditionary force or to store lend-lease war supplies and other materials as they arrive from the United States.

To Seek Annulment

[Associated Press Wirephoto.]

MRS. JACOB WEBB.

New York, Oct. 14 (AP).—Lenore Lemmon said today that her recent marriage to Jacob [Jakie] Webb had been a happy one "until all the bills began coming in." The 18 year old café society girl disclosed at her attorney's office that she would seek an annulment and hoped to begin a new life as a radio singer. Webb, 24 year old descendant of Commodore Cornelius Vanderbilt, is officially listed as a fugitive from justice in that he failed to answer a warrant charging him with passing two bad checks. Mrs. Webb's attorney, Sinclair N. Robinson, said the annulment action would be filed within a few days in state Supreme court and would be based on alleged fraud—he said Webb told Miss Lemmon that he received from $500 to $1,000 monthly from a trust fund.

NORWEGIAN SHIP SEIZED BY NAVY REACHES U.S. PORT

Crew Is Whisked Before Secret Hearing.

Boston, Mass., Oct. 14 (AP).—With a United States navy prize crew aboard, the Busko, a drab little Norwegian fishing vessel which authorities said was used by a German Gestapo agent to set up a secret radio station in Greenland, was brought to a Boston dock today under a bristling guard.

Her crew of 20 and a woman, whose identities were not disclosed immediately, were whisked before a closely guarded board of inquiry of the immigration service. The board's decision was held secret. Officials would say only that the majority claimed to be Norwegians, altho it was generally assumed here that the Gestapo agent was included.

Details of Seizure Secret.

Naval officers likewise declined details of the Busko's seizure last month off Greenland, where a secret radio station was discovered, beyond saying the capture was made by a patrol vessel of the North Atlantic command.

The Busko arrived under escort of the Bear, former Byrd antarctic expedition flagship, now in naval service. The Bear did not make the capture but served only as a convoy.

Above the Nazi-Norwegian vessel, in plain view, were a portable generator and an instrument panel such as are used in radio equipment, together with a cabinet suggesting a radio set.

Convoy Eye Suggested.

Washington sources had advanced an opinion that the seized radio expedition might have provided Germany with valuable weather information, useful both in air attacks on England and in the operation of submarines. It also was suggested a Greenland listening post might have been able to report movements of convoys.

Immediately after the Busko was tied up an inventory of everything aboard was taken by federal officers, who said an armed guard over the ship would be maintained 24 hours a day.

The vessel was ketch rigged and equipped with an auxiliary steam engine. So seaworn that little of her paint remained, the attention the 60 ton craft received from various federal services seemed incongruous in the light of her appearance. A host of armed sailors and marines, coast guards, customs officers, FBI agents, and others acted as a reception committee.

Ship Flys Norse Colors.

Norwegian colors flew at her masthead and also were painted on her rough plank sides. Those who went aboard said she was filthy, a condition which combined with bad weather to make the voyage unpleasant for the prize crew.

Piled on the deckhouse were skis and dog sleds, and a husky and a huge black Newfoundland wandered about the decks.

Lieut. Comm. Joseph Gainard, who early in the war found himself as captain of the American freighter City of Flint, in the hands of a Nazi prize crew, piloted the Busko up the harbor to a navy berth.

REPORT ON GREER TO AFFECT FIGHT ON SHIP ARMING

Bill Rushed Into House in 2 Day Hearing.

BY WILLARD EDWARDS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Oct. 14.—The disclosure tonight that the United States destroyer Greer was trailing a submarine Sept. 4 before its encounter with the U-boat will have an important effect upon congressional debate on revision of the neutrality act, it was believed.

This revelation from Sen. David I. Walsh [D., Mass.] came 36 hours before the house was scheduled to consider repeal of the ban on the arming of American ships. Administration leaders were abashed but continued confident of victory in the house for President Roosevelt's proposal.

Opposition forces extracted some hope, however, from Sen. Walsh's disclosure. Rep. Anton J. Johnson, Macomb, Ill., Republican, took to the radio to voice a warning that the coming vote on repeal of the neutrality act may be the last chance for congress to ballot on the question of keeping out of war.

Called Last Step to War.

Johnson addressed the nation over the Mutual network after the house foreign affairs committee had rushed to completion a two day hearing on President Roosevelt's request for repeal of the neutrality law's ban on the arming of American merchant ships. The Illinois congressman recalled that arming of our merchant ships was the last step taken by the United States before it was involved in the last World war.

"I firmly believe," said Johnson, "that if the coming vote on the repeal of the neutrality act carries, it will be our last chance to vote on the question of keeping out of war and that our representative form of government will be doomed. It will probably require another revolution to reëstablish it, for once this becomes a one man government it will stay that way until the people rise up and wrest the power back to themselves."

Johnson compared the status of the United States at present to the situation which existed in Italy before Mussolini and the militaristic group plunged it into war. The Italian people did not want to go to war any more than the overwhelming majority of the American people now want war, he noted, but their leader took them in and they are now virtually enslaved by Hitler.

Map Fight in Senate.

Meanwhile, with house passage of the measure assured by Friday night, senate noninterventionists mapped strategy for a fight against the plan to arm ships when it reaches the upper body. Sen. Burton K. Wheeler [D., Mont.] asserted that in view of testimony by cabinet officers before the house committee yesterday the proposal could only be considered as a step toward complete repeal of the neutrality act.

"Arming merchant ships is an invitation, in effect, to shoot at them and thus create incidents which will tend to take us into war," Wheeler said. "It is in line with the methods of the administration to take one step at a time to get us into the war."

The 11 senators participating in the conference declared there would be no filibuster against the bill but that "full debate" would be insisted upon. Senate rules do not permit the gag process under which the bill is being jammed thru the house.

Only Three Opposing Witnesses.

Only three opposition witnesses appeared at the house foreign affairs committee's final hearing. Prominent witnesses, such as John Cudahy, former ambassador to Belgium, and John T. Flynn of the America First committee, had wished to testify but were unable to get to Washington before the hearings were closed.

Chairman Sol Bloom [D., N. Y.] had thus permitted less than 12 hours in two days for the presentation of evidence both for and against the legislation. The bill will be reported to the house tomorrow, brought up under another gag rule on Thursday and rushed to passage by Friday night. Minority members charged that this speed program was adopted by the administration to insure house passage before the public had a chance to register its opposition with congressmen.

The last witness, Mary W. Hillyer, executive director of the Keep America Out of War congress, expressed regret that "on an issue as momentous as this, so little attention should be given it in the halls of congress."

"There is a growing feeling," she told the committee, "on the part of the little people of America that there is an inexorable will toward war on the part of the President of the United States."

Compares Knox and Hitler.

Another witness, Frederick J. Libby, executive secretary of the National Council for the Prevention of War, asserted that Adolf Hitler's craving for conquest was comparable to Secretary of the Navy Frank Knox' plans for domination of a postwar world.

The opposition witnesses all agreed that arming of merchant ships was another step on the road to war and that not many steps remained to be taken. A hostile committee majority attempted in its questioning to picture each witness as pro-Nazi in sentiment.

Plan to Police World.

In a public speech, Knox declared recently, Libby noted, that the "two great sea powers" would police the world "for 100 years" after the defeat of Hitler.

"It is obvious," Libby remarked, "that Secretary Knox, like Hitler, wants to dominate the world."

Arguing against repeal of the neutrality act, Libby also recalled President Roosevelt's words in Madison Square Garden on Oct. 24, 1940, less than a year ago, when he lauded the neutrality act and declared the law had made it possible to avoid any "entangling episode."

"What lies at the end of the road along which arming or merchant ships is but one step?" asked Libby. "Not many more steps can be taken. The President has already declared a limited naval warfare in his 'shoot on sight' order.

Planes Can't Beat Hitler.

"The Battle of Britain showed that airplanes can't beat Hitler. The theory of the secretary of agriculture [Claude R. Wickard] that the conquered nations can be starved into revolting against Hitler is abhorrent to us. There is only one thing left, an American expeditionary force. The American people ought to understand that.

"Resolutions and speeches won't beat Hitler. Fighting men by the millions are needed. Hitler showed his contempt of the British army by leaving only a skeleton force at home while he put his legions into battle with Russia. Only the United States can furnish the men."

Liby said he believed that if Russia fell Britain would negotiate for peace with Hitler unless an AEF were promised.

Endangers American Seamen.

John F. Finerty, representing the Keep America Out of War Congress, was another who opposed the bill.

"Repeal of the ship arming ban will condemn our seamen to sudden death without warning," he declared. "Neither a submarine nor a bomber can risk destruction by investigating whether an individual ship is armed. If the bill passes, it will henceforth be assumed that all American ships are armed."

AMERICAN ON TRIAL IN PUERTO RICO COURT FOR MURDER OF WIFE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico, Oct. 14.—Ralph Gedney of Washington, D. C., a civil engineer working on the new Isla Grande naval-air base, sat most of today in court reading a magazine while his life was at stake. But it was not indifference on his part. The proceedings were in Spanish, which he does not understand.

Gedney is charged with the murder of his wife, but is confident he will be acquitted. Gedney reported his wife's death on May 3. He said that after an evening in their home, where they had shared drinks with friends of his wife, they had retired early. Gedney told officials he had not disturbed his wife during the night, and had slept on a couch nearby. In the morning, he said, she was dead.

Bruises on her body Gedney attributed to a fall. The prosecution hopes to prove the bruises resulted from a blow by Gedney.

PLAN TO RELEASE BERGDOLL BARED BY FEDERAL PLEA

Move to Kill Four Charges Against Evader.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 14 (AP).—Attorney General Biddle opened the way to freedom from military prison today for Grover Cleveland Bergdoll, most publicized draft dodger of the World war.

Grover C. Bergdoll.

Bergdoll is in the United States disciplinary barracks at Fort Leavenworth, Kas., serving terms of five and three years for desertion and escape from the army. He has served more than one-third of the total sentence, imposed by a court martial, and would be eligible for parole except for some 21 year old indictments still pending. The indictments charged him with evading the selective service act of 1917 and with conspiring to escape service.

Biddle Asks Dismissal.

Secretary of War Henry L. Stimson was said to have inquired recently whether any charges were pending against Bergdoll, inasmuch as the prisoner had asked for a parole. When investigation disclosed the old cases, Biddle decided to ask their dismissal in federal court at Philadelphia, in view of the fact that there is no intention to prosecute further.

War department officials declined to discuss any phase of the Bergdoll case. Some informed officials said, however, that there was little doubt that Bergdoll would be paroled soon.

Bergdoll, who will be 48 Friday, as a youth inherited a considerable fortune and became known as a playboy.

Captured in Philadelphia.

The original charge against Bergdoll was evasion of the selective service act by failing to appear for a physical examination. He taunted officials with postal cards from scattered points, but justice department agents caught him in Philadelphia on Jan. 7, 1920.

Bergdoll was court martialed and sent to prison, but not for long. Within two months, while making a search for a "pot of gold," allegedly hidden in western Maryland, he persuaded his guards to let him visit his mother in Philadelphia. Once in her home he evaded the guards, leaped from a window, and fled to Canada, thence to England and Germany.

BRITISH FAIL TO STILL VOICE OF 'VON DONALD,' THE RADIO HECKLER

LONDON, Oct. 14 (AP).—"Von Donald" or a reasonable facsimile of that phantom voice which had been interpolating anti-British remarks into British broadcasts, returned tonight on the British Broadcasting company's 9 o'clock news program to call out tirelessly after each item:

"That's a lie!"

Radio engineers had said earlier that they had found a means for silencing the back talker. He got the name "Von Donald" from the British public because his irascible manner remanded them of the disturbed Disney duck whose first name is Donald.

Actually, "Von Donald's" interpellations were barely audible tonight, so the BBC may have begun its counterattack.

MINISTERS GIRD FOR LAST DITCH ANTI-WAR FIGHT

Assert Our Involvement Is Not Inevitable.

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.

Dr. Albert W. Palmer.

A message to help stop modification of the neutrality bill "dead in its tracks" was forwarded to 2,200 members of the Ministers' No War committee thruout the nation yesterday. The message, addressed to the leading pastors of 30 denominations, cited "a shameless betrayal of pledges" to keep the country out of Europe's war.

Dr. Albert W. Palmer, president of Chicago Theological seminary, national chairman of the Ministers' committee, and the Rev. Dr. Charles F. Boss Jr., secretary, signed the message, which was mailed from the committee office at 740 Rush street. It opened with the statement of conviction that involvement of the country in war is not inevitable if efforts to prevent it are immediate, coördinated, and widespread. A rise of anti-war sentiment to 83 per cent in August made public by a Gallup poll was cited.

Congress Responsible.

These efforts, the message stated, must be convincing that the people are holding congress responsible, and that they will "not support a war which has ignored the accredited representatives of the nation."

"The first focal point of action is the coördination of this rising tide of opposition to the loss of our democratic powers by an undeclared war which ignores the constitutional authority vested in congress," the message stated. "Orders from the President and the secretary of the navy practically place us in an undeclared war, without the submission of the issues to congress.

Three Steps Cited.

"The second point of action is stopping dead in its tracks the effort to modify the neutrality law. We must not permit further development of apathy and an attitude of 'inevitability.' Surely an increasing number of people must see that the whole series of steps, from the 'quarantine of aggressors' speech [Chicago, 1937] to the draft extension act, which have all been excused on the basis that they were designed to keep us at peace, actually have been steps toward war.

"First, the people of the United States were told these were steps to 'keep us at peace,' then, 'steps short of war.' Now proposals are called 'step to defeat Hitler!'

"Many people are developing a hot resentment, now believing there has been a shameless betrayal of pledges made to keep the United States out of war."

Orders CIO Union Cease Using Independents' Name

Circuit Judge Cornelius J. Harrington yesterday enjoined the CIO union at the Walgreen company warehouse from using a name almost the same as that of an employés' independent union. Arthur Frankel, attorney for the independent union, the Chicago Drug Workers' Association, Inc., charged that the CIO union had dubbed itself the Chicago Drug Workers' association to confuse the workers.

FEAR PRIORITIES MAY HALT NEW BRIDGES IN CITY

State St. Span Among Those Lacking O.K.

Fear that steel priorities may delay construction of more than 5 million dollars' worth of city bridges, including the new State street span, was expressed yesterday by Mayor Kelly and other city leaders.

The mayor said the new $1,455,000 bridge being constructed at Canal street and the Chicago river is the only one of four bridges granted a priority rating. The Office of Production Management listed it as A3, which, according to the mayor, is as high as such a structure can be rated.

Will Go to Henderson.

Mayor Kelly said he will confer with Leon Henderson, head of OPM, within the next few days to urge that bridge construction be given more favorable consideration.

He said the proposed $670,000 bridge over the Calumet river at 130th street has been given a priority rejection by OPM. No rating has been given the $2,000,000 State street bridge now under construction. Applications for ratings are being prepared for the proposed $1,250,000 North Halsted street bridge.

Stephen Michuda, city bridge engineer, said the only explanation OPM officials gave about the State street bridge was that the application for priorities, sent by city engineers July 15, was lost.

Prefer New Application.

"We did not learn the application was lost until last week," Michuda said. "Another is being prepared. OPM received our request for priorities on the 130th street bridge on Sept. 16 and six days later we received our rejection notice. We are going to apply again."

Michuda said plans for both the 130th street and the North Halsted street bridges must be approved by the state highway department before bids are requested. The bridges are financed from the city's share of the motor fuel tax fund.

"We cannot consider advertising for bids until priority ratings are established," Michuda said. "Contractors will no longer bid on work that is not rated at the top."

REP. CLARE HOFFMAN TO ADDRESS WOMEN ON U. S.-RED HOOKUP

Representative Clare E. Hoffman [R., Mich.] will speak in Chicago Oct. 22 before a meeting in the Congress hotel sponsored by the Constitutional Defense League of Women. He will be introduced by Gen. Thomas S. Hammond, president of the Whiting corporation, and will speak on "Our Alliance with Red Russia." Hoffman will discuss its political and social significance rather than its military aspects.

The league of women, originally organized in 1919 to combat and identify communist forces in the United States, formerly functioned as a branch of the Constitutional Educational league. Last April it became an entity and now has 15,000 members. Its current project is circulation of a national petition to congress asking that the deportation and immigration laws be changed.

Mrs. Virginia Muren, executive secretary, said 452,768 signatures already have been affixed to the petition. Hoffman read it on the floor of the house of representatives last week.

ILLINOIS MASONS TO INSTALL NEW MASTER TODAY

Karl J. Mohn of Rockford will be installed as grand master of the Grand lodge of Masons of Illinois at the closing session of the 102d annual meeting of the organization today in the Hotel Sherman. Judge Edgar A. Jonas, grand orator, will be the principal speaker.

Other officers, who were elected yesterday, include Stuart E. Pierson, Carrolltown, deputy grand master; William Tinsley, Chicago, senior grand warden; Fred I. Mills, Robinson, junior grand warden; Edward C. Muller, Chicago, grand treasurer; and Richard C. Davenport, Harrisburg, grand secretary. Muller and Davenport were reëlected.

About 1,500 Masons from more than 900 lodges have attended the two day meeting, according to Dan DeBauw, retiring grand master.

UNION HODCARRIER FOUND SLAIN.

A man identified by hodcarriers' union cards in his pocket as Ambrose Brown, 30 years old, colored, of Sandusky, O., was found shot to death yesterday on the sidewalk in front of 2416 Wentworth avenue.

SEEK TO TRACE $77,000 FUND IN HOD UNION QUIZ

Search Thru Strong Boxes Uncovers Loss.

St. Louis, Mo., Oct. 14 [Special].—The whereabouts of $77,000 in funds of local 42 of the International Hod Carriers, Building, and Common Laborers' union [AFL] occupied the attention of Acting Circuit Attorney Henry G. Morris tonight after he had found that sums totaling that amount had been taken from safe deposit boxes since last month.

Morris is heading a grand jury investigation into financial dealings of the union in connection with charges of embezzlement placed Saturday against four of its officers, including the president.

Accompanied by other investigators and union representatives, Morris today opened three safe deposit boxes rented at the Lindell Trust company in the name of the union and its officers.

Checks Found in Box.

In one of the boxes, which Morris said contained between $50,000 and $60,000 last month, he found less than $20,000 today. A second box was found to contain $44,884 in cash and $2,000 in personal checks of union members.

A third box contained only $993, altho Morris said it formerly had held at least $47,750. It was from this box that Orville Golden, secretary-treasurer of the union and one of the four accused officials, admitted taking $6,000 to divide among himself and his three co-defendants, and said he took $41,750 which he gave to two men who posed as internal revenue agents.

Investigation Is Incomplete.

A full inspection has not yet been made of the union's checking account at the Telegraphers' National bank, where the local's books show it to have $67,000 on deposit. Representatives of the union yesterday tried to deposit $23,697 in that account. Bank officials accepted the money but would not place it in the account because Circuit Judge Joseph J. Ward had issued orders freezing all of the local's bank accounts.

Present at the opening of the safe deposit boxes were three of the accused union officials—Edward J. Hill, president, and Business Agents Paul A. Hulahan and Earl Jenkins—Theodore Nischwitz, an international representative of the union who has taken over the local's affairs, and two city detectives.

Four Officers Suspended.

The four union officers charged with embezzling $6,000 of union funds have been suspended from their duties. Efforts were begun today, however, to obtain the reinstatement of all except Golden. Petitions urging reinstatement of the other three were being circulated at an ammunition plant here where Business Agents Hulahan and Jenkins are powerful.

Morris continued the presentation of evidence before the grand jury, which yesterday began investigating the union's affairs.

WAR REFERENDUM URGED BY URBANA LEGION MEMBERS

Urbana, Ill., Oct. 14 [Special].—Officials of Urbana post, No. 71, of the American Legion disclosed today that the membership had passed a resolution condemning the prowar policy adopted by the Legion at its recent national convention in Milwaukee and asking the national organization to conduct a referendum on the issue, "giving every member an opportunity to vote."

The local resolution, adopted last night, charged that the national convention action was taken on a voice vote without a roll call and that it did not express the majority opinion of the Legion's membership.

POST CONDEMNS NATIONAL LEGION WAR PROPOSALS

Ansgar L. Carlson, adjutant of Batavia post, No. 504, American Legion, reported yesterday that the organization had voted unanimously to condemn the warlike measures taken at the national convention of the Legion in Milwaukee, Wis. The resolution demanded that the national officers rescind the national convention action.

Specific resolutions to which the Batavia post objected were: Recommended removal of geographic limit on the movement of troops, the recommended repeal of the neutrality act, and recommended aid to soviet Russia under the lease-lend law.

The Batavia resolutions cited the previous policy of the Legion against sending troops to foreign soil.

OPM OFFICIAL SEES NO LACK OF NEWSPRINT

Addresses Inland Press Meeting Here.

Norbert A. McKenna, chief of the the 57th fall meeting of the Inland Daily Press association were told yesterday by an official of the Office of Production Management that, altho defense activities are consuming 30 per cent of the nation's paper supply, no shortage of newsprint vital to their industry appears imminent.

Newspaper executives attending pulp and paper branch of the OPM division of civilian supply, told the publishers, editors and business managers that the newsprint supply will be ample unless an unexpected demand for other types of paper and cardboard should absorb the excess producing capacity still existing at Canadian paper mills. McKenna spoke at the opening session of the two-day meeting in the Hotel Sherman.

Must Maintain Free Speech.

"We must provide the maximum number of printable units to your industry in order that the public be served and speech be free," McKenna said. "The solution may require the trimming of margins, reduction in the number of pages, and elimination of over deliveries and nonessential uses of newsprint.

"If the war lasts, and well it may, we may have to give up a large number of our employés to defense industries, and we may have to give up a considerable portion of the railroad cars usually available to us to the transportation of defense products," he declared.

The problems outlined by McKenna, and others growing out of the United States' headlong plunge into armament production at the expense of all other industries, were understood to be the principal topics at a general round table conference of the association's members yesterday afternoon. The round table was closed to the public.

Discuss Priority Problems.

At today's session supply and priority problems affecting newspapers will be discussed by Louis A. Weil Jr., business manager of the Grand Rapids [Mich.] Herald, and Cranston Williams, general manager of the American Newspaper Publishers' association.

It was explained by officials of the Inland association that, altho newspapers have priority rights when it comes to obtaining new parts with which to repair their mechanical equipment this priority privilege does not cover such items as newsprint, ink, type metal, and other vital supplies.

Two hundred and fifty newspaper executives are attending the meeting.

DAY by DAY on the FARM

By GAIL COMPTON

Turn to Indoor Jobs.

Oct. 14, 1941.

DAYS of rain, while welcome, have forced the men at the Du Page county farm to turn to indoor tasks, and the tractors and plows have remained idle. Most of the fall plowing has been finished, but the furrowed fields still have to be disked, and the ground has been too wet to work.

As a result, the plowed fields have sprouted a carpet of green, and if many more days pass before they can be worked again, the signs of the plowing will have vanished under a new crop of grass and weeds.

While the fields are drying, the men have been erecting a bull pen to handle the new Shorthorn bull that is expected to arrive this week. The farm manager purchased the bull and two Shorthorn heifers recently to complete the foundation stock of the farm's herd.

Stout Pen Is Built.

A stout pen has been erected near one of the old barns. Thick planks and heavy posts were used, steel not being available, so the new bull will be sure to stay within his confines. Bulls have a habit of testing their strength on fences.

One half of the barn will be converted to indoor quarters for the bull, and the men have been busy cleaning it and making it snug for the winter. The barn, which is rather old, has developed a slight list to the south, and the farm manager is planning to straighten it before the bull arrives.

To do this, the men took out the supporting rafters that crossed the barn loft, and the big tractor will nudge against the side of the building to push it straight. When the barn is in its old position the rafters will be nailed up again, and the bull can be moved into a newly decorated and renovated home.

Turkeys Grow Rapidly.

Commenting on the rapid growth of the turkeys, the flockmaster pointed out that those penned up on the alfalfa field were gaining the fastest, while the birds running loose seemed to be in better health. The penned birds are consuming three times as much food as the turkeys that are allowed to run in the barn yard, he said. The loose birds are getting growing mash, whole oats, and a little corn. The birds on the wire are getting growing mash and as much corn as they can handle.

When Thanksgiving comes the birds on the wire will be fatter, the flockmaster said, but he added that he would prefer to eat one of those that spent its nights roosting in the trees.

Ten young cockerels have been caponized, and have been separated from the rest of the chickens for fattening purposes. The delicate surgical job of caponizing was done by the flockmaster the other day without a single loss. The young birds are likely to die after being operated on, and it takes care and skill to save them.

ARMY RELIEVES MANY OFFICERS OF TROOP DUTY

Failures in Leadership Given as Cause.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 14 (AP).—A long list of combat officers, ranging from second lieutenants to major generals, have been relieved of their commands by the army since the Louisiana war games and military quarters heard today that the early removal of numerous others was likely.

The officers who have been superseded in combat posts represent the first to feel the effects of war department efforts to revitalize the leadership of the land forces.

In point of numbers involved the shakeup has been matched in army history only by the wholesale World war removals of AEF officers in France by a process which the army grimly termed "going blooey" because the reclassification board which judged officers' merits sat at Blois.

Removals Done Quietly.

Anxious lest morale be shaken, the war department thus far has shifted the top commanders as quietly as possible.

Gen. George C. Marshall, chief of staff, said in disclosing the original intention to remove officers deemed incapable of maintaining strict discipline and handling troops to the best advantage that it was hoped to avoid "stirring up a political mess" and also the bitterness and recrimination of the World war.

Secretary Henry L. Stimson has discouraged use of the term "purge" and contended that publicly identifying officers involved would be unfair.

National Guard Hit.

In military quarters it was considered inevitable that the reshuffling process should be largely at the expense of National Guard and reserve officers. As a class they have much less military experience than the professional regulars. The burden on commanders of guard divisions tends to be extra hard also because subordinates likewise are only part time soldiers. Three guard division heads and one corps commander have been relieved.

Records made in the Louisiana maneuvers were used as a gauge of the ability of officers to direct the operations of troops under conditions approximating as closely as possible those of actual war. Commanders of major units taking part in the current first army war games in the Carolinas also are under close scrutiny.

DIES COMMITTEE GETS FILE ON N. Y. RED NOMINEES

New York, Oct. 14 (AP).—The Dies committee today subpoenaed and obtained from the board of elections all 1940 nominating petitions of the communist party, bearing names and addresses of several thousand New Yorkers who helped nominate communist candidates for local and congressional offices and for the national election last year.

The action came almost simultaneously with an appeal by the federal bureau of investigation for photographic copies of the names and addresses of the communist party's 47 presidential electors in New York state last year.

David B. Costuma, election board secretary, suggested that P. E. Foxworth, assistant director of the FBI, inform the board why he wanted the records. Foxworth replied that his request was a routine one which has been customary for years and was designed merely for the completion of FBI files.

Navy Calls for Thousands of Hams—The Radio Kind

The navy wants thousands of hams. Not edible, these otherwise are known as amateur radio operators. Rear Adm. John Downes, commandant of the 9th naval district, comprising 13 midwest states, yesterday issued a bulletin inviting the hams to join in greater numbers. Already the navy has about 15,000 of the 45,000 hams who held radio operating licenses of various kinds.

Green Asks Observance of Oct. 27 as Navy Day

Springfield, Ill., Oct. 14 (AP).—Describing the navy as the nation's first line of defense, Gov. Green today designated Oct. 27 as navy day and requested that the flag be displayed that day on public buildings and in homes.

DIES DEMANDS U. S. CLEAN HOUSE OF RED AND NAZI BUROCRATS

Rep. Martin Dies.

Congressman Martin Dies [D., Tex.], chairman of the house committee investigating un-American affairs, asserted yesterday that subversive organizations have made great advances in the United States and have gained footholds in labor and in the government itself.

Speaking at a meeting of the Rotary club in the Congress hotel, Dies said that the American League Against War and Fascism once boasted a Washington, D. C., chapter which included 1,200 government employés. He charged that John L. Lewis, when the Congress of Industrial Organizations was formed, made a deal with members of the communist party to serve as organizers.

Dies told his audience that Walter A. Brady, identified with the American League for Peace and Democracy, which the speaker called communist tainted, is a consultant for the Office of Price Administration and Civilian Supply at $7,500 a year.

The speaker urged congress to clean house in America, deport known Nazis, communists, and Fascists; discharge all Nazis, communists, and Fascists from the government employ, and call on labor to rid itself of subversive leadership.

Signal Troops Return from Louisiana Battle

STILL HOPING FOR U. S. PEACE, SAYS JAP SPOKESMAN

Press Fears Relations Are Near Snapping Point.

BY KIMPEI SHEBA.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

TOKIO, Japan, Oct. 14. — "Japan will endeavor until the last moment to solve its difficulties with the United States," Koh Ishii, official spokesman, declared today as new fears were expressed by Japanese language newspapers that relations between the two countries are rapidly approaching a breaking point.

Ishii had nothing to say about the newspaper criticism that Washington, D. C., is utilizing the talks now going on to play for time while solidifying the ABCD [American, British, Chinese, and Dutch] front. The American press, he explained, is charging Japan with playing for time.

Evacuation Move Denied.

According to Ishii, the three vessels which will leave for the United States this week hardly can be described as evacuation ships. They are not in the same category as boats carrying Japaness evacuees from Singapore, India, and Europe, he explained. As a matter of fact, he observed, some Japanese are sailing on the boats for the United States on business.

[A Japanese broadcast heard in the United States today said the Japanese liner Tatutu Maru had left Yokohama for San Francisco with 610 passengers, most of them American citizens.]

The newspapers criticize Washington for prolonging the talks with Japanese leaders while doing its utmost to get the Chungking government of China, the Netherlands, East Indies, the Philippines, and Russia to strengthen "the encirclement front."

No Turning Back, Says Paper.

The Tokio Nichi Nichi declared that Japan has sacrificed 100,000 lives on Chinese battlefields, expended a gigantic sum to construct a new order in Asia, and absolutely cannot turn back now.

Chugai Shogyo, organ of moderate big business interests, pleaded for new efforts to prevent a clash between the United States and Japan.

"The Japanese people should not even dream of a collision between their country and America," the paper said, adding: "We believe there is no problem so serious that it must be settled by arms. But whether things come to such a point [resort to arms] depends entirely on the United States. Therefore we ask the reconsideration of the United States government."

[This apparently was a reference to what Japanese consider their attempts at conciliation, such as Premier Konoe's letter to President Roosevelt.]

Marked activity in official circles led many observers to believe important developments were near. War Minister General Eiki Tojo was received in audience by Emperor Hirohito, while Premier Prince Fumimaro Konoe held a long conference with Lieut. Gen. Teiichi Suzuki, head of the cabinet's planning board, and other high officials.

SEN. NORRIS, 80, SAYS PACIFIC WAR MIGHT NOT BE BAD FOR U. S.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 14 (AP).—Sen. George W. Norris [Ind., Neb.] declared today that an American-Japanese conflict in the Pacific might develop "quick as a wink" if Germany should defeat soviet Russia, and he added he was "not so sure that war with Japan would be a bad thing for us."

The 80 year old legislator, only remaining member who cast a senate vote against entry into the World war, said that a German victory might lead Japan to interefere with American shipping in the Pacific.

The United States, he asserted, would not tolerate any such interference, and he disclosed that navy officials had advised him "they could sink the Japanese fleet within two weeks."

"Altho they may be a little optimistic," he said, "I believe we could lick them [the Japanese]. It would be a sea and air war, and it would not be a question of sending an army."

Reveal Presence Here of 2 More British Warships

Washington, D. C., Oct. 14 [Special]. —In the seventh list reporting British war vessels in American ports, presumably for repairs or supplies, the navy department today reported that the Furious, an aircraft carrier, is at Philadelphia, and the Polyanthus, a corvette, or small submarine searching vessel, is at Charleston, S. C.

September Air Raids Kill 217, Injure 269 in Britain

LONDON, Oct. 14 (AP).—Two hundred and seventeen Britons were killed and 269 required hospital treatment as a result of air raids on the United Kingdom in September, the ministry of home security announced today.

GERMANS EXHIBIT WALLED CITY FOR JEWS OF POLAND

Estimate 2,100,000 Must Go Into Ghettos.

CRACOW, German occupied Poland, Oct. 12 [Delayed] (AP).—Twenty-eight foreign correspondents today viewed one of the walled cities into which 600,000 Polish Jews have been segregated in the general government [Germany's portion of the German-Russian partition of Poland]. The correspondents arrived from Berlin on a 2,500 mile German conducted tour to see how the Nazis are handling conquered Ukrainian and Polish territory.

A spokesman for the governor, Hans Frank, told them that all of the general government's estimated 2,100,000 Jews must go into these "Jewish living quarters." German officials object to the term "ghetto."

Police Guard Walls.

Police were guarding the 9 foot walls here. Behind the walls, the Germans said, the Jews handle their own postal and police work and other public facilities. Jews having jobs outside the walls are permitted to go in and out, each wearing a blue star of David on his coat sleeve.

Changes in Cracow itself have included conversion of the Polish national museum on the old city square—renamed Adolf Hitler platz—into a market hall, changing of the course of the Vistula river, and restoration of the massive walls around the hilltop where lies the body of Marshal Joseph Pilsudski.

Poles are not permitted to have radios but may listen to German news broadcast by loud speakers at noon in Adolf Hitler platz.

Special Rules for Writers.

The correspondents left Berlin two days ago in two big buses escorted by two German army officers. Two special rules regulate their sightseeing: They have to get the high command's permission before taking pictures; they must have official approval before asking any questions.

During the ride thru Silesia they saw khaki clad French war prisoners working the fields of German farmers who have been called to the front. Sugar beets were piled awaiting shipment to refineries and the potato harvest was nearing its end.

They also drove thru forests of smokestacks planted over great deposits of iron and coal, volumes of smoke indicating their intense activity. For 30 miles along the highway in the Gleiwitz-Katowice area they saw these stacks almost as thick as derricks in an east Texas oil field.

NAZIS EXECUTE 12 MORE CZECHS; DISSOLVE SOKOL

BERLIN, Oct. 14 (AP).—Twelve more persons were shot or hanged in the protectorate of Bohemia-Moravia [former Czecho-Slovakia] today after conviction of economic sabotage or illegal possession of weapons, DNB, official German news agency, announced tonight.

It was also disclosed that the dissolution of Sokol, the great Czech national sports organization, has been ordered by Gen. Reinhard Heydrich, protector for Bohemia-Moravia.

Dienst aus Deutschland, authoritative commentary, asserted that Sokol, which has branches in many parts of the world, had been more concerned with opposing Germany than with developing the bodies of its members.

Vichy Posters Assail F. D. R.

VICHY, France, Oct. 14 (AP).—Huge government propaganda posters connecting President Roosevelt by implication with the terrorist wave in France were put up in Vichy today as German authorities in Paris executed their 77th French victim for actions against the occupying forces.

On the basis of an alleged "admission" by the London Times one poster issued by the information secretariat said that "aboard the Potomac . . . Europe was knocked down to the soviets and their agents the communists."

[Mr. Roosevelt used the Presidential yacht Potomac for part of the trip to his Atlantic conference with Prime Minister Churchill at which they agreed Britain and the United States would aid Russia.]

The Parisian shot to death was convicted by a military court four days ago of possessing explosives.

WINDSOR VISITS DOCTOR; LEAVES TO SEE HALIFAX

Baltimore, Md., Oct. 14 (AP).—The duke and duchess of Windsor had their eyes examined today before the duke dashed to Washington for a conference with Viscount Halifax, British ambassador.

Except for the visit to the doctor, the former Wallis Warfield spent the day at Salona farms, the estate of her uncle and aunt, Gen. and Mrs. Henry M. Warfield.

Tomorrow the Windsors will visit the volunteer blood donor project of the Red Cross, go on to the headquarters of the British War Relief society and the British Seamen's institute.

Thursday will take them to Annapolis for lunch with Gov. and Mrs. Herbert R. O'Conor, Adm. and Mrs. Russell Willson, and other guests.

OUSTED PANAMA RULER DECIDES TO BECOME EXILE

Arias Prefers Costa Rica to Jail in Homeland.

BULLETIN.

PANAMA CITY, Panama, Oct. 15 (Wednesday) (AP).—Dr. Arnulfo Arias, ousted president of Panama, reached Panama early today and was locked up in the city jail after surrendering to Panama police at Cristobal, Canal Zone. An understanding had been reached that he would be given permission to go in exile in Costa Rica.

PANAMA CITY, Panama, Oct. 14 (AP).—Dr. Arnulfo Arias, ousted president of Panama, will go into exile in Costa Rica rather than return here to go to jail, it was announced tonight by the new pro-American government. The announcement said:

"In connection with the arrival of Dr. Arnulfo Arias, former president of the republic, at the port of Cristobal [Canal Zone] early this morning, it is officially announced that he has decided to go to the neighboring republic of Costa Rica, to which the Panamanian government has agreed."

Police Stop Arias.

Arias remained aboard the Honduran steamer Cefalu in Cristobal harbor, Canal Zone police having prevented him from going ashore to surrender to Panama police shortly before the government approval of his Costa Rican exile was announced.

Arias' decision to enter exile after a week's absence in Cuba set off reports that the Panamanian government had chartered a plane in which to speed Arias and possibly his wife to Costa Rica tomorrow.

The special zone police assigned to the ship previously by Brig. Gen. M. C. Stayer "only for the protection of Arias" stopped the former president when he started down the gangplank after a day aboard ship in the harbor. Arias appeared at the head of the gangplank with a hat pulled over his eyes.

Arias Makes a Complaint.

Arias complained over the intervention of the canal authorities, who wield absolute police control over the zone.

Earlier in the day Arias had waved aside a Panamanian emissary who offered a resignation for his signature and he refused to reiterate his renunciation of politics as carried in a statement he made in Havana.

Panamanian police, posted at all exits from the Canal Zone, were withdrawn after American officials decided to keep Arias on shipboard.

HIS SMASHING DRAFT PROTEST IS FUTILE; IN THE ARMY NOW!

Matthew Irmiter, a 211 pound conscript who stands just over 6 feet tall in his sox, doesn't want to be a soldier. He made that clear yesterday at the army induction station at 515 South Franklin street when, told that he had been accepted for service, he threw heavy chairs about the room and a few minutes later sprinted down four flights of stairs into the street in an attempt to return to civilian life.

Brought down in football style a block away by two husky noncoms, Central police building pending removal under guard to the Fort Sheridan selective service reception center.

Irmiter, a chauffeur and stage carpenter, reported at the induction station for physical examination Monday, and went home without permission that night. Recalled yesterday and told that he was "in," he became violent and began breaking furniture.

ITALIAN TORPEDO PLANES DAMAGE 2 BIG WARSHIPS

ROME, Oct. 14 (AP).—Torpedoes from three Italian planes have hit and damaged a British battleship and cruiser in the second attack in 17 days by torpedo aircraft, the Italian high command said today.

Despite a thick haze the planes were said to have pounced on a formation of two battleships, three cruisers, and ten destroyers in the eastern Mediterranean yesterday afternoon. After two torpedo hits a column of smoke spouted from one battleship and a 10,000 ton cruiser, hit amidships, listed heavily, it was stated. One plane was hit by anti-aircraft fire, but all three got back to their base.

[On the other side of the sporadic Mediterranean warfare, London announced the sinking of three merchantmen and damage to a fourth by British and Netherlands submarines.]

Reveals 2 Polish Divisions Ready to Fight for Russia

Washington, D. C., Oct. 14 (AP).—Two divisions of Polish troops have been fully organized in Russia and are ready to go into action against the Germans, Secretary of State Hull was informed today by Jan Ciechanowski, the Polish ambassador.

REVEALS REPORT ON FIRE HAZARDS IN RUBBER PLANT

Submitted 4 Days Before 13 Million Loss.

Boston, Mass., Oct. 14 (AP).—The National Fire Protection association announced tonight that four days before the $13,000,000 Fall River rubber plant fire last Saturday it had made a confidential report to the war department that the quantity of rubber stored there constituted a serious fire hazard.

The association made public a letter from Robert S. Moulton, its technical secretary, to Maj. Carl G. Richmond of the office of undersecretary of war, in response to the latter's request for a survey of the possible fire hazard.

Equipment Held Inadequate.

Moulton's letter explained that neither the buildings nor their sprinkler equipment was designed for such a hazard as rubber; that floors were removed to permit piling of the material to the height of a two or three story building; that cutoffs were not maintained properly between buildings, and that fire doors lacked closing mechanism or were blocked by shifting piles of rubber.

The letter recommended that the great bulk of the rubber be removed to a safer location, keeping small supplies required for day-to-day use at the plant.

Sees Menace to Whole Plant.

It explained that fire, if it should start in rubber stored in such quantities as existed at the Fall River plant, probably would spread and destroy the entire group of buildings.

The association explained it was making public its hitherto confidential report since the fire last Saturday had made the entire subject public property.

Meanwhile at Fall River approximately 1,000 workers returned to the production of gas masks, barrage balloons, and cartridge clips at the plant of the Firestone Rubber and Latex corporation, where ruins of five of 12 buildings still smoldered.

ITALY IS A SLAVE UNDER NAZI RULE, BRITISH ARE TOLD

Reports People Want to Be Invaded!

[Copyright: 1941: By the New York Times.]

LONDON, Oct. 14.—Italy is a slave nation under the overlordship of the Germans, who are squeezing the life out of the Italian people, the Overseas club was told today by David Edge, who was interned in that country after being captured by the axis forces in Jugo-Slavia. Edge returned to England with Sir Ronald Ian Campbell, former British minister to Jugo-Slavia, who also was held briefly by the Italians.

Edge related that before he left Italy an Italian general asked that when he returned to England he "try to persuade the people of England to do everything possible to invade Italy because that is the only way Italy can get rid of the German overlordship which is squeezing the life out of the Italian people."

Seek to Get Rid of Duce.

Edge quoted the general as having said:

"What we want is the complete destruction of Fascism in Italy. We want to get rid of Mussolini, so that once more we can lift our heads and look the world in the face."

Edge said an official of the Italian foreign office told him how the Italians loathed war and the Germans and asked why England does not invade Italy and get us out of it?

"I spoke to all the Italian officers and soldiers I could," said Edge, "and every one was most apologetic about being in the war."

Reports People Starve.

Describing food conditions in Italy, Edge said:

"In Italy today people are starving. All oil and crops are being taken over the Brenner pass to be made into explosives for the Germans. Butter is unknown and the bread is uneatable."

Edge told how an Italian fisherman frustrated a German attempt to take the Italian lemon crop to use for citric acid in their war effort.

"The fishermen who had to float the barrels of acid out to the ships which were waiting to take them away removed the bungs and let in sea water," he said.

NAMES WELFARE LEADER TO HEAD TRAINING SCHOOL

R. W. Ballard Is Appointed by Gov. Green.

R. W. Ballard.

Gov. Green yesterday appointed Russell W. Ballard of Indiana Harbor as managing director of the Illinois State Training School for Boys, near St. Charles. Ballard, who is 47 years old, has been director of the Lake county, Ind., department of public welfare since he organized it in 1936.

For 11 years he was principal of the Riley school in East Chicago and he was a captain of infantry in the 87th division in World war days. He will succeed Dr. H. B. Knowles, who has been acting managing officer of the school since the resignation last August of William T. Harmon. The appointment is effective Nov. 1.

Selected from Field of 47.

Ballard, who was selected from a field of 47 applicants thruout the nation, stated last night that emphasis will be placed upon individual study of the school's young inmates and application of proper treatment. He was reached at Arkansas City, Kas., where he is vacationing.

"St. Charles is primarily an educational institution," Ballard said. "If it were merely a custodial or penal institution I would not be interested. There is opportunity there for rehabilitation and great good. But miracles must not be expected.

"I know that the problems of many of those boys are deep seated. Those problems must be brought into the open and analyzed.

"I solicit public scrutiny of our work and public understanding of our objectives. It is to be a long time program and it is a challenge to me. Constructive criticism will be welcome."

Ballard asserted that the psychiatric clinic and staff of counsellors, chosen by the citizens' committee headed by Prof. Harrison Dobbs of the University of Chicago, already has begun to function. The boys are actively seeking interivews with the new staff, he added. Ballard was asked his feeling about the 12 foot steel fence that surrounds the school and that State Welfare Director Rodney H. Brandon has opposed.

Not Concerned About Fence.

"In my studies of institutions of this kind, I find that few of them have walls or fences," he replied. "I am not greatly concerned about the fence, one way or another. I do think that there has been too much excitement over the school's runaways.

"Running away is a normal instinct in the young. Good boys run away from good homes. I think, however, there will be less desire to run away from the school if it is properly run."

Ballard said the greatest care will be exercised in selecting the boys to be sent to the Sheridan branch of the school in La Salle county. This branch has barred cells and high steel fences. Positive evidence will be required before committing an inmate there. Ballard's assistants at the school will be Harold E. Johnson of Decatur and Richard Eddy of the University of Chicago.

Strangling Held Murder; Urge Hunt for Husband

A coroner's jury decided yesterday that Mrs. Irene Garswick, 21 years old, who was found strangled in her flat at 941 Windsor avenue on Oct. 2, was the victim of murder. The jury added a recommendation that Edward Garswick, her husband, be apprehended and questioned. Garswick, a cab driver, has been missing since his wife's death.

DAIRY DEMANDS CURB ON MILK STORE PICKETS

Suit was filed in the Superior court yesterday by the Wagner Dairy Products company, 5407 West 24th street, Cicero, to enjoin the Milk Wagon Drivers' union, local 753, from interfering with the dairy's business and to restrain the union from picketing stores supplied by the dairy.

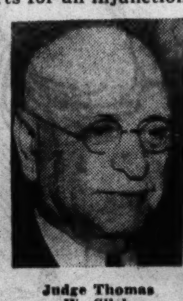
The petition charges windows have been broken in several stores doing business with the dairy and that a bakery driver was slugged when making a delivery to another store. The dairy is involved in a controversy with the union over back wages.

Attorney David Riskind, representing the union, said a similar suit was filed several months ago and adjudicated by the courts. Violence noted in the complaint, he insisted, could not be charged to the union. He said Joseph Wagner, the dairy owner, slugged several union pickets and assault charges against him will be heard in the jury branch of Municipal court Oct. 17.

DUES PICKETING CURBED BY U. S. JUDGE'S THREAT

Gary Petition Will Be Heard This Morning.

BY WAYNE THOMIS.



Judge Thomas W. Slick.

An appeal late yesterday to the United States courts for an injunction to prevent picketing apparently put a damper on plans of the the CIO Steel Workers' Organizing committee to clamp a line of 3,000 pickets around the Carnegie-Illinois Steel corporation's Gary mills early today and thus force a closed shop on 22,000 employés of the most productive steel works in the world.

Altho the injunction was not granted immediately Federal Judge Thomas W. Slick in South Bend, Ind., telephoned to Frank Grider, CIO organizer and subdistrict SWOC director in Gary, as soon as it was presented to him. Judge Slick said he would conduct a hearing on the petition at 10 o'clock this morning if the union promised there would be no violence at the mills prior to that time.

Promises to Keep Order.

"Grider promised me that there will be no clashes, nor any interference with any worker, union or nonunion who appears to go to work in the mills tomorrow morning," Judge Slick said.

"On that basis I agreed to the courtesy of allowing the union to get their representatives here at the opening of court tomorrow morning. They can offer any evidence they wish to offset that presented by the peitioners."

The petition was handed to Judge Slick at 5 o'clock last night by Attorney Harry Sharavsky, acting for an independent group. He told the court that SWOC leaders had announced they would prevent nonunion members and members whose dues are not paid in full from entering the Gary mills.

Try to Force Closed Shop.

According to the petition, the union has adopted this policy in an attempt to force a 100 per cent closed shop on the Carnegie-Illinois division of the United States Steel corporation. This, Sharavsky said, is against the wishes of thousands of nonunion workers.

After Judge Slick conferred briefly with Sharavsky in his chambers, Grider was called. Reached later in Gary, he confirmed Judge Slick's report of their conversation.

"We do expect to have a picket line at the mills," Grider said, "but our men have been instructed to stay away from any rough stuff or any use of physical force. We already had made a similar agreement with Police Chief E. L. Linn of Gary."

Grider was asked if, in the light of the promise made to Judge Slick and the imminence of the injunction hearing at South Bend, the SWOC still proposed to send representatives thru the mills during working hours to conduct a dues inspection of every employé as previously announced.

"That point is not settled," Grider replied.

Police Chief Linn has ordered nearly 100 members of his force to be on duty at the steel plant at 4:30 o'clock this morning. The remaining 60 policemen will be held for riot duty, Chief Linn said.

In conferences with Stephen Jenks, superintendent of the steel plant, SWOC leaders agreed to keep their pickets south and west of the Grand Calumet river that bounds some of the mills.

Gen. Barzynski New Head of Quartermaster Depot

Brig. Gen. Joseph E. Barzynski, until recently in charge of the motor transport division of the office of the quartermaster general in Washington, D. C., assumed command of the Chicago quartermaster depot yesterday.

FORMER CONVICT IDENTIFIED BY 21 ROBBERY VICTIMS

Charles Bell, 38 years old, who was released from prison last March, was identified last night by 21 victims of street and automobile holdups. He admitted all of the robberies, according to police. He was seized Monday night by Sergt. Marshall Pidgeon near his home at 4024 West End avenue.

Pidgeon traced him thru a stolen car parked near by. At the time, the detective said, Bell was armed, and had a handkerchief knotted around his neck in such a manner that it could be slipped over his face as a mask.

In Bell's room, police said, they found jewelry valued at $1,000. They confiscated it, and took into custody Mrs. Sophie Zawicki, 23, with whom, they said, Bell was living. Detectives said Bell confessed stealing the car thru which he was traced, and using it in nine robberies last week. He was sentenced to prison in 1935 on a robbery charge. Mrs. Zawicki was released after questioning.

QUOTING ABRAHAM LINCOLN

Principles That Live.

At every step we must be true to the main purpose. If we adopt a platform falling short of our principle, or elect a man rejecting our principle, we not only take nothing affirmative by our success, but we draw upon us the positive embarrassment of seeming ourselves to have abandoned our principle. That our principle, however baffled or delayed, will finally triumph, I do not permit myself to doubt. Men will pass away—die, die politically and naturally; but the principle will live, and live forever.

A. Lincoln

Kansas, December, 1859.

EXPERTS FOR WAR.

The reason for the unprecedented gag rule imposed on the neutrality act hearings by the house foreign affairs committee became apparent as soon as the quavering witnesses for the war party began to parade across the stage. It was necessary to exclude the press from the hearings and deny the pro-American members of the committee the usual right to cross-examine if those witnesses were to emerge from the hearing retaining any shred of their reputation.

Chairman Sol Bloom, the former sideshow barker, introduced as his principal attraction the Three Whirling Dervishes for War, Secretaries Stimson, Knox, and Hull. Stimson and Knox are in the cabinet because they betrayed their party at the time of the last Republican national convention. Mr. Hull became secretary of state after a long but not particularly distinguished congressional career, which gave him scant familiarity with foreign affairs. He holds on to the job principally because, having been an honest man all his life, he needs the salary to live on. All are old men of waning mental powers, quite incapable of understanding world conditions.

Mr. Stimson brought to the cabinet an aptitude for foreign affairs which during his previous incumbency earned him the title of "Wrong Horse Harry." All three have reached an age at which they can afford to be utterly indifferent to a future which they cannot share and, being childless, they have no one close to them who will have to pay the consequences of their idiotic policy.

What these childless and childish old men had to say was of no importance. What would have been important were the questions they were protected from answering by Chairman Bloom's tender censorship. They propose to arm American merchant ships and to destroy the main provision of the neutrality act by sending those ships to the war zones. Arming the ships is presented as a measure to protect them against "piracy," yet another of the witnesses before the house committee, Adm. Stark, in response to a recent inquiry from Congressman Karl Mundt, admitted that in the last war, the onset of which President Wilson stimulated by his policy of arming ships, American merchant ships did not sink a single German submarine. The best that technical witnesses before the committee on Monday could claim was that arming ships now might have an important "psychological effect."

As a matter of fact, no one has made clear where the guns are to come from with which to arm the ships. The navy, in order to make a statistical showing, is launching warcraft as fast as it can. But these hulls, once launched, have to be tied up to docks to be fitted, and some of them are going to have to wait as much as seven months for their guns. There is a particular shortage thruout the navy of anti-aircraft guns, a weapon which Adm. Stark said would be valuable on merchant ships.

Meanwhile, the navy is beginning to express concern over getting navy personnel to man the two ocean fleet. Guns are worthless without trained crews. It appears that the crews will be as hard to get as the guns. If ships are armed, they will be armed with obsolete weapons, easily outranged by those carried by modern submarines. A deck hand cannot be made a gunner by putting a lanyard in his hand. The war mongers' proposal is one to put popguns on ships and send the men to the war zones as decoy ducks.

They do not expect the ships to protect themselves, nor is that what they are driving for. Their strategy is disclosed by the belligerent bishop, Mr. Hobson, who advises his followers in the Fight for Freedom committee to appeal to the emotions but not to the intellect. The ships are to be armed and sent into the war zone to create an incident. American blood is needed to prepare the way for the new AEF and the war mongers are willing to shed it to attain that end.

COWBOY CONSTABLES.

A Melrose Park milk wagon driver who doubles in brass as a constable in Leyden township scared the daylights out of some young people when, after imbibing a few beers, he followed their automobile at midnight and in demonstrating, as he says, that he was only there to protect them, shot off his pistol a few times. He appeared before a justice of the peace in the township and was let off with the payment of $3 in costs on the general grounds that he is a good fellow and an honest family man.

Constables and justices of the peace are officials of the smallest unit of local government, the township. The system is a vestigial remnant of our agricultural past and in rural districts, while it never functions with much efficiency, it has the advantage that its operation is inexpensive to the taxpayers and its personnel is presumably under the close surveillance of the members of a relatively small community. Under normal circumstances, an escapade such as this could be left to the voters of the township for action at their next election.

The circumstances are considerably different in the suburban communities of Cook county and adjoining areas. Instead of a population nearly every member of which is acquainted with nearly every other member these have become communities with many thousands of residents. But the old rural system of J. P.s and constables persists. Few of the residents know who they are. Few of them notice when township elections are held and even fewer take the trouble to participate. The functionaries are unimportant but at the same time they retain considerable powers which, when they are not watched by the public, are often used for the purposes of extortion.

In these areas the system of township government, and particularly that part of it dealing with law enforcement and justice thru the constables and justices of the peace, is a thoro anachronism. The legislature at its next session could well address itself to the problem of giving nonrural townships a more modern and efficient law enforcement agency.

CRITICISM THERE AND HERE.

From the beginning of his administration President Roosevelt has denounced the newspapers which did not see eye to eye with him. He and some members of his cabinet who are particularly close to him have denounced those who opposed him and have questioned their motives. When the opposition has arisen in congress from members of the President's party he has sought to purge them. When he was impeded by a whole coördinate branch of the government, exercising its constitutional function, he sought thru a subterfuge to have it reconstituted.

Had Mr. Roosevelt given attention to the points developed by the opposition he would have avoided making many of his worst mistakes. When the wisdom of one of his policies has been questioned he has cried out for national unity, instead of giving reasoned consideration to outside viewpoints.

Since the war in Europe began, Mr. Roosevelt has been even more hostile to criticism. His attacks upon the opposition have grown more ill-tempered. He has more frequently used the cry of national unity to still the voice of his critics.

It is not so in Great Britain. The British officials have always shown that they can take it. "His majesty's opposition" occupies a distinct position in the government there and a useful one. That was true in the Chamberlain government and is as true in the Churchill government. Day in, day out in parliament and in the press there is criticism in which the punch is not pulled.

Recently the London newspapers have been giving the prime minister and his cabinet severe criticism for failure to launch a campaign somewhere to divert German troops from Russia. The strongest language has been used and it has been firmly asserted that the Churchill government will not be able to stand up if Germany succeeds in conquering Russia without a second front being opened by the British anywhere against Hitler. The people are told of the weaknesses of their arms production. "This incessant vigilance and criticism are vital at the present moment, both for the preservation of our democratic type of government and for ensuring efficient prosecution of the war," says the London New Statesman and Nation in a recent issue.

The British are at war and such is the nature of comment in their press. We are at peace and the President regularly declares that any one who won't go whole hog for his projects is engaged in a program of spreading false rumors, distortions and lies. If the kind of criticism which is welcomed in Britain as wholesome and to be encouraged were uttered here in time of war while Mr. Roosevelt was in office he would strive to make short shrift of the critics.

Killing off of opposition is a characteristic of totalitarian government. A functioning minority is essential in a democracy. Before the war our government was moving fast toward a dictatorship. The British government was not. If it were, Chamberlain would not have been turned out. The preservation of the opposition in England and the repeated official attacks upon opposition here indicate where the trend toward the Hitler-Stalin system is stronger.

WHAT WE'VE BEEN SAYING.

The army is to be commended for adopting a lightweight, semiautomatic carbine developed by the Winchester Repeating Arms company to replace the .45 caliber service automatic pistol now carried by most officers and noncoms. It is believed that the new weapon will increase the rifle fire power of every infantry regiment by 50 per cent. The effective range of 300 yards is more than three times that of the .45 automatic. The carbine will be carried slung over the shoulder of all infantry officers below the rank of major and of most specialist troops.

It is also commendable that the army has gone to a private concern for the new weapon instead of accepting the designs of its own experts, who sometimes have upheld the merits of arms of their own creation against the claims of demonstrably superior weapons that could be had from private gunsmiths. The Springfield was a good rifle in its day, but even the army's pride in its own child hardly justified the years of resistance to change before the Garand semiautomatic rifle was accepted.

THE TRIBUNE may justifiably point out that the army is finding itself in curious agreement with all that this paper has had to say about small arms and other ordnance.

We insisted right along that the .45 service pistol wasn't up to its job. We called for an automatic rifle when the Garand was still to be unlimbered on the proving ground. We were early advocates of the tommy gun, and all tank crews and combat car squads now have it, with the prospect that other units may also be outfitted with it. We plugged for the 105 millimeter gun as replacement for the outmoded 75 millimeter field gun, and altho it took a long time, the army came around on that, too.

This, we submit, is a fair record of prescience. The war department would do well to continue reading THE TRIBUNE, as it apparently is doing now.

THINGS UP IN THE AIR.

It appears that we will have to go to a newsreel theater to gratify our curiosity about the way Dartmouth's rock climbers rescued the parachutist of the Devil's Tower. The newspaper accounts were deficient in information on this subject.

* * *

The little spiders that went aviating thru last Sunday's bright blue weather on wind-borne filaments of their own spinning aroused the curiosity of many citizens. The spider expert at the Field museum is, no doubt, capable of explaining this curious autumnal phenomenon, but it is a mystery to the Linemaster, who would rather read a paragraph about it than a page about the latest gadgets on bombing planes.

* * *

When flying machines were in their infancy the Devil's Tower rescue would have been a simple matter. There was a fellow named Roy Knabenshue who used to fly a one-horse dirigible from White City to Lincoln park and back again. He could have landed his primitive contraption on the Devil's Tower with the greatest of ease. It was not much bigger than a motorcycle.

* * *

We have often meditated about the chances of an airplane crashing upon a football stadium on a crowded Saturday afternoon. . . . . Once upon a time Chicago's first marathon race was finishing with a few laps around the Washington Park race track and we were there, hurrying "copy" for a bulldog edition. We happened to look up and saw Knabenshue or one of his disciples coming down in flames. The first marathon ended and the first dirigible crashed in the same precinct at the same moment, and the career of journalism seemed, for an hour or two, decidedly complicated.

TO A FALLEN LEAF.

Ah, Little Leaf, your race is run,
As in the gutter there you lie!
You once stood proudly in the sun,
Where you could beckon moon and sky.

'Twas yours to serve a beast called man,
By shielding him from heat and rain;
You doubtless thought your meager span
Of life would not be spent in vain.

And in your naïve way you thought
Your self importance justified;
Yet could your works have e'er been wrought
Without your comrades at your side?

Could you have ever stood alone
'Gainst Sol's strong rays, and beating rain?
Nay, Little One, 'neath earth and stone
Your mangled carcass would have lain.

And as you lie there, seared and brown,
With muck and filth to form your bed,
No laurel wreath nor golden crown
Adorns your little shriveled head.

And so, my friend, 'tis my surmise
'Twas your ambition to be blest.
The autumn blasts have closed your eyes!
Your blessing is eternal rest.

For Pilgrims to the Baha'i Temple.

Regarding the casting of the ornament for the Baha'i temple [Oct. 7]:

This work is being done by John Joseph Earley, who developed the process for architectural concrete and plastic mosaic which bears his name. He handled Lorado Taft's Fountain of Time in Chicago [1921]; the reproduction of the Parthenon in Nashville, Tenn. [1923], and the buildings of Louisiana State university at Baton Rouge.

Then he turned his attention to the control of color as well as form in concrete, and produced the mosaic ceiling for the Department of Justice building in Washington, with "exposed aggregates" of quartz, vitreous enamels and ceramics [1935]. He also worked on the Edison Memorial tower at Menlo Park, N. J. [1937], and a series of small "prefabricated" houses.

His studio near Washington contains, I believe, the finest group of craftsmen in architectural ornament ever gathered together since the Italian renaissance.

CIVIC OPERA HOUSE.

Haughty dowager in gray,
Subtly to the garish day
Grace and dignity you're lending
From an era swiftly ending;
Tall and stately, calmly browed,
Crowned with pompadour of cloud;
At your back the river flowing
[Where the city trade is going]
Cannot drown the music blest
That you hold within your breast,
And when opera notes a-winging
Jeweled and ermined crowds are bringing,
At your portals they are met
With a stare from your lorgnette.

An Eight Hour Day for Caryatids!

I have kept quiet too long, and it is high time that a public crusade is begun to aid the hundred or more caryatids outside the Museum of Science and Industry in Jackson park! Like perfect ladies they have stood in silence these many years, patiently and uncomplainingly doing their duty; holding up the building, day and night, in blazing sun and bitter snow, in flimsy clothing, with never a word of thanks from the ungrateful citizenry. I propose an eight hour day, Sundays and holidays free, and an appropriation for fur coats in the winter and sunshades in the summer as the least we owe these stalwart damsels, who use their heads in doing their job much more than most of us.

Quizzicuss.

Add "Benefits of Travel."

When I vacationed in Quebec a couple of summers ago I snapped innumerable "quaint" houses with outside stairways leading to the second floor. On returning to Chicago dozens of similar structures bobbed up south, west, and even north. Couldn't have been that they were there before, could it?

PERSISTENT DIARRHEA MAY MEAN COLITIS

THE colon, as much as any part of the body, calls for gentle handling if we would avoid a type of illness which may be long, exhausting, and expensive. As a rule, ulcers within the large bowel begin quietly and the lower portion near the rectum may be involved first. Unless relief is forthcoming promptly, the ailment may spread upward. Carelessness about eating, periodic attacks of diarrhea which are ignored, and the failure to use a balanced diet are possible factors.

Reason tells us that any interference with nutrition—the absence of one or more vitamins or minerals and an impoverished state of the blood—can decrease the resistance of the mucous membrane. In consequence, minor disorders — which would be thrown off ordinarily—may lead to ulceration.

Experts in allergy have suggested that perhaps some substance to which the patient is sensitive may bring on congestion within the canal, similar to that which occurs in the nasal passages in the presence of hay fever. While this may seem a bit farfetched, it is entirely feasible, particularly if the ensuing irritation is marked.

While an occasional siege of diarrhea may be traced to food or to an infection, no one should be complacent when such episodes recur two or three times a month and persist for several days. Not infrequently, there is a simple explanation—for example, hydrochloric acid may be lacking in the gastric juice. Thus the entire sequence of digestion may be upset and "looseness" become one of the prominent symptoms.

In ulcerative colitis, however, the discharges show mucus and traces of blood. Even tho healing may take place within a few weeks, the colon wall may be somewhat more susceptible to a second attack. This is why careful dietary management should be continued for several months. In conjunction with a proper adjustment of the menus, we must make certain that every food essential is provided and that the start of the digestive process is normal. It is important that the patient's mental outlook shall be calm, as anxiety will make the condition worse.

Nutrition must be high, with generous amounts of protein—lean meat, eggs, and milk. The percentage of fat, however, must be regulated as undigested particles will indicate that too much has been taken. But we need oily edibles, and butter is the best form as it aids in preventing weight loss.

Sugars are excluded entirely. Starchy items, such as cereals, pastry, bread, etc., are allowed in small quantities only. For carbohydrates, we must rely upon vegetables [without fiber] and fruits—chiefly bananas. Ripe baked bananas appear to be helpful and flour made of this material is recommended. If sweetening is necessary, saccharin may be used.

Roughage is irritating — hence all vegetables should be well cooked and chewed thoroly. It goes without saying that spices of all sorts, coffee, and alcohol are prohibited. Lemon juice, salt, and tea may be included.

Many physicians find that kaolin [clay], mixed with some preparation of calcium, is beneficial when administered by mouth. This serves as an astringent coating and acts as a protective agent. Furthermore, a solution of tannic acid may be introduced via the rectum. The pain, which is typical of colic, may be ameliorated by rest, hot water bottles, paregoric, and belladonna.

The strict adherence to a nonroughage regimen, low in starches and high in protein, will do more to check one of these bouts at its onset than almost any other plan.

PELLAGRA.

R. A. writes: What is the cause of pellagra?

REPLY.

A poorly balanced diet which is deficient in vitamin B. Lack of nicotinic acid [one of the fractions of B] is responsible chiefly. Exposure to sunlight increases the symptoms.

REPLY.

In selected cases, yes. The operation is highly technical and only an expert should be entrusted with the procedure.

PUTS BLAME ON THE STATES.

Rockton, Ill., Oct. 13.—Since your paper has embarked on a truth campaign, why not tell the entire truth and be done with it? For instance, how many states in the Union are free from debt? [To date I think Vermont is alone in that distinction.]

It's all very well to talk about "domestic tyranny," and foolish government expenditures, but tell why we have such a huge domestic national debt! If each state [outside the dust bowl area] had taken care of its own needy, would we still have that huge debt?

To blame the government sounds very dramatic, but it's not getting at the root of the trouble. Each state has shifted part of its burden over on the government, and howled because the government didn't do enough or was too slow about doing it. Certainly Chicago taxes are high enough to take care of local expenses. Had they been collected much federal relief would have been uncalled for. I contend that many ills of this nation could be alleviated if each state did its share to reduce its budget where federal money comes in. "Eventually the states will have to pay off that debt, or go bankrupt, so why not now?"

The defense debt is another story, but it would not loom so formidable if our domestic issues were in order! Yours, for better state and city government.

STOP BLINDFOLDING TRUTH!

West Chicago, Ill., Oct. 13.—Bernard Shaw has recently told us we are a great people. Even condescends to say he likes us. And in face of the fact that thruout his life he has been an everlasting critic of Americans and everything American.

We are reminded of happier days in a London theater when an actor's reference to "Uncle Shylock" was greeted by the audience with uproarious approval. But—any port in a storm. And what strange bedfellows a war will make! Now F. D. R. enlightens us on the freedom of religion in Russia! Fact of the matter is, and we all know it, that never during the last 2,000 years has such a determined effort been made to destroy Christianity as has been made by communistic Russia under Joe Stalin. But perhaps the old leopard can change over night.

Being honest with ourselves and facing realities is the first step toward defeating Hitler. Let's stop trying to blindfold truth.

GEO. J. BALL.

WHY AN ARMISTICE DAY?

Chicago, Oct. 13.—Why not discontinue the observance of Armistice day? America's military participation in the war was a mistake. Hitler's victories in Europe have nullified the armistice. Even the armistice railroad car has been removed to Germany as a trophy. Twenty-three years after the close of the Civil war, America did not celebrate Lee's surrender at Appomattox. Nor do we now observe England's army's surrender at Yorktown. Let us cut out the nuisance and nonsense of blocked loop streets, transportation tie-ups, business interruptions, etc.

A. F. R.

ANTI-WAR IN THE MOVIES.

Chicago, Oct. 13.—Tho I have in the past disagreed with many Tribune policies, I remained a constant reader.

Now I am in hearty accord with your policies both national and foreign. You are doing a good job. Why can't THE TRIBUNE sponsor a news reel movie that can in some measure counterbalance the rabble-rousing programs of the March of Time and other propaganda films. It would be a fine patriotic effort on your part that should bring you the appreciation of countless thinking people.

Just think of the effect it would have on people to flash on a screen the scene of a year or two ago, showing any public official being cheered for saying we can and must keep out of war. Then to show that same man speaking in favor of repeal of neutrality laws, or urging the sink on sight policy.

You would then be the most powerful check upon the war mongers.

In a government that used to be based on a system of checks and balances yours would be the only effective check remaining. And it wouldn't really be your check, but rather the check of an enlightened people.

So please do try to let us see and hear the Voice of the People.

BIBLES FOR STALIN'S FOLKS?

Trimble, Ill., Oct. 12.—I read that the National Prophecy Prayer conference in session at Nashville stands ready to send 1,000 Russian language Bibles to Josef Stalin.

That reminds me: During a religious revival in a Texas church the pitiful plight of a destitute family was brought up at a meeting of the women's society. The well fed singing evangelist, who was present, suggested that some one should send them some leaflets and invite them to attend the meetings.

"What," said one practical person, "ask them to come to church barefooted? Those people need hot soup and shoes."

So do the Russians need hot soup and shoes plus a cargo of bullets, half bricks, and ball bats.

Come, let us pray—I mean pay—and thru the nose.

OUR LADS IN ARKANSAS.

Chicago, Oct. 12.—Surely the gentleman who wrote the editorial entitled "An Army or a Mob?" must have done so after a bad night. He speaks of bringing the army up from the "concentration camps and strawberry box structures in the south, the land of the cottonmouth moccasin, crossroads grocery, and dusty tedium."

I live in a small Arkansas city, El Dorado, and during the recent maneuvers we had the privilege of helping entertain hundreds of northern lads in service—many from Chicago. They praised the hospitality of the south, our good paved roads, and beautiful natural scenery.

MOST PRIMITIVE INSECT.

Chicago, Oct. 13.—In answer to the query about silver bugs: I wrote my cousin in the Mayo Research laboratory and received the following:

"The insects you mention are commonly called fish-moths, silverfish, or firebrats. The name comes from the white silver scales and the habit of living around hot steam pipes. It feeds chiefly on sweet or starchy materials, sometimes doing much damage to libraries where it attacks book bindings. It also attacks starched clothing, eats the paste from wallpaper, and infests starchy foods. It runs swiftly and avoids the light. It can be fought with fresh pyrethrum powder which is sprinkled in the bookcase or wherever the damage is being done.

"It is the most primitive of insects as it has never had wings. Fleas, lice, etc., once had wings, but lost them due to their parasitic habits." Signed: Herbert Knutson, Mayo Brothers, Rochester, Minn.

BOOKS ARE NEEDED.

Camp Croft, S. C., Oct. 12.—I am a corporal stationed here as an assistant instructor, and am writing this letter to ask for the help of your many readers.

One of the greatest problems we have to face is keeping the men's minds occupied. This being a new camp, recreational facilities are not all they might be. Great strides have been taken to supply sports and pastimes for the men, but our reading material is seriously deficient. We have lots of back number magazines but very few books.

If various readers would send even one book each we would have a good library with no one feeling the pinch greatly. The books would be put in the battalion recreation hall. The thousand men here would greatly appreciate them.

TERMS OF WILL.

Peoria, Ill., Oct. 8.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—My mother died several years ago leaving some property with a small income. My sister and I are both married and have families. My father is still living. Sister and I have one-half the income while father is alive. After his death my sister and I are to have the property divided up. My father has two sons by his first wife.

1. After father's death can they claim that they have dower rights to his share? In the will his wife left him one-half the income while he lives.

2. It says nothing about the upkeep and taxes, and we wonder if that means my sister and I have to take care of the taxes and upkeep?

O. B. W.

1. Not unless your mother's will is so worded as to give them a share. In other words, they would have no share if the will gives father only the income.

2. In general, a life tenant should pay the general taxes and current upkeep.

G.O.P. WILL OPEN JUDICIAL FIGHT WITH RADIO TALK

Workers Meet Candidates at Rally Tomorrow.

BY PERCY WOOD.

Republican forces will start functioning tonight behind the Superior court ticket placed in the field against the Democratic slate at the instance of Gov. Dwight Green. John T. Dempsey, G. O. P. county chairman, will open the campaign with a radio speech over WENR from 9 p. m. to 9:15 p. m., and this initial appeal will be followed by increased Republican activity until election day, Nov. 4.

Tomorrow night, Gov. Green, Sen. Wayland Brooks, elected state afficers, judicial candidates, and Illinois representatives on the national committee, will appear at a rally of precinct workers in the La Salle hotel, presenting a united front behind the ticket. Later all the leaders save the downstaters among the state afficials will make radio speeches in behalf of the candidates.

Green to Talk on Oct. 23.

Plans are being made for the governor's first radi otalk on Oct. 23, which is expected to follow a dinner being arranged by the Lawyers' Judicial Campaign committee for the candidates. George B. McKibbin, director of finance, is chairman. Sen. Brooks, Attorney General George F. Barrett, and Auditor Arthur C. Lueder will be scheduled for addresses later.

One of the candidates, Harold J. Clark, tore int the Democratic organization yesterday at a luncheon sponsored by the Illinois Republican Service Men's league, charging that it had taken over the courts of Cook county. He spoke in Hotel Sherman.

"Our state constitution provides for the popular election of local judges," said Clark. "The irresponsible machine of the Democratic party in this county has flouted the constitution for years. The whole nation was scandalized when the President tried to dominate our Supreme court by packing it with partisans, but right here in Cook county, the boss of the Democratic machine has taken over the courts.

Two Free of Boss Rule.

"Every one of the 80 or more judges, with the exception of Judge Edgar A. Jonas [Gov. Green's appointee] and County Judge Edmund Jarecki [fought by the Nash-Kelly Democrats], owes his position on the bench to the Democratic machine. The people have allowed the bosses to continue this practice under the guise of protecting the tenure of sitting judges.

"With over 80 judges in the county, some of them must be good. But, if there is any one boss controlled judge the administration of justice in Cook county is impaired.

"The Democratic machine has packed our Cook county courts with judges responsible to them and not to the people by the device called coalition. This is the worst kind of court packing. This year we can and must smash boss control of the courts."

CONVICT COUPLE OF DESECRATING AMERICAN FLAG

New York, Oct. 14 (AP).—A Special Sessions court of three justices today convicted Guy W. Picking and his wife, Ida, both Baltimore, Md., attorneys, of desecrating the American flag by having a likeness of it, without stars, painted on the sides of an automobile they used to advertise travel information.

Assistant District Attorney Edward Josephs said that since the offense was a misdemeanor the penalty might be a jail term. Mrs. Picking insisted at previous hearings and at the two hour trial today that the constitutional rights of her and her husband had been violated.

Auto Victim's Daughter and Widow Sue 4 Taverns

Suit for $100,000 damages under the dram shop act was filed against four taverns yesterday in the Circuit court by Mrs. Lillian Evans, 28 years old, and her daughter, Dian, 10, of 855 North Western avenue. Their husband and father, William Evans, 31, was fatally injured by an automobile last March 22. The suit alleged that he was intoxicated at the time because of drinks served in the taverns at 921, 951, and 955 North Western avenue and at 2406 Chicago avenue.

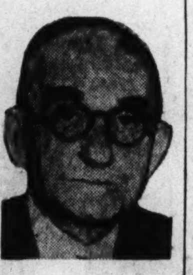
Judicial Candidates

(This is another in a series of sketches of the nominees for the Cook County judicial election of Nov. 4. They are being published in the order in which the candidates' names will appear on the ballot.)

BY PERCY WOOD.

DEMOCRATIC.



Charles Williams.

Judge Charles A. Williams, one of the veterans of the Cook county bench and a member of the Superior court since 1923, was slated for reëlection in 10th place on the Democratic ballot for the Nov. 4 election. Now 79, Judge Williams' judicial experience dates back to 1910, when he was first elected to the Municipal court.

The judge was born in Jefferson, Wis., attended a normal school at Winona, Minn., and obtained a law degree at the University of Wisconsin in 1884. He has practiced in Chicago since 1886.

Entering politics, Judge Williams was an assistant county attorney from 1891 to 1892, and in 1910 was elected to the city bench as a Democrat. He retired after one term in 1916, but two years later was elected to a second term which was in its fifth year when he was chosen to run for the Superior court in 1923.

Judge Williams was reëlected in 1929 and again in 1935 and is now completing 29 years on the bench. In 1914-'15 he was a lecturer at De Paul university.

REPUBLICAN.

Dennis O'Toole.

Dennis J. O'Toole, assigned 10th place on the Republican Superior court ballot, is a newcomer in the political picture, and was placed on the ticket at the instance of service men's groups. He was wounded while serving overseas as an infantry lieutenant in 1918.

O'Toole was born in Chicago 48 years ago and attended the parochial schools, St. Cyril's college, and the John Marshall Law school, from which he graduated in 1914. He practiced until 1917 when he entered the first officers' training camp and was commissioned a second lieutenant. Sent overseas, O'Toole was promoted to first lieutenant in the 5th division and participated in the reduction of the St. Mihel salient and the Meuse-Argonne offensive. He was wounded in action.

Back in civil life in Chicago, O'Toole reëntered law practice in the state and federal courts, specializing in chancery and probate, real estate, banking and corporation law. He is a member of the Illinois State Bar association, the American Legion, and the Illinois Republican Service Men's league.

TAX CONSPIRACY GUILT ADMITTED; GET PROBATION

Three men were placed on probation for one year by Judge John A. Sbarbaro in the Criminal court yesterday on their pleas of guilty to a charge of conspiracy to file false personal property tax schedules and affidavits.

They were John P. Grace, 40 years old, and George W. Houlsby Jr., 28, former tax consultants, and John P. Daly, 28, a notary public, all of whom were in business at 77 West Washington street until indicted last January. They were accused of having filed incomplete schedules for 10 small corporation clients. Walter A. Westgate, a solicitor, was indicted with them. He is a fugitive.

In court yesterday Grace and Houlsby admitted filing incomplete schedules. They said they merely followed the general custom and did not realize they were violating any law. Blair Varnes, assistant state's attorney, told Judge Sbarbaro that even tho the schedules were not complete it was doubtful if the county had suffered any tax loss. He said the state had no objection to probation.

GREEN APPOINTS 5 TO DRAFT NEW ELECTION CODE

Springfield, Ill., Oct. 14 (AP).—Gov. Dwight Green appointed today a five member commission, authorized by the legislature to codify Illinois election laws. Those appointed were.

Mrs. Mabel G. Reinecke, Chicago, member of the Chicago board of election commissioners; Harlington Wood, Springfield, Sangamon county judge; Stephen C. Malo, Watseka, Iroquois county judge; Daniel A. Carey, Chicago, head of the election department in the county clerk's office, and John F. Cashen Jr., Chicago, attorney for the Chicago board of election commissioners.

The commission is to submit a proposed new election code to the general assembly in 1943.

SEIZURE FACED BY NEW YORKER IN ORTON CASE

Lou Root, described as a wealthy New York manufacturer, was named in an attachment issued yesterday by Judge Thomas J. Lynch of the Circuit court for failure to appear before a court commissioner to answer questions concerning the divorce suit of Philo Orton, Chicago crane and shovel manufacturer. The court also enjoined Orton's estranged wife, Mrs. Annabelle Adams Orton, from communicating with her husband. "She has been annoying him by asking for dates, and his work is building cranes for the navy," said Orton's attorney, Daniel A. Covelli.

SUPREME COURT HEARS CONTEMPT CASE ARGUMENTS

Washington, D. C., Oct. 14 (AP).—For the second time within 12 months the Supreme court took under advisement today the controversy between the Los Angeles Times and the California courts over a newspaper's right to comment on a court action after a jury had reached a verdict.

The case was argued first in October, 1940, without a decision, and the justices announced on the last day of the spring term that they would hear rearguments this fall.

At issue are editorials praising a jury verdict against 22 sitdown strikers, another asserting that a trial judge would make a "serious mistake" if he granted probation applications of two men convicted of assaults on nonunion workers, and a third discussing political "bossism" after conviction of a woman politician in an attempted bribery case.

The newspaper and L. D. Hotchkiss, its managing editor, were convicted of contempt of court by the Los Angeles Superior court on grounds that such editorials might affect judicial consideration of pending motions for new trials or applications for probation. They contended today thru Attorney T. B. Cosgrove that all the cases had reached finality when the juries acted.

MOVIE RACKET TRIBUTE HIDDEN, LOEW'S AID SAYS

Executive Tells Jury He Juggled Records.

BY WILLIAM FULTON.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Oct. 14.—Juggling of record books, padding of expense accounts, and faking of vouchers were the devious methods employed by Loew's, Inc., to hide racket payments to George E. Browne and Willie Bioff, the two big labor bosses in the movie field, it was testified in federal court today.

David Bernstein, Loew's treasurer, described the complicated system of hiding payments which Browne and Bioff allegedly demanded be kept secret.

Browne, president of the International Alliance of Theatrical Stage Employés, and Bioff, his personal representative in Hollywood, are on trial on charges of extorting $550,000 from the four largest film producing companies—Loew's, 20th Century-Fox, Paramount, and Warner Brothers—on threats of calling ruinous strikes.

Backs Schenck's Story.

Testifying of his financial sleight of hand in almost inaudible tones at times, Bernstein buttressed the story told by his chief who had preceded him on the stand. Nicholas M. Schenck, Loew's president, had related how he personally had handed over $100,000 to the two union czars.

Bernstein recalled, under prodding from Assistant United States Attorney Boris Kostelanetz that in 1936 Schenck came to him and said the union leaders were demanding $50,000 from him and that he had to have it.

Nothing was to be disclosed as to who the money went to or how it was paid, related Bernstein.

"Where did you get it?" he was asked.

"From my vault," the witness replied. "It was my money."

Repaid, Witness Says.

The same thing happened again in 1937, Bernstein declared. Kostelanetz asked him whether he recouped these out of pocket withdrawals from company funds and Bernstein said he had.

"As occasions arose officers and executives of the company had vouchers for expenses and increased the amounts by thousands or made up vouchers, and in one or two instances I took the entire amounts," explained Loew's treasurer.

Bernstein said he used various subsidiary companies of Loew's, the largest of which is Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, "in order not to disclose the particular item."

The witness identified three expense vouchers he said he had padded. They were made out for various officials of Loew's in amounts of $6,150, $9,250, and $12,300. Bernstein said he received all of the proceeds of the $9,250 voucher and the bulk of the other two.

Reports Another "Shakedown."

In the course of his second day of testimony Schenck told of another reputed shakedown in 1935. He said he was informed that Browne had threatened to call a strike against Loew's and Radio-Keith-Orpheum unless he received $150,000 from the two companies. Schenck said Loew's was to pay $100,000 of the sum, but finally paid between $150,000 and $160,000 to take care of the income taxes so Browne would net $100,000.

COURT TO RULE ON LEGALITY OF ABORTION RAIDS

Judge John F. Haas in the Criminal court will rule today whether the state's attorney's office will be required to submit proof of the legality of police raids made last February on the offices of Mrs. Ada Martin at 190 North State street and 127 North Dearborn street.

Mrs. Martin, reputed head of a loop abortion ring, and Mrs. Josephine Kudner, her office receptionist, are charged with conspiracy to commit abortions. In the hearing before Judge Haas, they are trying to suppress the evidence seized in the raids on the ground the raids were made without search warrants.

Mrs. Martin, the only witness yesterday, testified that Capt. Thomas Duffy and 18 policemen raided her State street office, took away carloads of records and material, and that the captain said, when she asked for a search warrant, that he "didn't need one." Defense Attorneys W. W. Smith and Everett Jennings further revealed that Judge Thomas A. Green in the police court subsequently held the raid illegal, and that police returned the records after making photostatic copies.

Doomed Sawicki Indicted for Murder in Kankakee

Countess Jeanne von Bernstorff on her arrival in Jersey City, N. J., yesterday aboard the S. S. Exeter.

Jersey City, N. J., Oct. 4 (AP).—Expressing fear of the German gestapo, Countess Jeanne von Bernstorff, American-born widow of the German ambassador to the United States at the start of the World war, arrived today from Lisbon.

"I have come home to die," she said. "I never want to see Germany again."

Countess von Bernstorff, who was born Jeanne Luckeneyer in New York 73 years ago, said she hopes to live in Washington, D. C.

She arrived on the American Export liner Exeter, which brought 182 passengers from Lisbon, including 92 aliens. The master, Capt. Edmund Taylor, said this was the first voyage since the start of the war on which the Exeter had not heard an S O S.

$100,000 FIRE HITS 4 STORY BUILDING ON GOOSE ISLAND

Fire of unknown origin did damage estimated at $100,000 early today to a four story brick building at 1063 North Branch street, on Goose Island. The building is occupied by the Columbia Bedding company and serves also as a furniture warehouse.

A 5-11 alarm was sounded because of the proximity of other buildings, and the fireboat Busse was sent to the scene. Fire Marshal Michael J. Corrigan, who estimated the damage, said the cause was unknown and that an investigation would be made.

SEEK 2 DOCTORS FOR QUIZZING IN ABORTION CASES

Assistant State's Attorney Samuel Papanek said last night that two physicians, who are alleged to have performed "a thousand abortions a year," were being sought by the police. The two men were named, the prosecutor said, by Mrs. Cora Kriss, 29 years old, 623 Briar place, who was charged with aiding in the illegal operations. Mrs. Kriss was arrested in a raid at 65 East Chicago avenue on Monday. She was released from custody last night by Judge Jay Schiller of the Bond court without bail on the recommendation of Papanek.

AFL DELEGATES ASK OUSTER OF THURMAN ARNOLD

Charge He Represents Anti-Union Forces.

BY SEYMOUR KORMAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Seattle, Wash., Oct. 14.—Charges that Thurman Arnold, special assistant attorney general, is venting personal anti-union attacks on labor in written articles were made today at the convention of the American Federation of Labor.

A resolution was adopted asking that he be fired from his post if investigation discloses that he is obtaining his subject material from government services and is being paid by private sources.

Rear Adm. Freeman Rebuked.

Other developments at the convention during the day were:

1. Rear Adm. C. S. Freeman, commanding the 13th naval district at Seattle, was rebuked for a public statement in connection with a dispute between west coast welders and the AFL.

2. The National Labor Relations committee was criticized in a resolution for rulings against AFL craft unions.

3. Several AFL unions were accused of discrimination against Negroes.

Arnold, head of the anti-trust division of the attorney general's office, has long been regarded by the AFL as its enemy, the federation asserting he threatens labor's rights by erroneous application of anti-trust laws.

Called a Reactionary.

"Shorn of the cloak of being a fair labor prosecutor," the resolution read, "Arnold has, without hesitation and without compunction, readily taken on the more congenial garb of an anti-labor lobbyist and publicist who has—quite wittingly we charge—become the most articulate and effective spokesman now representing the reactionary anti-labor forces in this country.

"The inconsistency of a government functionary widely propagandizing his personal bias by scurrilous attacks on labor in vicious articles and demagogic speeches is both obvious and deplorable."

The resolution then asked the attorney general to inquire into the truth of reports that the anti-trust division has required labor officials accused under the anti-trust statutes to be finger printed and provide bail while no employer was so treated.

Ask Source of Articles.

The resolution also recommended that the attorney general ascertain whether or not articles were written and paid for by private sources and if the subject matter "was obtained in the service of the government and thru its processes by Arnold." If this practice is found to have existed, the resolution concluded, "those guilty should be immediately dismissed from government service."

The rebuke to Rear Admiral Freeman came from John P. Frey, secretary of the resolutions committee and head of the AFL building trades department. The welders are asking for an autonomous union, instead of being included in other unions, and threatened a strike if the AFL did not meet their demands. The AFL today referred the matter to its executive council. The contention is that "navy officers have no business interfering in jurisdictional matters."

Power of NLRB Assailed.

Concerning the National Labor Relations board, the resolutions committee again commented on the board forcing 50 AFL teamsters into a CIO bargaining unit at the Inland Steel company's Indiana Harbor plant.

"The board has assumed absolute and unreviewable power to shape and determine the structure of trade unions in this country in accord with the economic predilections of the board personnel," the report read.

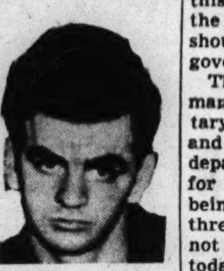
The racial discrimination issue was raised by A. Philip Randolph, colored president of the Brotherhood of Sleeping Porters, and Mark Ethridge, chairman of President Roosevelt's committee on fair employment practices.

Bar on Jobs Charged.

Randolph said that the painters, carpenters, and machinists' unions in several cities would not take Negro members and thus deprived these people of job opportunities.

The heads of the unions denied the charges and William Green, president of the AFL, said he would remove officials of federal locals [directly chartered by the federation] who were proved to practice such discrimination.

USES RADIO TO ELUDE POLICE; THINGS WORK OUT THE OTHER WAY



Louis Christakos.

When Louis Christakos, 18 years old, 6903 South State street, decided to make a career of robbing mail boxes, he equipped himself with a portable radio attuned to police calls. But the gadget had a distinct disadvantage; it sent Louis to jail.

In September, Christakos was arrested for stealing from mail boxes. Federal Judge John P. Barnes put him on probation on Sept. 17.

Two weeks ago, when Christakos went back to the business, he carried with him the radio set, inclosed in a suitcase. His victims all reported the suitcase in their descriptions.

Disaster overtook him yesterday. A report that mail boxes at 6928 South Green street had been rifled was received by a squad of the Englewood station patroling near 70th and Sangamon streets. Louis Christakos was there, walking rapidly homeward.

Sergt. James O'Halloran saw him and the oft reported suitcase and stopped him. When he was searched the police found two checks which Christakos said he had intended to cash.

6,500 TO ATTEND ELWOOD PLANT BARBECUE PARTY

A mammoth barbecue will be held tomorrow for the 6,500 employés of the Elwood ordnance plant, near Joliet, celebrating completion of the manufacturing units of the 25 million dollar plant. The third of four shell loading plants and a fuse and booster assembly unit will go into operation next week. A fourth loading line is under construction.

The barbecue will be given by Sanderson & Porter, builders of the plant, which is the nation's largest. More than 6,000 pounds of baby steer quarters and lambs will be barbecued in long pits in celebration of the work's completion in less than a year.

There also will be speeches, entertainment, and the first raising of the post's official flag.

'26' GIRLS KEEP THE DICE ROLLING IN SPITE OF BAN

Employers Plan Appeal to Gov. Green.

BY JAMES DOHERTY.

Dice were rattling last night as 5,000 young women powdered for the battle to save their jobs as 26 game girls. The Illinois Liquor Control commission has decreed an end of this method of "shaking" for the drinks and food, and the girls whose livelihood comes from recording the dice throws of patrons of taverns, cocktail lounges, clubs, night spots, and hotel bars were wondering what their employers were going to do about it.

The authority of the state commission as against the authority of the city's liquor commission was questioned by Corporation Counsel Barnet Hodes. Groups of liquor retailers were planning appeals to Gov. Green.

Bartenders to the Rescue.

Bartenders said they would call on their union to fight for the girls who labor in the interest of stimulating business.

Members of the state liquor commission are A. S. Smith, Democrat, of Bloomington, and Paul Rothenberg, Republican, of Chicago, holdovers from the Horner administration, and Republican Ward Committeeman Charles Fleck, the appointee of Gov. Green.

A tour of loop bars revealed that already a few of the girls had been fired. Most of them were still shaking the dice.

The game which furnishes them with their living and their weekly wage of $18 is played with 10 dice. These are rolled out of a box 13 times by any one wishing to pay a quarter for that privilege. The player picks a number from 1 to 6 and announces it to the girl, who is usually selected because she has a nice smile and twinkling eyes. If that number is on top 26 times in the 13 rolls the investor of 25 cents is rewarded with a certificate entitling him to $1 worth of merchandise.

"This is gambling," said Commissioner Fleck.

"That is gambling," said Commissioner Rothenberg, who is also a Republican ward committeeman.

Commissioner Smith said nothing for publication.

Order from Gov. Green.

"Gov. Green gave us only one order," William M. Devine, the commission secretary, explained to a convention of beer wholesalers yesterday.

"That order was that the disorderly, immoral, and racketeering elements of the liquor business be cleaned out of Illinois so that honest dealers may prosper and that citizens may not have to sacrifice their privileges because of the actions of a few."

The order to cease shooting dice hit the liquor industry without warning. "They didn't discuss it with me," said Police Commissioner Allman, a veteran of 10 years as head of the Chicago police.

"It's true our 18 local investigators will have to extend themselves a bit in visiting the 9,000 Chicago taverns to see if 26 games are in vogue," Commissioner Rothenberg admitted. "By visiting five places an hour, 40 in eight hours, each investigator could make the rounds of 500 places once every 12th or 13th day. The investigators will be held responsible for any violations of law in taverns in their respective territories."

Awaiting Trial

LOIS LOCKNER.

New York, Oct. 14 [Special].—Lois Lockner, 22 years old, appeared at the federal building today to await trial on a charge that she falsely represented herself to be in the employ of the Federal Bureau of Investigation. She said she would take the stand in her own defense.

Convict's Skull Fractured in Fight at Stateville

Louis Rudd, 41 years old, serving an indeterminate sentence in Stateville for a confidence game in Chicago, was in a serious condition in the prison hospital yesterday after a fight in the prison power house. He received a basal skull fracture when he was struck with a seven inch bolt by Rufus Fields, 51, of Chicago, who is serving a year to life for burglary. Rudd entered prison in 1931, was paroled in 1934 and was returned for parole violation in 1940.

KEOKUK RESTAURANT OPERATOR DIES.

Keokuk, Ia., Oct. 14 [Special].—Frank Foster, 64 years old, a restaurant operator for 35 years, died last night.

CALDWELL FACES NEW QUIZ TODAY ON UNION LOOTING

Jury Will Inquire About Two More Deals.

Max Caldwell, ousted business agent of Local 1248 of the Retail Clerks International Protective association, will be taken before the Cook county grand jury this morning to face additional questions in connection with charges that the union treasury was looted.

With the ex-bootlegger and Caponeite will be his brother, Michael Pollack, who was recording secretary of the union until he was unseated by a revolt of the membership. Max changed his name from Pollack to Caldwell. Assistant State's Attorney William Crawford, who heads the investigation into the union's affairs, declined to say what questions will be put to the brothers.

Two Deals Uncovered.

It was understood, however, that the grand jury wants to hear Caldwell's explanation of two deals uncovered by Crawford since the brothers last faced the jury. These are:

1. Caldwell's contract to purchase for $45,000 the home on Delido Island, Fla., of Frank Nitti, head of the Capone gang.

2. The purchase of two expensive automobiles with union funds, the cars being taken to Florida for Caldwell's use there, according to evidence in the hands of the state.

The real estate deal came to light last Aug. 19 when Caldwell answered questions under oath at a hearing conducted by Master in Chancery Daniel A. Covelli in connection with a suit asking that Caldwell account for $910,000 of union funds.

The ex-hoodlum stated he had contracted to begin paying Nitti $450 a month, beginning Sept. 1, toward the $45,000 purchase price. In addition he was to engage a gardener for the property at $12 a week. He was to pay all this out of his $125 a week union salary, Caldwell added.

Purchase from "Frank Nitto."

Caldwell insisted he had not known that the "Frank Nitto" from whom he was making the purchase was the same Frank Nitti who was Al Capone's enforcer.

The automobile purchases were brought up at the same hearing. Caldwell said then he had been surprised to hear that the union had, in his absence, voted $2,000 toward providing him with expensive cars. The first auto was bought in Chicago and taken to Florida where it later was turned in for a certificate of credit, it is understood.

The second car was bought in Chicago, being paid for with the certificate and union cash, then was taken to Florida for Caldwell's use, it is charged.

LOSS OF 100,000 JOBS SOON SEEN BY VAN WAGONER

Kalamazoo, Mich., Oct. 14 [Special].—While admitting that the problem of industrial transition to the rearmament program is more critical in Michigan than in any other state, Gov. Murray D. Van Wagoner, addressing students of Western Michigan college here today, declared he saw hope that the unemployment problem would not be widespread and visioned a constructive post-war period from which the United States would develop into "an even more healthy nation, socially, politically, and economically."

Speaking on "the impact" of rearmament program upon Michigan, Van Wagoner said:

"Because Michigan's civilian durable goods plants create a conflict in materials needed for national defense, we are going to see our industries switching more and more to defense production. There will be ample work, but there will be a period when at least 100,000 workers will be without jobs. The trend downward has started already and will reach a peak by early next year. Many small industries using metal will be forced out of business or drastically curtailed."

Waukegan Man Is Jailed for Driving When Drunk

Richard McBride, 49 years old, of Waukegan, a mechanic, was sentenced to 10 days in the House of Correction and fined $100 and costs by Judge Leon Edelman in the Safety court yesterday on a charge of driving when intoxicated. The judge also suspended his driving license for six months. Police said McBride drove his car over a curb and into a brick wall on Sheridan road last Sunday.

Board Falls Off Roof, Passerby Seriously Hurt

Mrs. Hilma Johnson, 79 years old, 814 South Green street, was struck on the head by a board dislodged from a roof as she walked yesterday in the 800 block in West 79th street. She was taken to St. George hospital with a possible skull fracture.

DRIVER CRUSHED IN TRUCK LIVES LESS THAN DAY

Floyd E. Boller, 35 years old, of Reynolds, Ind., died yesterday in St. James' hospital, Chicago Heights, of injuries received Monday when his truck overturned against a tree at Chicago road and route 83, south of Glenwood. He was pinned in his cab, and Homewood county highway police worked for 30 minutes before they could remove him.

Everett Soberg, 17, of 1823 South 19th avenue, Maywood, a clerk in the First National Bank of Chicago, died in the Berwyn hospital of injuries received Monday in a collision at Harlem avenue and 21st street, North Riverside. He was in a car driven by Robert Ransaier, 18, of 712 North 12th avenue, Melrose Park, when it crashed into truck.

Harry Leventhal, 70, of 1829 South 11th avenue, Maywood, was fatally injured last night and a companion, Mason Glickman, 75, of 835 South 12th avenue, Maywood, criticaly hurt when they were struck by a car at Washington boulevard and 12th avenue in the suburb. The driver, Edward Mejdrich, 18, of 118 East Adams street, Villa Park, was held for the inquest. Leventhal died in the Westlake hospital, Melrose Park, where Glickman also was taken.

Three persons were injured, two critically, when an auto struck a freight train early today at the Illinois Central crossing on route 25, four miles south of Elgin. State police said the victims were Robert Schram of St. Charles, the driver, who was apparently not seriously hurt; Joseph Bowers, 30, of McLeansboro, Hamilton county, and Mrs. Mary Hoy of Hume, Edgar county. The last two were identified from cards in their possession. They are in St. Joseph's hospital, Elgin. Schram was taken to the Delnor hospital, St. Charles.

Up to 4 p. m. yesterday, 735 persons had been killed by automobiles in Cook county since Jan. 1. Of these, 505 were killed in Chicago where 20,040 were injured in the same period.

GAS ATTENDANT BEATEN, ROBBED.

James Prow, 4340 Union avenue, a gasoline station attendant at 2048 Archer avenue, was slugged by four bandits yesterday and robbed of $15.

The Too Short Skirt Defeats All Wearer's Charm Efforts

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

[Copyright: 1941: By News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

"We have a problem in our office, Miss Donnelly," writes Patricia. "We girls have tried every way to eliminate it, but need your advice now.

"There is one young woman working in our organization who is, well, different, to put it mildly. We're not prudish, or out to hurt this girl, either. She is about 22 and is extremely proud of her figure, especially of her legs. And they are attractive, too, let me assure you. It's this matter of legs that bothers us, not because her legs are better than ours, but because she wears her dresses extremely short and is continually bending over the files and over her desk, and causes an embarrassing situation. She rolls her stockings to just above her knees, and when she bends over, well, it is too embarrassing, for there are men working with us. Instead of being embarrassed when remarks have been made directly to her, she looks happy about the sensation she's creating.

"At first, we told her about it in a diplomatic way. Then we became downright frank. Result, if anything, her dresses are even shorter and she bends more frequently than ever, so we've given up. We are petitioning you to write an article on the subject."

You've done a pretty good article on the subject yourself, Patricia. You've shown the girl up as the vulgar person she is.

News from Her Beau in Camp Causes Anger

BY DORIS BLAKE.

[Copyright: 1941: By News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

"He was kind, thoughtful, and so considerate that I missed him a great deal after he went to camp in Georgia. I have gone out with other men, because I did not think it was right for me to sit at home alone. I know he would not want me to do that, any more than I thought I would want him to refuse dates with other girls, if he were to meet any nice ones he wanted to escort.

"But I cannot help having a little jealous twinge when he writes that he has met an attractive girl. This girl is 'after him,' I know, and I am becoming a little worried about losing him. Please advise.—READER."

He runs the same risk of losing you. Are you sure you haven't written to him about the dates you have? He may be paying you back with a little of your own medicine! It's all right not to keep any secrets from him [if you have some such agreement], but there IS such a thing as telling him too much about the men you know. It's poor technique to do so.

We'd advise you to write to him often, and to try to cement your friendship by friendly, chatty letters while he is away for his period of service. If he thinks anything of you at all, he will appreciate your attitude a great deal more than he would were you to adopt a jealous attitude. No man likes to feel that he is obligated to a girl unless he wants to be.

About Benld, Ill.

Everybody except your columnist seems to know all about Benld, Ill., judging from the telephone and mail response to our query as to where the mining town in Macoupin county, Illinois, got its name. The site of Benld and the surrounding land, which is underlaid with coal, was once the property of Ben L. Dorsey. When he sold the property for mining purposes he reserved the townsite, which he subdivided and sold, according to a grandson of Dorsey, Machir J. Dorsey, as reported by a former partner of young Dorsey's in Chicago, C. Edwin Johnson. The name is his first name and two initials, and originally the name of the town was pronounced Ben-el-dee.

• • •

Benld came into prominence when a meteorite fell there in September, 1938. Dr. H. W. Nichols, chief curator of geology at the Field museum, wrote an article about it for The Scientific Monthly and the Field Museum News and Ben Hur Wilson of Joliet wrote a piece about the Benld meteor for Popular Astronomy. But Benld's attractions have long been considered other than scientific.

"The frontier days of Benld smack of the story book variety," writes Marvin E. Smith, "but are hardly material for your well mannered column."

• • •

A novelist might find a plot in the various phases of interest a town holds for different persons. The mail that came in about Benld offers an illustration. Scientists wrote in about the meteorite; hot music fans about the young couple that sing and play in the tavern previously mentioned in this space; gamblers told about the gambling syndicates that operate in the town, and the visitors from St. Louis and thereabouts who come in on week-ends; former townsfolk wrote in expressing pleasure that their home town made the column. A railroad man is interested for another reason:

"Your article is of particular interest to me . . . because the town is of major importance to the Chicago and North Western, Litchfield and Madison, and Illinois Terminal railroads as a gateway on traffic from St. Louis and the south and southwestern states into the west, middle west and eastern states," writes Vernon C. Giegold.

• • •

An intimate account of the beginnings of Benld and ow it acquired its name is contained in a letter from Chet Wood of Oak Park:

"Back in the nineties a man came from Sherman, Tex., to buy land for the Chicago and North Western's projected railroad and mines. It was called the Macoupin County railroad, and ran from Benld to Girard where it connected with the Chicago and Alton. . . . After the road had been built the mines started in full operation, and some one commented that the town had no name to facilitate making out waybills to ship the coal. A town of 2,000, twenty saloons, a carload of liquor a week and two carloads of beer. One morning Harry Stewart said he was having a sign made for the station and Ben L. Dorsay was to be the name of the town. The sign painter, one of the section men, got slightly pickled and made two boards. On one he painted BENLD and on the other ORSAY. He put up the first one, intending to put up the other beside it. Stewart saw he was drunk and fired him. The first board stayed and gradually the town took the name from Benld.

"That is how Benld got its name, and I don't think there are a dozen people left who can tell the facts, for the old rails are going fast, and I don't know where any of that bunch is now."

Young Artists Are Presented by Music Clubs

BY EDWARD BARRY.

The Illinois Federation of Music Clubs presented in Kimball hall last night the three state prize winners of the 1941 young artists' contest.

The violinist, Chester Bielski, played Bloch's "Nigun" with a big tone which did not shatter even at the piece's climaxes. His delivery was virile and commanding, yet it had the flexibility which the rhapsodic, improvisatory character of the music requires.

Szymanowski's "Fontaine d'Arethuse" was quite delicately and sensitively done, altho a pianissimo which quite failed to come off suggested that Mr. Bielski does not always listen to his own tone as critically as he might. This suspicion was strengthened in a Szymanowski Tarantelle whose accents often were overly sharp. Mr. Bielski ended with a finely conceived and beautifully executed performance of a portion of the "Dance of the Happy Spirits" from Gluck's "Orpheus and Eurydice."

Louisa Hoe is a soprano who has done wonders with a voice which is, basically, only fair in size and usability. For one thing, she has loosened it up, and she was able to negotiate with confidence and excellent effect even such tricky things as Liszt's "Oh! While I sleep." Also, she has striven constantly to phrase with refinement, to color intelligently, and to produce her tones with care.

The pianist, Thaddeus Kozuch, the third of the artists, played Scarlatti, Liszt, Chopin, Debussy, and Dohnanyi with immense technical skill, with the artist's sure feeling for the inner character of the differing music with which he was dealing, and [consequently] with genuine effectiveness.

Tribute Is Paid Dr. Thompson at City's Farewell

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.

City and church last night bade an affectionate good-by to the Rev. John Thompson, retiring pastor and builder of Chicago's famous skpscraper church, the Chicago temple, Washington and Clark streets. Mayor Kelly, Rabbi Louis L. Mann, Bishop Ernest Lynn Waldorf and other notables all speaking without notes, paid touching tribute to the former Nenthead, England, miner, who became one of Chicago's great builders.

"Chicago has lost an active churchman," Mayor Kelly said, "but it retains a great citizen, for which we are grateful. As mayor I am authorized to speak for Chicago. I believe the time to speak of a citizen's contribution to his city is while he is living; not when he is dead.

"People of Chicago are grateful to Dr. Thompson. It has taken courage for Dr. Thompson to say things on some occasions when they did not fit well in a popular way. But Dr. Thompson has always been an honest thinking, honest speaking man."

The same courageousness was attributed to Dr. Thompson by Rabbi Mann, who told the 600 persons present that the Jewish people desired to pay tribute to him as a man among men and to his "absolute genuineness and his complete sincerity."

"You knew what John Thompson had been saying when he got thru," Dr. Mann declared. "No one ever knew John Thompson to take a narrow stand, or to avoid a courageous stand regardless of the cost. He is a great preacher, but his greatest sermon is his own three score years and ten."

Bishop Waldorf spoke of Dr. Thompson on behalf of the Methodist church at large. He declared that a man's record is the most important thing in his life as he pointed to the 45 years of Dr. Thompson's active ministry, 21 of which were served in the loop pastorate in that district's first and last of 40 churches to be located there.

"I am going to let you in on a secret that only I know," said Bishop Waldorf. "Some 20 or more years ago the then bishop of the Methodist area of Chicago visited me at Columbus and told me I was one of five being considered for appointment as pastor of the Chicago temple. I did not expect to hear of the matter again, and I was not disappointed. I then learned of Dr. Thompson's appointment."

"If you want to see Dr. Thompson's monument, look about you," said the bishop as he paraphrased the tribute to Sir Christopher Wren, builder of St. Paul's cathedral, London. "This is going to be the outstanding Methodist temple in the new world."

Others who paid tribute to Dr. Thompson were Dr. Howard A. Vernon, president of the Chicago Church federation, George W. Dixon Jr., Dr. Raymond W. McNealy, superintendent of Wesley Memorial hospital, and Dr. Fred D. Stone, publishing agent of the Methodist book concern. A powerful radio receiving set was presented to Dr. Thompson, and a bunch of 21 roses to Mrs. Thompson, by Mrs. William W. Dixon.

Community Fund Public Office Division Quota Is Designated

The public departments division of the 1941 Community Fund campaign has been assigned a quota of $113,500, James S. Knowlson, general chairman, announced yesterday. Maj. Gen. Joseph M. Cummins, commander of the 6th corps area, is chairman of the division which is composed of the elected officials, executives and employés in city, county, state, and federal public offices in Chicago.

The goal of the drive is $3,583,000. These funds will be allocated to the city's 185 major Protestant, Catholic, Jewish, and non-sectarian charities and social agencies.

Groups in the public departments division, the chairmen and minimum quotas follow: board of education, Joseph B. Shine, $29,000; Chicago Park district, George T. Donoghue, $5,000; city departments, John P. Wilson, $29,000; county departments, J. Frank Lyman, $5,000; federal departments, G. H. Geisler, $9,000; military and naval service, Chaplain R. L. Logan, $4,500; postal departments, C. C. Lohman, $22,000; sanitary district, L. M. Johnson, $2,500, and state departments, David L. Shillinglaw, $7,500.

Group chairmen will make their first reports on the progress of the drive at a division meeting tomorrow noon in the Grand ballroom of the Palmer House.

Gen. Cummins' acceptance of the division chairmanship was the subject of an address at a recent meeting of the sponsors, headed by Bryan S. Reid. Mr. Knowlson reported that the general was very busy, especially in times like these, but that his chief of staff explained that the actual work could be delegated to assistants. But Gen. Cummins interrupted him to say, "This is the kind of a job I will do myself."

This Is Night of Passavant Hospital's Big Annual Benefit

BY JUDITH CASS.

THE lights will go up in the Arena tonight on the first of the winter's three big benefits, the Passavant hospital's Ladies Aid society having taken over the opening performance of "The Ice Follies of 1942."

Usually the Passavant women delay their annual entertainment until after Christmas, giving the St. Luke's fashion show the lead as the year's first big benefit. This year the St. Luke's show is thir, the British War Relief Victory Round-Up taking the middle date, Friday, at the Stadium. The St. Luke's show will be given in the ballroom of the Stevens hotel next Tuesday afternoon and evening.

Tonight's benefit is the occasion for a host of dinner parties. Several Chicagoans have cut short lingering vacations in order to be here to entertain before the "Follies" and others have invited guests from out of town.

Mrs. Charles B. Goodspeed, who returned from New York only this morning, and Mr. Goodspeed will give a dinner at home in Lake View avenue. Mr. Goodspeed returned to Chicago after they closed their home in Osterville, Mass., earlier this month.

Robert G. McMillan is arriving from British Columbia just in time to be among the dinner and "Follies" guests of his brother and sister-in-law, the James G. McMillans. Mr. McMillan has been living in British Columbia. He will visit the James McMillans until after Christmas.

Majority of Boxholders Giving Dinner Parties.

Almost all of the boxholders are giving dinner parties before the benefit—many of them at the Casino or the Yar. Mrs. George Corson Ellis, one of the publicity chairmen for the benefit, and Mr. Ellis will entertain at a dinner party at the Beachcombers'.

Among others giving dinners are Mrs. Walter R. Kirk, president of the Ladies' Aid society and general chairman of the benefit committee, and Mr. Kirk; Robert J. Dunham, Mrs. Warren C. Fairbanks, the Ambrose C. Cramers, the Philip D. Armours, Mr. and Mrs. De Witt Clough, the Huntington Henrys, and Mr. and Mrs. De Forest Hulburd.

Mrs. Edward Byron Smith, chairman of program distribution, has asked a group of pretty debutantes, young matrons, and postdebutantes to aid in selling programs. Among them are Mrs. William B. Cudahy, Mrs. Daggett Harvey, Miss Mary Adams, Miss Betty Mead, Miss Mary Ryerson, Miss Sally Perry, Miss Judy Butler, and Miss Marie Louise Hulburd.

Others are Miss Betty Bennett, Miss Louise Strawn, Miss Eunice Hale, Miss Anne Stuart, Miss Isabel Johnson, Miss Jean White, Miss Adrienne Ely, Miss Anne Bryant, Miss Nancy Orr, Miss Peggy Nicholson, and Miss Harriett Dawes.

English Speaking Union Luncheon at 12:30 Today.

Mrs. Paul B. Magnuson was in charge of arrangements for today's luncheon of the English Speaking union, to be given at 12:30 o'clock at the Casino. Seated at the speaker's table with the special guests, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard K. Elmhirst, will be Dr. and Mrs. Richard H. Tawney, Mr. and Mrs. William Sutherland, Dr. and Mrs. Magnuson, Mrs. George A. Richardson, Richard Elmhirst, Mr. and Mrs. Perry Dunlap Smith, and Mr. and Mrs. Frank A. Hecht. Mr. and Mrs. Elmhirst will speak on "Britain's Changing Economy."

New members of the Chicago Chamber Music society and members of the Russian trio will be the special guests at a tea which the society will give at the Arts club at 3 o'clock this afternoon. The new members include Mrs. James Otis Hinkley, Mrs. Howard Linn, Mrs. Arthur Byfield, Mrs. H. Comer Winter, and Mrs. William Kearns. Nina Mesirow Minchin, Ennio Bolognini, and Michael Wilkomirski are the members of the Russian trio.

The society will celebrate its eighth season of sponsorship of the Russian trio by presenting them in a concert at the Goodman theater next Tuesday evening. The first in the monthly Tuesday morning concert series by the trio will be given at the Arts club on Nov. 4. The morning concerts are given on the first Tuesday of each month.

Mrs. John Nicholson is president of the society and Mrs. Moise Dreyfus and Mrs. Otho Ball are vice presidents. Mrs. Sanford Gifford is treasurer and Mrs. Robert Reid, secretary.

Junior Leaguers to Have Two Red Riding Hood Wolves

There always is one wolf in any production of "Little Red Riding Hood," but when the Chicago Junior League Children's theater gives its presentation of the children's classic there will be two wolves to entertain the youthful audience. The three act comedy will be given on Saturday morning, Oct. 25, at 10:45 o'clock at the Chicago Historical society.

Miss Barbara Burnham, a provisional member, will take the leading

F. D. R. ON THE NEUTRALITY ACT

In a speech on Oct. 28, 1940 —just before his third term election—President Roosevelt said:

"By the Neutrality Act of 1935 and by other steps . . . we made it clear to every American and to every foreign nation that we would avoid becoming entangled (in war) thru some episode beyond our borders. These were measures to keep us at peace. And thru all the years of war since 1935 there has been no entanglement and there will be no entanglement. . . . We shall continue to go forward in firm faith. We shall continue to go forward in peace."

Three Young Women Who Are Kept Busy as Benefit Aids

There are no busier young girls in social circles than the three above: Miss Betty Bennett, Miss Anne Boswell, and Miss Shirley Slade. Their time is divided between pleasure and duty, for Miss Bennett and Miss Boswell are debutantes and Miss Slade is of debutante age, altho she did not choose to make a formal bow to society. Assisting at benefits is one of the chief chores of a bud and she spends many hours each week displaying clothes or selling flowers or program souvenirs. Miss Bennett will work at the Passavant hospital Ice Follies tonight at the Arena, at the Victory Round-Up at the Stadium for the benefit of British civilian aid on Friday night, and at the St. Luke's hospital fashion show next Tuesday afternoon and evening at the Stevens hotel. Miss Boswell and Miss Slade also will be mannequins or flower vendors at the St. Luke's benefit.

Models Learn to Strut for St. Luke's Show

BY MARTHA MURPHY.

"Be a peacock but be a natural one. 'Give out' with those little mannerisms and little looks. Be very careful of your feet and keep away from that pigeon toed walk." That's the advice Edward Beck, coach, gave the St. Luke's fashion show mannequins in their first rehearsal at the Fortnightly club yesterday. The show will be presented in the ballroom of the Stevens hotel Tuesday afternoon and evening.

"S-t-r-e-t-c-h from the hips up. What you need is elevation," he advised as the girls paraded in a double circle. "You need brightness—no dead pan expression. Look from side to side as you walk. There'll be friends down in the audience looking for you."

Getting just the right stride was a little hard at first for the girls who have never modeled before. Going up and down stairs gracefully seemed to be the most difficult job of all. "Your knees must bend and you must feel your way down," Mr. Beck suggested. "You must consider the way you look from the side as well as the front."

"Practice at home and in front of a mirror. Confidentially tho, you're all quite up to St. Luke's standards. You'll be as good, if not better, than any models we've ever had," Mr. Beck said.

Perhaps most natural of the 133 models will be tiny "Debbie" Kneedler, Peter Hunt, and Bobbie McLallen, who will model children's clothes. The three youngsters watched each other carefully at yesterday's rehearsal and then politely served each other cookies at the tea which followed. Debbie's parents are the Harold M. Kneedlers, Peter is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William O. Hunt, and Bobbie is a son of Mrs. Watson McLallen.

The show's climax will come in the largest "bridal party" ever to take part in a St. Luke's benefit. Mrs. William M. Collins, a striking brunette, will be the bride. Her bridesmaids will be Mrs. Gardiner Van Ness, Mrs. John E. Baker Jr., Mrs. Peter Moon, and Miss Betty MacArthur.

★ ★ THRU THE LOOKING GLASS ★ ★

You can't blame a woman if she breaks out with a little invective when she breaks a nice, long finger nail. Getting a nail to its handsomest length takes time and patience and one brutal break can spoil a gal's day. Especially if it's the kind of break, as it usually is, that leads to graver tragedies, such as a completely torn nail tip.

The difficulty with most of the menders offered has been the necessity to use cotton or tissue with them to make a stronger, break resistant surface. But things are looking up. The newest thing in nail glues is just dabbed on with a toothpick. It holds fast as anything—and the only liquid that will weaken or remove it is liquid polish remover.

When you use tissue or cotton and then apply polish you're bound to have a bumpy, blurred surface. With this new little miracle worker you merely spread a drop of the stuff in between the edges of the rip and over and under it, sealing it on all sides. Then gently press the torn nail in place with a toothpick and hold for a few minutes. It will set and harden in a remarkably short time, actually in about the time it would take polish to dry.

You can apply your polish directly over the smooth surface of the glue; it won't affect the polish color at all and the coat will be perfectly smooth and lustrous. Your worst enemy won't know you have a badly torn nail. It won't show. Best of all, it won't snag on anything and lead to a bigger and better break!

This stuff is quite inexpensive and used quite sparingly. It's awfully important to keep the bottle tightly sealed.

BELIEVE WONDER CAVES LIE UNDER METEOR REGION

Expert's Findings Stir Hunt for Openings.

Winslow, Ariz., Oct. 14 [Special].—Possibility of a tourist attraction that will rival New Mexico's Carlsbad caverns and Kentucky's Mammoth cave is seen here, following last week's expedition to the 38 jagged pits 42 miles southeast of Meteor crater, near Winslow.

The expedition was financed by Edsel Ford of Detroit. At the head of the party was Dr. Harvey H. Nininger, meteorite authority and curator of the Denver Museum of Natural History. The scientists found that a terrific blast of a meteorite some 20,000 or 30,000 years ago collapsed the rock roofs of a system of underground chambers, leaving caves and small openings which, it is believed, open into undamaged caverns.

Discovered by Passing Flyer.

These caverns will be named after Capt. H. H. Holloway, TWA pilot who sighted the pits from the air while flying his regular route several weeks ago. The area may be taken over by the federal government and developed as a national monument.

"In establishing that the craters were caused by meteorite action," Dr. Nininger said today, "the expedition made a discovery that will rank high among the facts so far learned concerning the impact force of meteorites. These bodies are constantly showering the earth. Approximately 50,000 tons of them fall daily.

"I have no doubt that this unexplored area is pierced with caves and small openings which lead to vast underground chambers."

Search for Openings.

Acting on this information, Winslow business men have arranged to conduct a thoro ground search for such openings. If they find them, they will ask the department of interior to assign engineers and surveyors to explore and map the district. A movement to set aside the caverns as a national monument will follow.

In the course of his investigation of the pitted area formed by Chevalon canyon and Wildcat creek Dr. Nininger expressed the opinion that the craters are of the same age as Meteor crater, a hole 4,000 feet wide and 600 feet deep. This was in line with Capt. Holloway's belief that the pits were formed by scattered parts of the huge meteor that formed Meteor crater.

When the party visited Meteor crater, the Denver expert explained that the mass which smashed to earth there must have weighed at least 10 million pounds. The meteorite's material has been assayed as 90 per cent iron, 7 per cent nickel, and 3 per cent precious metals. The value of the nickel alone has been estimated at 300 million dollars, but engineers haven't yet found a way of mining it.

YELLOWSTONE PARK VISITED BY 581,761; AN ALL-TIME RECORD

Yellowstone Park, Wyo., Oct. 14 [Special].—With a total of 581,761 visitors, Yellowstone National park set a new all-time record in the fiscal year from Oct. 1, 1940, to Sept. 30, 1941. This was announced today by Supt. Edmund B. Rogers.

The previous record season, 1940, was surpassed by 55,324, and 1939 and 1938 were exceeded by 94,825 and 115,576, respectively. This year was the second time the attendance had gone above the half million mark.

In the season just closed California led all other states in the number of visitors coming by auto, Montana was second, and Illinois was third. In the number of those arriving by rail, New York was first, Illinois second, and Pennsylvania third.

Hot Springs, S. D., Oct. 14 [Special].—The best travel year in the history of the Badlands National monument was reported today by Supt. Harry J. Liek. The 1941 attendance was 251,498, a gain of 27 per cent over 1940. Illinois sent more visitors than did any other state. Iowa was second, and South Dakota third.

Liek also reported that 21,030 persons made the trip thru Wind Cave National park. This was an increase of nearly 17 per cent over last year, and was the highest figure reached there in the last decade.

Bike Riders to View Fall Beauty Along Rock River

The season's last cycle trip sponsored by the League of American Wheelmen will be made next Sunday. Dr. Graydon McK. Powell, national president, said yesterday that the cyclists will travel from Chicago to the Rock river country on a Burlington special train, lunch at Oregon, Ill., and then pedal thru the fall colorings and past the Blackhawk monument to Davis Junction, where the train will pick them up for the return trip.

PRIORITIES HALT PLANS FOR ROAD ON MT. MITCHELL

Raleigh, N. C., Oct. 14 [Special].—The proposed motor highway to the top of Mount Mitchell, highest peak east of the Mississippi, must wait. W. Vance Baise, North Carolina's chief highway engineer, said today that material priorities would make it virtually impossible to build the road at this time. A single lane toll free road now leads from the Blue Ridge parkway to the base of the mountain.

ANNOUNCE EIGHT WINTER CRUISES TO WEST INDIES

New York, Oct. 14 [Special].—A program of eight winter cruises on the motorliner Kungsholm was announced today by G. Hilmer Lundbeck, managing director of the Swedish American Line.

In each instance the goals will be ports in the West Indies, Central America, and on the northern coast of South America. Among the places to be visited will be Cap Haitien, Haiti, with a shore excursion to Emperor Christophe's citadel; Panama's San Blas Islands, home of the so-called white Indians; Willemstad, Curacao, Netherlands West Indies; Cristobal, Canal Zone; Havana, Cuba; La Guaira, Venezuela, with a shore excursion to Caracas; Cartagena, Colombia, and Nassau, Bahamas.

The voyages will last from 11 to 16 days. The first cruise is scheduled to sail Dec. 19, and the final one April 16. On the first sailing the passengers will spend Christmas at sea and New Year's eve in Havana.

FLORIDA TELLS OF ADVANTAGES TO PENSIONERS

Tallahassee, Fla., Oct. 7 [Special].—"It's Easy to Live in Florida on Any Budget," is the title of a booklet just issued by the state hotel commission.

The brochure is designed to attract the attention of persons about to retire from active business. It tells them what this state has to offer those having pensions, annuities, or other forms of old age security. It points out that in Florida homesteads with assessed valuations of $5,000 or less are free of taxation.

Travel agencies and railroads in the north will give the booklet wide distribution.

TRAVEL QUERIES ANSWERED

[What's your travel problem? Address queries regarding where to go, how to get there, costs, and accommodations to the Travelers' Guide, Chicago Tribune, inclosing stamped, self-addressed envelope.]

Which is the oldest garrisoned fort in this country? D. H.

The honor is claimed for Fort Ontario, built as Fort Burnet in 1755 in the Iroquois-Mohawk country of New York state.

As a small boy I read a book named "Cudjo's Cave." The other day I was told that there is a cave by that name somewhere in the near south. Please give details. F. S. A.

Cudjo's cave is situated near historic Cumberland gap, a short distance from the point where Tennessee, Kentucky, and Virginia meet. It was opened to the public in 1934. Among its formations is the Pyramid, 65 feet high, 35 feet in circumference, estimated to be 85 million years old, and said to be the world's largest known stalagmite. The book you refer to was written by J. T. Trowbridge and was published in 1863.

What is the temperature range in Puerto Rico? L. B.

In the 43 years in which the records have been kept the thermometer has never gone above 94 or under 62 degrees.

I am confused about the new government tax on steamship tickets. Can you help me out? R. G. W.

Beginning last Friday, all tickets are subject to a tax of 5 per cent. This applies to steamship transportation bought anywhere in the United States, regardless of port of embarkation or debarkation. It also applies to transportation by rail and bus.

What can you tell me about the Dance of the Sword Swallowers, held, I understand, somewhere in New Mexico? C. D. O'D.

It takes place each winter at Zuni pueblo, in the far western part of that state. Few white men have ever seen it. The ritual is a supplication to the rain gods to allow winter snows so that the farms will be ready for spring planting. Ages ago the Zuni Indians found that summer rains were not enough to insure good crops, and they reasoned that they must prevail upon the gods to bring heavy snowfall for the needed additional moisture. The dance and its accompanying ceremonies cover a period of many days. It is reported that double edged, sharp pointed swords, 18 inches long, are swallowed, and then withdrawn.

LINERS TO SOUTH AMERICA CARRY 51,000 IN 3 YEARS

New York, Oct. 14 [Special].—Robert C. Lee, executive vice president of the Moore-McCormack Lines, operators of the American Republics Line's service to South America, has announced that the company's ships have carried more than 51,000 passengers on that route since the service was started in 1938.

The company completed the third year of operation last Wednesday. The first sailing was that of the liner Brazil Oct. 8, 1938.

Lee said that in the three years there had been greatly increased trade, a steadily growing movement of passengers between the two continents, and a new measure of understanding between the people of the American republics.

Publish Last Great Book by Thomas Wolfe

"The Hills Beyond," by Thomas Wolfe. [Harpers, $2.50.] Published today.

BY FANNY BUTCHER.

When Thomas Wolfe died just three years ago today, he left a mountain of manuscript. Like his hero, Eugene Gant, he was 6 feet 6 tall in a 5 foot 8 world. He thought and wrote as well as lived like a man of 6 feet 6 in a 5 foot 8 world. No writer that any of us has ever come in contact with put so many great words down on paper as did Thomas Wolfe.

Thomas Wolfe was never completely satisfied with what he wrote. He was always rewriting it, elaborating on an idea, extracting the last literary juice from it. Unlike most revisers, he never threw away anything. Already since his death two gigantic novels have been published, "The Web and the Rock" and "You Can't Go Home Again." They are parts of a whole—really the autobiography of Thomas Wolfe, and they are authentically undeniably great literature, greater than his earlier great work, more mature, richer in beauty, no less realistically vivid.

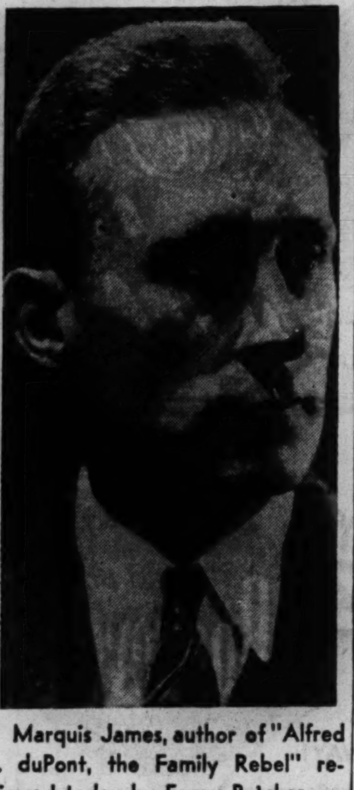
"A Note on Thomas Wolfe" by his last editor, Thomas C. Aswell, is one of the most fascinating parts of this last book that will ever bear Thomas Wolfe's name. There is still enough material for three other books as large as this one, says Mr. Aswell, but it will go eventually to some college library, for in "The Hills Beyond" the best lives. Mr. Aswell makes clear how everything that Thomas Wolfe wrote interlocks into one great pattern and fits these pieces into it.

The title tale—over half of the book, and almost a novel in itself, is a link between the Joyner and Gant families saga and the Webber novels. Part of it was written in 1936, most of it later, and it was Thomas Wolfe's intention to make it a book complete in itself.

It is less obviously autobiographical and gives a hint that Thomas Wolfe's future work might have been more objective. It ends with the strangely moving and prophetic paragraph: "Time passing as men pass who will never come back again . . . this earth, this time, this life, are stranger than a dream."

Ten shorter pieces, some of them also works of art, precede "The Hills Beyond" in this book which will make readers mourn anew that Thomas Wolfe died Oct. 15 three years ago. Thomas Wolfe, the artist, can never die.

Writes of "Rebel"



Marquis James, author of "Alfred I. duPont, the Family Rebel" reviewed today by Fanny Butcher.

A Fabulous History

"Alfred I. du Pont, the Family Rebel" by Marquis James [Bobbs Merrill, $4.50]. Published today.

Marquis James, prize winning biographer of Andrew Jackson and "The Raven," Sam Houston, has chosen a man only six years in the past for the hero of his latest biography, but he has seen his material in exactly the same perspective and has pigeonholed his subject historically with the same skilful accuracy of his earlier works.

Marquis James has a way with his pen that few biographers have. His style is aerated and he is not afraid of the charm of an unsolemn attitude toward his subject. As a result, parts of his biographies are more zestful than most fiction.

"Alfred I. du Pont" is a case in point. The fabulous family squabbles of the du Ponts, as well as their fabulous history, were said to have been used fictionally by Taylor Caldwell in those two extremely popular novels of a great munitions family: "Dynasty of Death" and its sequel, "The Eagles Gather." Mr. James gives the facts about the family schisms and their absurd legal battles and makes his saga much more intriguing than Taylor Caldwell's was.

His record of the growth of the family fortunes is more fascinating, too. But after his hero's zest began to be tamped down by time, Marquis James' biography doesn't read so much like a novel, and there are inevitable expanses of dullness before the book closes.

Approaching the stature of his illustrious forbear, du Pont de Nemours, the "statesman, philosopher, economist, and social philosopher" who set foot on American soil Jan. 1, 1800 to found a great commercial dynasty, "in humanitarianism, in variety of interests and talents, and in sparkling quality of mind is only Alfred," says his biographer, and instead of merely making the statement he writes a biography that proves it.

Marquis James offers his readers entertainment as well as sound contemporary history in this almost 600 page record.

Three Novels Tell How Nazi Machine Runs

"Time No Longer," by Max Reiner [Scribners, $2.75.]
"The Sword and the Net," by Warren Stuart [Morrow, $2.50].
"That Lofty Sky," by Henry Beetle Hough [Doubleday Doran, $2.50].

BY CHARLES LEAVELLE.

Berlin, America, and Africa are the settings of these three powerful novels of Nazilsm, its ideology, and its far flung precision machine.

"Time No Longer" paints a shocking picture of dread and terror in the impact of Hitlerism upon the intellectual Aryan German. It is a profound study of the sickness and decay that made Germany easy prey for the totalitarians.

In the harsh awakening of the outraged innocents it implies a hope for the future, but that future is made to appear far distant. The tragic people of the story are characterized with subtle power and all are dominated by one clear eyed woman who evaluates them, herself, and the terror that has come to Germany. Max Reiner is the pseudonym of a famous novelist.

"The Sword and the Net" is the story of Otto Falken, distinguished young Luftwaffe captain who has received Germany's highest honor from the hands of Hitler himself. Because of his intelligence, his knowledge, his fearlessness and the belief that he is a Nazi, body and soul, he is entrusted with a mission whose fulfilment makes thrilling reading.

Mr. Hough, author of "Country Editor," has turned out a fine story that artfully blends love, adventure, intrigue, humor, and a discerning study of the automatons the Nazi military machine creates within itself. It is the story of a young cadet aboard a German warship who becomes involved in a maddening and almost unbelievable train of events during shore leave in South Africa. He misses his ship and resorts to the only thing open to him—flight.

Welcome humor lightens the tale. There is a typical, somewhat dazed colonial Englishman, a half civilized native servant whose untimely "Heil Hitlers" almost precipitate riot and bloodshed, and an English traveling salesman who is the last word in befuddled cleverness.

Finds Heroine in U. S. A.

"Mrs. Doratt" by John Erskine [Stokes, $2]. Published today.

John Erskine.

John Erskine, who so gayly recorded the private life of Helen of Troy, takes a woman out of Conquista, U. S. A., a western mining town of today, as heroine for his latest gay novel. She is the synthesis of all the women who entertain the visiting lecturer at the Literary Circle programs, a type which Mr. Erskine as lecturer must have come across too often to forget any of her characteristics.

The book's real hero is the author himself, and Mr. Erskine is, to this reader's mind, the most amusing character in the book. His observations on the business of lecturing before women's clubs make the tale of Mrs. Doratt's life much more alluring than it would be otherwise.

Seeing her first as a woman who smiled at the wrong place in his lecture and who had an almost Olympian serenity in her face, he comes upon the truth about her life thru a series of almost too coincidental accidental encounters on planes, in towns where he is lecturing. He finally ties up the loose ends of her story in New York. It is a very ingenious way of telling a story, more ingenious than the story, incidentally. F. B.

'Tar Heels' Gives Intriguing Picture of North Carolina

"Tar Heels," by Jonathan Daniels. [Dodd-Mead, $3.]

Jonathan Daniels, author of "A Southerner Discovers the South," and "A Southerner Discovers New England," has written another "discover" book, "Tar Heels," in which he tells of his own state, North Carolina, its people, its cotton and tobacco crops, its textile and cigaret industries, its history, politics, its colleges, and its living conditions.

His viewpoint is broad and tolerant, kindly and philosophical. Into his narrative come all the types of men and women who dwell within the boundaries of the state, "the top and bottom and they are nearly always the blood kin of each other."

He tells of the Dukes and the university tobacco built, of the prerevolutionary Scotch colony and its descendants who are today just as distinct a type as their ancestors, of the Negroes, the strawberry pickers, the "lintheads" [workers in textile mills], the tobacco farmers, the writers and statesmen, the good and the bad that make up this American community. Aug. 25th. You were born under the sign of Virgo; your ruling planet is Mercury. You are a rather self-contained person with an analytical mind and discriminating tastes. You are ambitious, and enjoy progress and acquisition. Neatness and efficiency are imperative to you in your daily life, and you are inclined to be critical and overly fastidious. Guard against fault-finding, and being a slave to detail. You can be an excellent homemaker. Wednesday should be a good day for you.

John Dengel, Menasha, Wis.

Aug. 6th. Your sign of the Zodiac is Leo; your ruling planet, the Sun. You can excel in organization and leadership, and have an excellent disposition, qualities which fit you well for contact with the public. Loyal and affectionate by nature, you are a true friend, and are generous and kind to those you love. Because you enjoy appreciation, you must guard against a tendency to be egotistic and domineering; consider both sides of every picture.

Mary Louise Taylor, Evansville, Ind.

Mar. 12th. You were born under the sign of Pisces; your ruling planet is Neptune. You are inclined to be rather sensitive and impressionable, and may be rather gifted artistically. By nature, you are self-sacrificing and compassionate, qualities which make you excellent in caring for those who need understanding and tolerance, but which may also lead you to suffer needlessly and to sap your own vitality and energy in the service of others.

Eugene R. Speirs, Chicago.

Jan. 5th. You were born under the sign of Capricorn; your ruling planet is Saturn. Success and recognition are important to you. Endowed with a good supply of common sense, you are self-sufficient and willing to work persistently and untiringly to gratify your ambitions. Methodical and conventional, you generally progress slowly but surely toward your aims. However, learn to relax occasionally, don't let your wish for success rule every phase of your life.

Betty Ann Day, Anamosa, Iowa.

Sept. 17th. Your sign of the Zodiac is Virgo; your ruling planet is Mercury. You are gifted with resourcefulness and clear, efficient thinking powers. You have a natural ability for detail work of any kind, with a great desire for perfection in all you do. However, you must be careful not to judge others who do not believe or act as you do, and don't make a habit of fussing over trifling matters.

A. C. Fry, Rapid City, Mich.

Sept. 3rd. You were born under the sign of Virgo; your ruling planet is Mercury. The coming year should be an interesting one for you, with many changes indicated. You are a serious person, inclined to be thoughtful and rather shy. However, you have reserve energy which can serve you well when you need it. Neatness and cleanliness are habitual, and you are inclined to be exacting but be careful to eliminate the unnecessary and time wasting.

Mrs. M. Eastabrook, Pekin, Ill.

Mar. 9th. You were born under the sign of Pisces; Neptune is your ruling planet. A tendency to be indecisive, because you lack self-confidence, and an occasional lack of practicality are probably your greatest handicaps. You are a genuinely unselfish person, with great compassion and sympathy, qualities which make you excellent in caring for those in need or in trouble. Remember to conserve your vitality and keep your emotions in check.

Paul Nagel, Chicago.

May 12th. Your sign of the Zodiac is Taurus; your ruling planet, Venus. You have a keen enjoyment of possessions and comforts and are apt to be acquisitive. On the whole you are a constructive person, gentle and kindly to others, and well-fitted for positions of responsibility, since you are earnest and dependable. Your greatest faults are probably an unconscious possessiveness, plus a tendency to be obstinate and stubborn when angered.

Mrs. Dolores Wagner, Sun Prairie, Wis.

June 1st. Your sign of the Zodiac is Gemini; your planetary ruler, Mercury. If you can control a natural tendency toward restlessness and diffusion, you will be able to make the best use of your natural abilities. You are able to think and to act quickly. You have an inquisitive turn of mind, and excellent powers of self-expression. You can be trusted with responsibility, and are clear-headed and sensible in an emergency.

John G. Morrison, Chicago.

Feb. 4th. You were born under the sign of Aquarius; your birth star, or ruler, is Uranus. You are a resourceful and self-confident person, able to work constructively and progressively in any vocation which interests you. You enjoy independence of thought, but must guard against being too fixed in your viewpoint; cultivate consideration for the opinions and ideas of others. Wednesday should be your best day for personal advancement.

Florida Causey, Chicago.

Oct. 1st. You were born under the sign of Libra; your ruling planet is Venus. You enjoy music, and are fond of recreation. You enjoy stories, but must be careful not to waste too much time in daydreaming. Encouragement is important to you, and while you're not too fond of discipline, will obey orders if you understand the reason for them. Learn to give your best to everything you do; think for yourself, but never ignore good advice.

Harold E. Weaver, New Paris, Ind.

June 6th. You were born under the sign of Gemini; your ruling planet is Mercury. You have an innate intellectual curiosity, which expresses itself in the versatility of your interests and your ability to mix with people. Your personality is a pleasing one, and while you are gracious and sociable, you also manage to be tolerant and adaptable. Guard against using up too much nervous energy, and learn to concentrate and channel your efforts.

Ruth L. Schomig, Batavia, Ill.

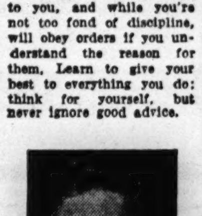
Oct. 30th. Your sign of the Zodiac is Scorpio; your planetary ruler, or birth star, is Mars. You are an intense, rather willful person, definite in speech and in action. Inclined to be proud and reserved, you have strong ambitions and are not easily deterred or discouraged in your fight to achieve them. You have excellent abilities for executive work, but must guard against being possessive or skeptical. Your key number is eight.

Fredric H. Veeck, Chicago.

Dec. 25th. You were born under the sign of Capricorn; your planetary ruler, or birth star, is Saturn. You are a thoughtful and determined person, practical and persevering in all you do. Ambitious for business and material success, you are systematic and can excel in detail work. You have a strong sense of duty, but must not let seriousness and reflection dominate at all times; seek amusing companions, and exercise outdoors regularly.

Mrs. Margaret Walker, Danville, Ill.

Feb. 20th. You were born under the sign of Aquarius; your planetary ruler is Uranus. Resourcefulness and independence of thought are two of your most outstanding characteristics. You are genuinely fond of people, and enjoy new friends and social activities of all kinds. Helping others is a habit with you, but you must be careful lest you unconsciously be too outspoken and critical of others. Wednesday should be your best day for personal advancement.

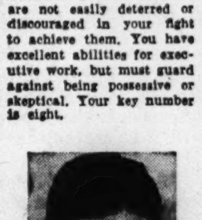


Ralph Harris, Waterloo, Iowa.

June 28th. Your planetary ruler is the Moon; your sign of the Zodiac, Cancer. You take an active interest in public affairs, and can enjoy travel to the utmost, but are also strongly attached to your home and family. You are rather shy by nature, and sensitive and impressionable, qualities which you must watch, since they are apt to make you touchy and moody. Work in which you can demonstrate the retentive quality of your mind would probably be best for you.

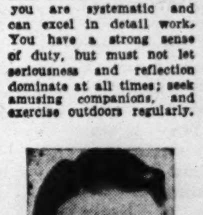
Mrs. R. I. C. Prout, Wakefield, Mich.

Apr. 6th. You were born under the sign of Aries; your birth star, or ruler, is Mars. You are a progressive person, with a great interest in accomplishment in all phases of your life. Naturally active and ardent, you enter all things with enthusiasm and spirit. Strong-willed and courageous, you seldom hesitate upon your course; a tendency which frequently leads to rashness and impatience. Try to guard against excess enthusiasm, allow time for relaxation.



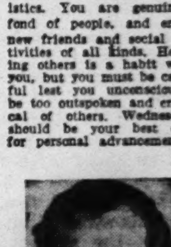
Alexander Glyze, Chicago.

Oct. 1st. Your sign of the Zodiac is Libra; your ruling planet is Venus. You are pleasant and happy but you dislike following orders, and must have encouragement and good example. Inclined to be dependent upon others, you should learn to plan and do things by yourself. With proper training and concentration, those born under your sign are frequently talented in art or music.



Wallace Brunke, Morton Grove, Ill.

June 18th. Your sign of the Zodiac is Gemini; your ruling planet is Mercury. Your natural abilities should make your present vocation an excellent one for you, since you are a stable and persistent person, with a flair for experimentation and investigation. You have a quick mind and can benefit by study and observation. Guard against a tendency to be changeable and restless. Wednesday should be your best day for personal advancement.



Irene Anderson, Chicago.

Jan. 3rd. You were born under the sign of Capricorn; your ruling planet is Saturn. Saturday should be your best day for personal advancement. You are an excellent manager and have a strong sense of duty. Practical and inclined to be thrifty, you are ambitious and can handle people capably when you wish. However, you must guard against apprehension and a tendency toward domination of others in your wish for progress in all things.

THE RULES:

1. You are invited to submit to Doris Blake your photograph, birth date and other information requested in the Information Coupon appearing each day in the Chicago Daily Tribune. Paste coupon, or facsimile thereof, on back of photograph and send to "Doris Blake" Chicago Tribune, Post Office Box 1539, Chicago, Illinois. You may send your photo or the photo of any relative or friend. Any snapshot will do.
2. The Chicago Tribune will pay $10,000 in cash prizes to the persons whose photographs lead to the most interesting personality readings. Judgment will be made by Doris Blake and her staff on the basis of the personality of the individual in the photograph. By "personality" is meant the most INTERESTING face — not necessarily the most beautiful or most handsome. From the information accompanying the photographs chosen, Miss Blake will make readings. 726 such readings and photographs will be published in the Daily Tribune during the period of six consecutive weeks beginning September 22nd. 720 will receive cash awards of $10.00 each, 6 will receive cash awards of $100.00 each. Such $100.00 awards will be published on Saturdays beside the regular Daily awards. IN ADDITION, 9 Grand Prizes, totaling $2,200.00, will be awarded at the end of the offer to the persons whose entries are adjudged the most interesting of all, whether their photographs have been previously published or not.
3. Prizes shall be payable only to the persons whose photographs are selected and published in the Daily Tribune. 121 photographs and readings will be published each week. Entries for each week's awards must reach the Tribune by noon Thursday preceding the week of publication. All photographs received during the offer and until midnight, November 4th, will be considered for the Grand Prizes.
4. This offer is open free to everyone—regardless of age or residence, excepting employes of the Chicago Tribune and members of their families. Age will not be published. No photographs will be returned unless Return Postage is enclosed. Due to the enormous interest the Tribune cannot engage in any correspondence on this subject. Entrants agree to accept the judgment of Doris Blake as final in all matters.

735 BIG CASH PRIZES!

720 Daily Prizes of $10.00 each (20 winners each day excepting Sunday, six days a week for six weeks)		$7,200.00

"No Light Came On"

By Alice Ormond Campbell

[Copyright: 1941: By Alice Ormond Campbell]

INSTALMENT XXXIII.

DEDUCTIONS.

"Which side was the key on? Why, the inside, I—I imagine." For the first time I was stammering. "It must have been. I didn't see it, I didn't look."

"Then why conclude the key was inside the cook's door?"

"Because . . . O! Because later on I saw Mr. Rentrew lock the door and put the key in his pocket." Directly I said this I saw how idiotic it sounded. "No, that's wrong. First of all Mr. Rentrew shook the knob and told us the door was locked. Then the butler tried, and it seemed it was only stuck. If the key had been outside, could any such question have arisen?"

Menacingly the judge rapped, "Is it true that you never actually saw this key until you had quitted the room?"

Desperately I repictured the scene. "No, I didn't notice it then, outside or in. The door swung inward. I stood just over the threshold, against the outer side."

"Hein! And the butler, what about him?"

I was aware of tension. The clerk watched me, pen lifted.

"Except when he twisted the light bulb to make it come on, he stayed right beside me. If anything, a little behind."

"Behind! Towards the door, or away from it?"

"I was between the butler and the door."

"The entire time?"

"Till we went out. Then Manx stood in the room to let me go first."

The clerk shot a glance at the judge, who tugged at his beard and repeated:

"You went out first. Of the remaining couple which came last?"

"Why, Mr. Rentrew! He pushed us both out ahead of him."

I'd given none of this a thought. I felt positive, tho, I'd given a correct version. The judge took up a photograph and examined it closely. It seemed to be an enlarged study of a porcelain door knob with an empty keyhole beneath.

He pushed aside some papers and held up a key. It was short, like the others in the Rentrew apartment. He measured the shaft with a small ruler, referred to a few figures on a pad, then attacked matters from a new angle. Why had the door stuck? Had something been wedged in the frame?

I couldn't say, and he left it at that. Once more, maddeningly, he took me thru my answers.

Three solid hours of it—when 10 minutes would have served! Why nag at me in five separate and camouflaged ways for an accurate description of the sound Horace and I had heard up front in the study? I'd say flatly there'd been only the one noise, unheralded—just a single, thudding bump, as tho a heavy body had fallen from a height. My nerves were flayed. I was still feeling ragged after my Wednesday night shock. It was when I felt my eyeballs getting redder than my hair that I handed the judge a hot one, not caring what happened:

"Listen, monsieur! Do you want me to say I heard a whole series of crashes, like falling downstairs? Have it that way, by all means. Only it won't be true."

You could have heard a pin drop. Thirty seconds of narrowed appraisement, then the judge made a chary gesture to the usher behind my chair. A grimed window sash shot up. I saw it then—they believed I was going to faint.

The spring gale that swept into me sent the judge's papers flying in wild havoc. In the general scramble to recover them I picked up a torn slip from under my own feet. It was mauve paper and it had writing on it. I saw what it said, and I tucked the details away in my mind.

Under the gargoyles of Notre Dame I collapsed on a bench, got out my small notebook, and wrote down the following address:

Alixe Jourdain,
178 Rue du Petit Poissonier,
Montrouge.

The seven had been crossed. The writing—yes, I was sure, from a specimen I'd seen—was Hortense's. And her writing tablet had been mauve, faintly lined, exactly like the torn scrap which the judge of instruction had so carefully preserved. The top sheet had been torn off, a third from the bottom.

A shadow fell across me. I whipped my hand over the notebook and stared up into Miles Dorsey's gray, pin pointed eyes.

"Well," he said constrainedly, "and what do you propose to make of that item?"

"A sort of link," I answered, and got up to move on.

He frowned. "I could have given you the Jourdain woman's address if that's what you wanted."

I told him the whole point was how I'd got hold of it.

"It was in Hortense's writing. Must have been found among her things. Now I'm naturally asking myself, was Hortense's tirade against Alixe just an act put on for my benefit? Don't forget, Alixe rang up last night and wanted to speak to Hortense. I told her Hortense was dead. She instantly cut off. Was there anything between those two, or—?"

"Or did the exmaid ring up to satisfy herself a murderous plan had come off according to schedule?"

"Bright boy! Only in my ignorant way I'd have said 'skedule'."

It was quite evident he'd come hunting me. Probably he'd been coasting slowly up and down the quai, watching the side entrance for me to appear. Be that as it may, he'd caught me in a jellyfish mood. Whether I was softened by his manner in the cold corridors of justice, or simply caved in for lack of food I myself didn't know, but I let him take me firmly in hand and drive me to a homely little restaurant in the Rue Jacob.

"Mixed vermouth? It's quickest."

I began to revive.

He didn't bother me just yet about my time with the judge. In fact, I'd never before found him so approachable, so kind.

"Why did Hortense take down her hated rival's address?" I asked. "There was no need if Alixe were coming back for her box."

"Are they accepting Hortense's end as suicide?" he countered steadily. "Or didn't that feature leak out?"

"I believe," I said carefully, "they are doing their damndest to prove it wasn't suicide—and that they're finding it a job."

I repeated the queer questions put to me about the key and the relative positions of Manx, Horace, and myself. Also the persistent queries about the noise Horace and I had heard. He listened with what struck me as a tentative relaxation, then went back to the slip of mauve paper.

"What did you mean by calling it a link?"

"Don't you see," I whispered it, looking around. "What's stumped all of us, including Horace, is how Hortense and Manx, separately or together, managed to obtain a drug like pure, concentrated benzedrine. It can't have been easy, can it! Well, Alixe Jourdain on her own word has been receiving medical attention from Dr. Borosh—the very man who is in a stew now because his supply of benzedrine has been pinched."

"Wait! Did Borosh actually say it was benzedrine he'd lost?"

"He didn't, but he mentioned Cousin Lou's death, so the inference was unmistakable. And I'm saying the stuff he had was not stolen at all. That Borosh disposed of it, for a price, to a person or persons with whom this girl Alixe put him in touch. Alixe may have been the link between Borosh and the murderer. I myself believe Borosh accused his sister and De Chabenil out of pure cussedness, to pay them out for the beating up he got in the Aurore."

"Sh! We'll not mention names." He passed a copy of Le Matin across to me. "No arrest as yet," he commented, "and—I rejoice to say—absolutely no mention of yourself."

All I saw was a blurred item in the late news column. It said briefly that Hortense Rimbaud, cook in the employ of M. Horace Rentrew, American citizen, had fallen from a high window in the Avenue Malakoff and had been picked up dead.

"No, these police aren't giving anything away. I wonder if they've anythin gto give?"

"Depend upon it, they have," Miles answered grimly. "Only not enough to warrant a definite charge."

"But if they knew all I could tell them, what then?"

"Drop that!"

There was an anxious glint in his eye that made me feel like a 6 year old messing about with a Mills bomb.

"O, well! I daresay you know best."

"I do. In any case," he resumed, "you seem to me to be drawing a longish bow—in your deductions."

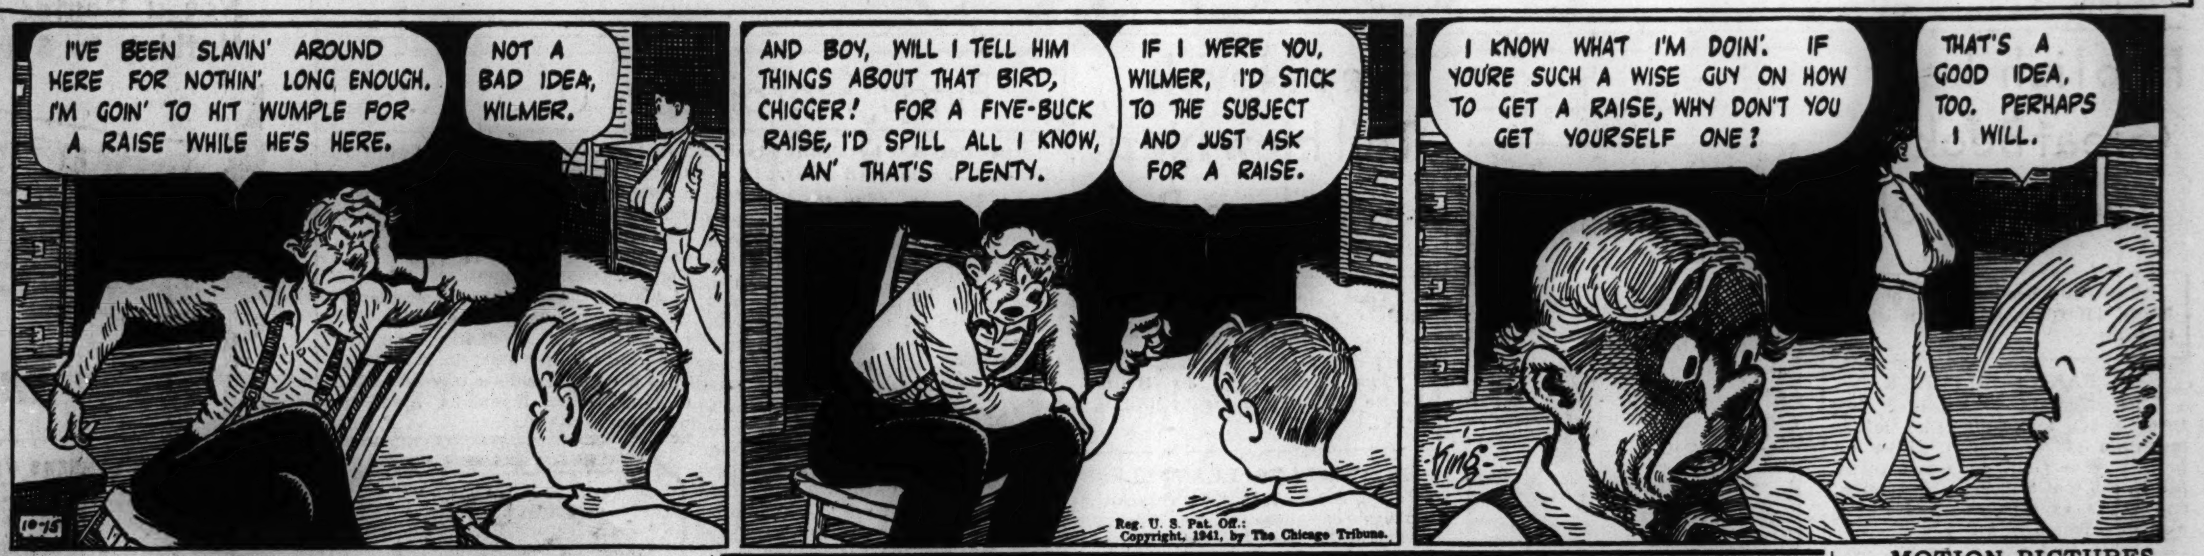
Your Daughter Has a Right to Know

It is every mother's duty to tell her daughter physical facts. How much better that she learn them from you, rather than from girls her own age. In feminine hygiene, facts may be distorted, or wholly untrue. Result, many brides use overstrong solutions of acids which can actually burn or scar delicate tissues. Today, there is no need to use such deadly solutions. Science has given us Zonite. Non-poisonous, non-caustic, yet kills germs, bacteria on contact. Actually destroys undesirable odors. Protects personal daintiness. Most important, safe for delicate tissues. Over 20,000,000 bottles already bought. Free Book Tells Intimate Facts. Give your daughter this frankly written booklet, "Feminine Hygiene Today," which you can get FREE, sent to you postpaid in plain wrapper. Send name and address to Zonite Products Corporation, Dept. 338A, 370 Lexington Ave., New York, N. Y.

GASOLINE ALLEY—IT'S IN THE AIR



I'VE BEEN SLAVIN' AROUND HERE FOR NOTHIN' LONG ENOUGH. I'M GOIN' TO HIT WUMPLE FOR A RAISE WHILE HE'S HERE.
NOT A BAD IDEA, WILMER.
AND BOY, WILL I TELL HIM THINGS ABOUT THAT BIRD, CHIGGER! FOR A FIVE-BUCK RAISE, I'D SPILL ALL I KNOW, AN' THAT'S PLENTY.
IF I WERE YOU, WILMER, I'D STICK TO THE SUBJECT AND JUST ASK FOR A RAISE.
I KNOW WHAT I'M DOIN'. IF YOU'RE SUCH A WISE GUY ON HOW TO GET A RAISE, WHY DON'T YOU GET YOURSELF ONE?
THAT'S A GOOD IDEA, TOO. PERHAPS I WILL.

Fashion Season Is Made of New and Old Ideas

BY REA SEEGER.

Small things that make a fashion season include such fascinating new ideas as nail-stud trimmed sandals for afternoon dresses, in wine, dark green, dark gray, brown, and black. And such coquettish revivals as dog collars to be tied snugly around the throat. These come in jet or in velvet embroidered in jewel-like beads. They are worn either for late afternoon, dinner, or evening; some are matched to hats, others to gloves or belt.

Jet jewelry is another revived classic . . . jet necklaces in single, double, or triple strands matched to bracelets and earrings gleam smartly with dull black or colors. Clips and chest pins, flexible and rigid bracelets are the blackest black loot in town. Jet beads are used for the smartest of daytime clothes, for trim on fur, for hats, gloves, and even veils, using the tiny pinpoint beads to huge chunks of the flickering stuff.

◆

Fabric bags featuring smooth felt textured wool are wide, smart, and particularly handsome contrasts for tailored suits and casual daytime costumes. Extremely large oblong envelopes are stitched decoratively along the edges and the upper panel with contrasting thread in baseball stitch. Brilliant shades of Kelly green and fire red, some bright blues, stunning tones of bronze green, copper, and black are obtainable. On the newest models there is a large bone button sewed on for tailored swank.

◆

Big plaid fabric bags are lined with strong high colors. Very casual type wool bags have effectively large and rugged wood frames and handles. The popular cordette bags are smarter than ever. They come in many interesting new shapes and sizes, in pouch or envelope, in clutch-under-your-arm affairs or the strap carry-alls, and there isn't a color known that isn't featured.

◆

One of the most exciting big bags in town is the combination faille and corduroy basket weave creation. The interior is as smart as the exterior, with all the fancy gadgets and extras such as a zippered long envelope for your lipstick, compact, and such, and the trick holder for your cigarets. There is another broadcloth model with a crinkled matelesse surface that should properly companion a dress parade suit with great distinction.

WEDDING

Miss Bernice McKinnon, daughter of John Wylie McKinnon of Yale avenue, and Frank Christiano were married on Oct. 4 in the Drexel Park Presbyterian church. A wedding reception was held at the Windermere East hotel. After a southern wedding trip Mr. Christiano and his bride will be at home in Chicago. He is the son of Mrs. Catherine Christiano.

Pay your guests the compliment of serving WINE

It flatters folks to set out wine with dinner. But more important, it helps people to enjoy themselves and to appreciate good food. Try a well-chilled white table wine like California Sauterne or Rhine wine with roast chicken. It's a marvelous combination. Wine Advisory Board, 85 Second Street, San Francisco.

Tomatoes, meat, onions or garlic, and cheese are spaghetti's favorite companions. Cook them together in a spaghetti-meat ball dish and you have a hearty dinner which the family will devour to the last drop of sauce, which somebody's sure to go after with a bit of bread, polite or not!

Spaghetti with Meat Balls.

[Serves Six.]

1⅓ pounds ground beef
Bacon fat, olive oil, or butter
1 No. 2 can tomatoes, strained
1 can tomato paste
3 tablespoons minced parsley
2 tablespoons minced onion
1 cup fine buttered bread crumbs
Salt, pepper
4 ounces spaghetti
Parmesan or Roman cheese, grated.

Brown ⅓ pound of the beef in a little of the bacon fat and add tomatoes and tomato paste. Add also a cut clove of garlic, if you like. Cover and cook slowly for 2 hours, adding water from time to time as needed. Remove garlic after 5 minutes. Add salt, if needed. Mix remaining meat with parsley, onion, crumbs, 1 teaspoon salt, and ⅛ teaspoon pepper. Shape into small balls. Dip balls in flour and sauté in butter or bacon fat until browned. Add to sauce and let simmer in sauce half an hour. Cook spaghetti in boiling salted water, drain, and turn into hot serving dish. Pour sauce and meat balls over it. Sprinkle with grated cheese.

Slice unpeeled cucumber very thinly for cucumber and watercress salad. Chill the cucumber slices in ice water until they are crisp. Drain well and arrange overlapping, in a ring, on crisp cress. Add a well seasoned French dressing which contains enough paprika to give color contrast to the salad.

Crumbly apple pie is the answer to "what dessert is better than plain apple pie?" Use tart apples for pie.

Crumbly Apple Pie.

Pastry for one crust
8 tart apples, sliced
¾ cup sugar
1 teaspoon cinnamon
½ cup butter
½ cup brown sugar
1 cup flour

Slice peeled apples into pastry lined pie pan. Sprinkle with sugar and cinnamon. Cream butter and brown sugar together, and work in flour until mixture is crumbly. Sprinkle over top of apples. Bake at 450 degrees for 10 minutes, then reduce heat to 350 degrees and continue baking until apples are tender, 30 minutes or longer. Serve pie warm or cold, plain or with cream, ice cream, or thinly sliced cheese.

Sally Makes Plea for Woman Victim of Heart Ailment

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

[Activities of the Sally Joy Brown department are sponsored by Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc.]

A case worker for a charitable agency has requested assistance for Mrs. K., which we hope our readers can supply.

The woman in question is 49 years old, and has been under the care of a hospital clinic for a heart condition for the last five years. Her disability is now giving her much discomfort, especially at night, when she finds it difficult to breathe. Because of this she has been unable to sleep and since proper rest is most important for the patient, the physician in charge has suggested that a bedrest might be of benefit.

Funds for room and board are supplied for her by the assisting agency, but the budget cannot include extras of any kind, and Mrs. K. has no way of obtaining the needed item.

The address is on the north side of the city, and if any reader has a bedrest of any kind, a relative will be happy to call for it on behalf of the invalid.

According to CULBERTSON

[Copyright: 1941: By Ely Culbertson.]

To those readers who may have missed Monday's and yesterday's column, I should like to repeat the announcement that the 1941 National Bridge examination will start next Monday, Oct. 20.

The conditions of this exam will be the same as last year's. Each contestant starts with 1,000 points. When he answers a question incorrectly, he will be told just how many points to deduct from his net total. A few questions will be assigned bonuses or credits rather than demerits, said bonuses to be added back to the score. The table that will be used in determining the final grades is as follows:

Final standing of	Grade.
950 points or over	Master
875-949 points	Expert
800-874 points	Advanced
700-799 points	Good average
600-699 points	Weak average
500-599 points	Poor
Below 500	Dub

To those examinees who send their answers to me for rating, and who come out with master, expert, or advanced ranking, I will send signed certificates of merit, stating which of these ranks has been earned. This service is offered to readers of this newspaper free of charge. Thus, if you wish to "rate yourself," it is easy to do so merely by waiting one week and comparing your answers with the official answers. If you wish me to do the rating, send your answers in weekly batches each Sunday to Ely Culbertson, care of this paper.

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1 club	Pass	3 clubs	Pass
3 no trump	Pass	Pass	Pass

West opened the three of spades, and South stepped up at once with dummy's ace. He then finessed the jack of clubs. West, winning with the club king, now had a problem. On the first trick his partner had played the five of spades and South the eight. It was entirely possible that South had false-carded in order to encourage another spade lead. In that case a switch to diamonds was indicated. Having little else to go by, West concluded that declarer was little concerned about the spades. His winning of the first trick seemed evidence on this point. West, therefore, returned the queen of diamonds and South made his contract with ease.

Declarer's play at the first trick was not thoughtless, but carefully planned. There was no point in holding up the ace of spades. If the club finesse was "on," the hold-up would be unnecessary; if it wasn't, it would lose to West, the danger hand, and thus would be futile. By going up with the ace of spades, South gave West a chance to make a mistake if the club finesse should prove unsuccessful.

Good Morning!

"We give it our all!" [Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer re "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde."]

It was too much.

Frankly, there's only one way to enjoy this picture. . . . Make up your mind it's burlesque and laugh in the wrong places. . . . You'll do the latter, anyway, for when the Hyde comes out in Dr. Jekyll it's such an astoundingly ludicrous sight that, willy nilly, you whoop—and discover that your neighbors are whooping with you. . . . [and don't be mistaken—Spencer Tracy knows he's funny, too].

"M'gosh!," you can almost hear him say, "What am I—a Disney comic or a penny dreadful—or just a darned bewildering offspring of the two?"

Honey, yo' is something like that last.

Mr. Tracy, in the rôle played before on the screen by Fredric March and John Barrymore, is, as Jekyll, a nice, upstanding fellow, with a firm, kindly bedside manner—and a passionate zest for conducting peculiar experiments concerning matters that are—as God proves to him later—none of his business. . . . He would find out what makes the soul tick, the mind turn somersaults, the WHY of the connection between the good and the bad in us—and he feverishly seeks to concoct a philter thru which the two warring natures can be made separate. . . .

Acting as his own guinea pig he succeeds in completely, for a time, doing away with the good in Dr. Jekyll and causing to run rampant in Jekyll's body a bestial creature known as Hyde. . . . Hyde is a sensualist, a sadist, a mean, ruthless guy who fastens what pass for his affections on a pretty, hapless barmaid [Ingrid Bergman], drives her nuts and finally makes away with her. . . . Jekyll is affianced to a fair flower from the upper social strata [Lana Turner] for whom Hyde also finally spells tragedy.

The picture opens before the philter has reached completion. . . . It ends—but why should I tell you how it ends?

There are some scenes in this opus that are excellent theater. . . . As Jekyll Mr. Tracy can be his regular, believable, down to earth self—and is. . . . But Hyde got him down. He simply didn't know what to do about Hyde—and I could only think as I watched him perform, of a small, self-conscious boy who, to hide his embarrassment, stands on his head and waves his legs in the air.

Ingrid Bergman does magnificent emotional work in a rôle the likes of which SHE never had before, struggling valiantly to cockneyize her Scandinavian accent—and not always succeeding. . . . Miss Turner is sweet, tho unremarkable as the fianceé. . . . All men in the supporting cast are tops.

Needless to say photography, sets, scenery, costumes are classy.

Direction? Well—no. . . . Mr. Fleming didn't know what to do about Hyde, either. . . . Neither did he know when to bring his picture to a close.

Ho hum! Ho hum!

See you tomorrow.

Camp Algonquin Donations from Readers Continuing

Tho camps are closed and the settlement children are back in school, Tribune readers know that another summer will roll around soon. Contributions continue to come in for the Camp Algonquin Fund. Yesterday's donations included $25 from the Harriet Sayers Trust Fund, $3 in memory of a friend, J. K. V., and 25 cents, anonymous. This brings the total of the Fund to $1,629.

Looking at Hollywood

By John Chapman

Hollywood, Cal., Oct. 14.—In show business—stage, movies, or radio—it isn't often that a member of a sister or brother act or a group breaks away from the crowd and achieves individual prominence. And still less frequently do more than one of a group become celebs.

Outstanding example of a brother act which made each member famous is the Marx aggregation. Anybody can identify Chico, Harpo, and Groucho—in a show; few could recognize them out of costume and makeup.

Remember the Rhythm Boys? Can you name 'em? Well, there was Bing Crosby. He was the one who had the runaway to fame. Less well known are the other Rhythm Boys, Harry Barris, who plays in pictures, and Al Rinkler, song plugger for Irving Berlin.

Jane Pickens alone remains from the Pickens sisters. The others, Helen and Patti, took up matrimony. Same with the Frazee sisters; Jane

So now we come to the merry Macs, a radio quartet working for Universal pictures. The studio hopes that ere long the average movie fan will be able to name each of them and be familiar with all their innermost thoughts and the details of their private lives. For Universal, which hired them as a group, has discovered that they can act and is giving them individual rôles.

The merry Macs first were known as the mystery trio. Then they were the personality boys. Finally, when a girl singer joined them they became the merry Macs, because her name was McKay and theirs McMichael. Miss McKay long ago left the group and there have been two gals since then—neither of them named Mc-anything.

The Macs are Judd, Ted, and Joe McMichael, of Minneapolis. Judd is the tall dark one, Joe is the little blond one, Ted is in between. They began harmonizing for dough when they learned they could get $15 a week from WCCO in Minneapolis. Joe was in knee pants, and this was a dozen years ago.

The boys kept fooling around with harmony styles, became the Personality Boys, began traveling as a trio with dance bands. Then they settled down to radio in Chicago, but were fairly unremarkable—or unremarked—until four years ago, when they had a spot on Fred Allen's show and were hits. During their Chicago term the trio had become a quartet, with Cheri McKay, a local songbird, as their "blend" girl. When they went to New York and the Allen show, Miss McKay remained behind and one Helen Carroll joined up.

When the Macs came to Hollywood on a one-picture assignment last December, Miss Carroll chose to remain in New York and the boys engaged Mary Lou Cook, a Los Angeles radio singer who is a photographer's delight.

Universal Day—Back to work and keep at it all day.

Looking Back—There are some of the personal years in which things happen which do not come to the public notice even when a person is headline news, thus one doesn't expect to find outstanding things to point out when people have been having a two or a seven year, unless the event was of the nature of a two, such as Prime Minister Churchill's coöperation and collaboration with President Roosevelt which took place this summer. Cary Grant is having a seven-year, a behind-the-scenes sort of year, but we can expect to hear more about him from now on and to see him get into action this coming year. Fred Astaire is another actor who has had a seven-year.

rôle and there will be two other provisionals in the cast—Miss Mary Walsh as grandmother and Miss Anne Strong as Nicholas, a woodcutter. Mrs. Richard Spencer will be the young wolf and Mrs. Charles A. Chapin the old one. Mrs. Otto Schilling will be the mother and Miss Kathleen Kelly another woodcutter.

This performance will be the prelude to a series the young actresses will give in the Chicago public schools. So far there is no plan for giving a Winnetka performance, as usually is done each season. Mrs. Francis Stanton is painting the scenery for the production.

Miss Carol Gardner Joins Chicago Civic Orchestra.

This week-end will be the last round of frivolity in some time for Miss Carol Gardner, for Albert S. Gardner's debutante daughter is well on her way toward a serious career. Miss Gardner is going to Urbana, Ill., over the week-end to attend a football game and a dance and to celebrate her acceptance as a member of the Chicago Civic orchestra.

The young flutist passed her audition on Saturday and attended her first rehearsal yesterday. One of the youngest musicians ever to be asked to join the orchestra—she's only 18—she started studying the flute just a year ago, which makes her accomplishment even more remarkable. As a member of the orchestra she'll appear in four Saturday night concerts in Orchestra hall. Meanwhile she'll be studying and practicing in her studio in the Seneca hotel, to which she and her father are moving this week.

Arthur G. Cable's Home After Summer in Mexico.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur G. Cable's family is greatly diminished this winter, for all three children are away from home. Mr. and Mrs. Cable recently returned to Glencoe after a summer in Mexico and at their Santa Fe, N. M., home, and presently they will move into town for the winter. The young Peter Cables, who share the family's enthusiasm for Santa Fe, have moved there from Dayton, O. Subdebutante Susan Cable remained in Mexico City to study Spanish during the winter, and Arthur Cable Jr. is stationed with the air corps at McCord field, Tacoma, Wash.

Mrs. Robert M. Curtis and her sister, Mrs. Russell Christie, have returned from Harbor Point, Mich., where they spent the winter. Mrs. Curtis is living at 18 East Elm street with her daughter, Diane Curtis, and son, Ted Russell, and Mrs. Christie is located at 37 East Elm street.

Ralph Otis has departed to join Mrs. Otis, who is visiting their daughter, Mrs. Robert Burns, in Westwood Hills, Cal. The Otises will remain with their daughter at least another month, perhaps longer.

N. U. SHAKES UP VARSITY FOR MICHIGAN GAME

LOUIS PASSES ARMY TESTS; AWAITS NOVEMBER CALL

READY TO GIVE UP $50,000 PER MONTH FOR $21

Expects to Battle Conn in June.

BY FRANK MASTRO.

Joe Louis, heavyweight boxing champion of the world, yesterday passed his medical examination at Provident hospital and thus became subject to immediate call for duty in the army.

No official announcement of the test was issued, but Louis successfully passed every requirement.

While in the army Joe will collect $21 a month as compared with the $50,000 a month he has averaged for his seven big fights this year.

The Brown Bomber has 10 days in which to appeal the medical board's findings, a recommendation which makes his 1-A classification final. However, no indication was given that he will contest the physicians' report.

No Choice Unless He Enlists.

In case he does, Joe will be reexamined by advisory board No. 84 when he is called in the next quota to be submitted by the board between Nov. 20 and 24. On passing this second trial the champion then would be inducted, Titus O. Fentress, chairman of the board, said.

Altho Louis is said to prefer the aviation service, he will have no choice unless he enlists. After the lengthy examination was completed he returned to his home for a rest preparatory to leaving for an exhibition bout at Great Lakes last night. He did not smile once during the examination and refused to make a statement asked of him by a movie news reel man.

Champion's Feet Are O. K.

Julian Black, one of Louis' managers, explained his protégé's grouchiness by saying he had a cold, acquired at a recent exhibition at the ordnance depot, Savanna, Ill. The title holder will finish his tour at Selfridge field, Mich., tomorrow, after which he will go to his farm at Utica, only seven miles distant, to await his call to the service.

Louis, who earlier had joked about the possibility of his rejection because of flat feet, was happy to be informed by Dr. Herbert Turner, a member of the medical staff, that his feet are all right. Dr. Taylor F. Harmon, dentist, found Joe's teeth to be in excellent condition.

Doesn't Signify Retirement.

Louis' weight was 216½ pounds. This is 14¼ pounds more than the 1934 Chicagoland Golden Gloves light heavyweight champion carried for his 19th successful title defense against Lou Nova on Sept. 29.

Louis will not participate in any major bouts as a soldier unless he is asked to do so, Manager Black said. He reiterated Joe's service in the army will not signify his retirement from the ring; that when the boxer is discharged from duty he will he ready to risk his championship for the 20th time against Billy Conn, or the best challenger available.

It is reported Louis likely will next place the championship belt on the block against Conn in New York in June.

MICHIGAN CALLS STATE EDITORIAL 'A "CHEAP STUNT"

Ann Arbor, Mich., Oct. 14 [Special.] —University of Michigan officials declined today to make any comment on an editorial which appeared Tuesday morning in the Michigan State News, Michigan State college student paper, in which the Michigan football team was sharply attacked.

According to the editorial written by Tom Greene, managing editor of the Spartan paper, the Michigan football team was called the "dirtiest team our team has played this year." He further asserted that football at the University of Michigan failed to build character.

In a rebuttal written for Wednesday morning's edition of the Michigan Daily, Wolverine student paper, Hal Wilson, sports editor, referred to the assertions as "sophomoric" and a "cheap stunt to attract publicity."

Herbert O. Crisler, Michigan athletic head and football coach, refused to comment on the incident which also apparently lacked full support of the Spartan coaching staff.

NAME ALSAB FOR DERBY; RECORD EARLY NOMINEE

Louisville, Ky., Oct. 14 (AP).—Shattering precedent for Kentucky Derby nominations, Alsab, champion of the 2 year old racing division, today became the first official eligible for the 1942 Churchill Downs event. It is the earliest that a horse has been named for the race in its 67 year history.

Authorization for the nomination came in a telegram to Matt J. Winn, Churchill Downs president, from Albert Sabath of Chicago, husband of the colt's owner.

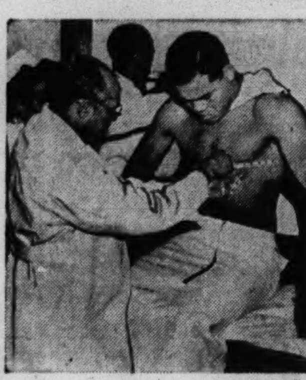
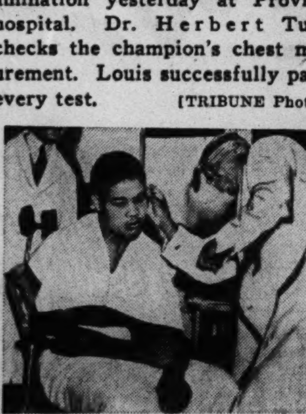
The Champ Will Do!



Joe Louis, heavyweight champion, is excellent material for the army physicians find during his draft examination yesterday at Provident hospital. Dr. Herbert Turner checks the champion's chest measurement. Louis successfully passed every test. [TRIBUNE Photos.]



Nothing wrong with Louis' hearing is the pronouncement of Brig. Gen. Spencer Dickerson (retired).

Weighing in is nothing new in Louis' life, and Joe takes it in stride. Dr. Turner (right) finds Louis weighs 216½ pounds.

Ice Follies of '42 Skates Into Arena Tonight

The Ice Follies of 1942, the skating extravaganza which an estimated 6,000,000 Americans have witnessed since the production was first presented in 1936, will have its Chicago première this evening in the Chicago Arena, Erie street and McClurg court. The show will run for 15 nights. This evening's performance already is a sellout, having been scheduled several weeks ago as a benefit for Passavant hospital.

Chicagoans who have seen the Follies before realize that it has been accepted as the best collective show ever to appear on the ice. Instead of concentrating on an individual star, as many other shows do, the Follies' producers bring an all-star cast which will include six pair teams, such soloists as Bess Ehrhardt, Roy Shipstad, Evelyn Chandler, Heinie Brock, Osborne Colson, and those famed comedy duos—Frick and Frack, and Eddie Shipstad and Oscar Johnson.

Johnson and Shipstad, who are the originators and producers of the Follies, were the pioneers of the idea that ice skating could be blended into a definite theatrical form.

St. Ambrose Player's Condition Is Serious

The condition of Jack Grennan of Sterling, Ill., center on the St. Ambrose college football team, was described by his physician yesterday as serious but not critical. Grennan entered Presbyterian hospital Monday. An examination yesterday disclosed a disturbance at the base of the brain, but its exact nature was not known.

THEY PLAY THAT BEAR-CARD GAME AGAIN—IN LOOP

Conzelman, Johnsos Tell Just What Happened.

BY EDWARD PRELL.

Professional football made another advance yesterday. It came right into the loop and a sellout, nothing new in the sport these days, resulted. The fans' first opportunity to sit in on a pro football game post-mortem, and look the coaches right in the eye, resulted in a traffic problem in the Century room of the La Salle hotel. It was the first Pro Huddle conceived and sponsored by the Interfraternity club.

Representatives of the National Football league, including Elmer Layden, pro commissioner, coaches of the Bears and Cards, soon found out what the Sunday football fan is thinking about.

Is George McAfee a greater runner than Red Grange?

Is Don Hutson of the Packers slowing up?

Who's going to beat the Bears and how?

What's the secret behind the Bears' Danny Fortmann's numerous pass interceptions?

Jim Bears Up.

These were just a few of the questions shouted at Jim Conzelman, coach of the Cards, and Luke Johnsos, end coach of the Bears. Conzelman showed up in remarkable health, considering that only two days previous his team had been walloped by the Bears. Jim showed he could take it, too. He took turns with Johnsos as commentator as the awful story of the defeat unfolded on the screen.

Late in the picture [this was the sixth or seventh touchdown] after a Bear had kicked a football into the bleachers trying for the extra point, Conzelman said:

"The only satisfaction we got out of the game was that George Halas lost a lot of footballs."

At the start, the Cardinal coach explained that the audience was seeing an expurgated edition of the film.

It's an Old Custom.

"You know, the home team takes the pictures and turns over a copy to the visitors," he said, "and when there's something in the film they don't want the other teams to see, they clip it. For instance, the pictures we got from Green Bay after our game with the Packers fail to show the last two or three minutes of the game when Green Bay made the winning touchdown. Of course, maybe we do the same."

The Cardinal coach, declining to cast a vote for either Grange or McAfee, told of their contrasting styles. Grange, he said, ran in spurts, had a great change of pace in his stride, and was a master at crossing over in changing direction. He described McAfee as a master of faking and a runner who rolls with his hips. Jim intimated either could have played on his team.

Johnsos put his stamp on Fortmann as one of the greatest guards he ever saw, both from the standpoint of natural physical ability and brainy play.

Why Fortmann Pulls Out.

"On those plays where a pass by the other team is probable," said Luke, "we pull one of the guards out for defense. That guard usually is Danny. Remember, too, he's a Phi Beta Kappa and those fellows are smart. Danny's usually a jump or two ahead of the opposition."

Conzelman, in trying to answer the curious fan who wondered if the Bears would be beaten, said:

"Maybe the Packers can do it, but it will have to be on a day when Hutson is at his best and the Bears a bit off their game."

Johnsos and Conzelman agreed that Hutson, for years the greatest pass catcher in the league, has slowed up just a trifle.

More than 200 crowded into the luncheon room and officers of the Interfraternity club said next Tuesday's

In the Wake of the News

BY ARCH WARD.

JIM WILSON, Cub manager, is a collector of fine cravats, but after his son Bob left recently to matriculate at Princeton the Cub skipper found that he, Jim, was possessed of one necktie and a rather stringy one, at that. . . . Every member of the Bears has been on time for the team's regular nightly chalk talks. . . . This proves they either are punctual or careful of their cash. . . . Tardy arrival means a $25 fine. . . . Steve Juzwik, Notre Dame's right half back, says his family has heard nothing from his 108 year old grandmother since Hitler's forces invaded her native Poland. . . . Two of the greatest kicking specialists in the National Football league went out at almost the same time. . . . They were Jack Manders of the Bears and Tiny Engebretsen of the Green Bay Packers. . . . Jimmy Dykes is considered a good judge of baseball talent, but have you heard about the time he turned hockey scout? . . . Jimmy watches minor league hockey games regularly in Philadelphia. . . . One day a friend connected with a big league hockey club came to town. . . . He asked Dykes if a certain club had an outstanding player. . . . "I told him I liked the center, tho I wasn't much of an expert," says Dykes. . . . That was the fellow the scout had come to look over. . . . Bob Feller is taking aviation lessons probably with the idea of applying for a transfer to the air corps when he joins the army. . . . Francis Schmidt, former Ohio State football coach, now of the University of Idaho, always wears a bow tie. . . . In his honor the student body, faculty and townspeople of Moscow, Idaho, adopted the ties for homecoming week. . . .

Sam Filippo, University of Illinois freshman football player from Chicago's Fenger High school, sings in French and Italian with the Chicago Civic Opera company. . . . Ralph Schwartzkoff, former Michigan distance runner, is reported to have taken a job with a sports goods concern and is thru as an amateur. . . . If you think you have trouble remembering names, pity Jimmy Crowley whose Fordham back field includes Pieculeewicz, Cheverko, Andrejco, and Filipowicz. . . . Curley Lambeau's new home is one of the show places around Green Bay. . . . A low, rambling house, it is called Lazy Ranch and is reached thru a narrow, twisting path. . . . The Iowa State-Nebraska game was run off in two hours and 10 minutes, which was faster than last year's contest between the same teams. . . . Sobs of a Substitute.

Today the beauty came to see me play
And when she spied me with the substitutes
She grew somewhat satirical and gay
While I blushed to my capillary roots;
She laughed right out when I began to limp,
And made some crack about my "infantile,"
And did I feel like an egregious simp
When she and the big back drove off in style!

Since that fair morning when the world began
And Eve plucked the ripe apple from the tree
And gave the core to her companion, man,
Woman has always spelled calamity;
When you believe she's trustworthy and true
She's planning ways to put the skids to you. —T. E. B.

Man's Destiny.

All should strive to gain success
In some shosen worthy work,
Placed upon this earth to progress,
Man, his duty, should not shirk.

But no one should even trouble
About selfish gains and fame,
For fame is frail as any bubble,
Pouf! and it is gone again.

It is better to be humble,
To be kind and good and just,
Live and let live, never grumble,
And in God's good place your trust.

Ten Years Ago Today—Yale's football team and Albie Booth were headed for Chicago to meet Stagg's Maroons. . . . Tommy Cook signed a one year contract to play center for the Chicago Blackhawks. . . . Jimmy Johnston, signed a two year contract to promote bouts for Madison Square Garden.

WORD OF HAWKS SIFTS INTO TOWN: THEY'RE IN SHAPE

First Scrimmage Finds Pilot Pleased.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

The Blackhawks held their first hockey scrimmage of the season yesterday in the Hibbing, Minn., rink. Press Agent Joe Farrell, in a flash from the rinkside, revealed it was "a gruelling hour and a half affair." The dictionary defines gruelling as "trying to the point of exhaustion, punishing; demanding every particle of energy." So it appears important business is going on in Hibbing.

Of course, Press Agent Farrell's revelations could be presented more properly under a Hibbing date line. But we are going to be in Minneapolis when the Hawks arrive there Sunday night for three days of practice and an exhibition game. Consequently we are horning in on Mr. F.'s dispatches by way of getting on the beam for a lot of heavy duty hockey observation next week.

Thompson Gets Some Answers.

Mr. F. advises that yesterday's scrimmage gave Manager Paul Thompson the answer to "six perplexing questions which have been bothering the skipper since the team assembled here last week."

Four of these questions were anent the health of Bill Carse, Johnny Mariucci, Bill Thoms, and Art Wiebe. All seemed sound of limb and body during yesterday's scrimmage. The aforesaid quartet last season suffered severe injuries and Thompson, of course, was happy to observe all have recovered. Last season Carse was out of 26 games and Mariucci couldn't play in 25. Wiebe was out of eight and should have been on the sidelines during 10 others. Thoms, the team's leading scorer, missed all five of the Hawks' Stanley Cup playdown matches.

Mush Is Spry as Ever.

The problem listed as No. 5 by Mr. F. was the agility of old man Mush March, starting his 15th season as a Chicago right winger. Mush yesterday seemed as spry as ever.

Problem No. 6 had to do with the contact behavior of Fido Purpur, subject of Monday's bulletins from Hibbing. The new line mate of Doug and Max Bentley showed yesterday he likes the tough going.

Mr. Farrell saved his punch line for the last, saying: "All the players came thru the intensive scrimmage with colors flying!"

Farrell has promised to stay close to the ice until and after we join him Sunday night for first hand observation.

EX-SWIMMER IS GIVEN PAROLE FROM SING SING

New York, Oct. 14 [Special].—Joseph A. Ruddy, one time swimming champion, was released on parole from Sing Sing prison today after serving one year of a term of from one to two years imprisonment for taking unlawful fees in a job selling racket while he was physical examiner for the municipal civil service commission.

The 63 year old former athlete pleaded guilty and was sentenced Oct. 11, 1940. In prison Ruddy was employed in the gymnasium.

FAVORITES WIN AGAIN IN TEXAS WOMEN'S GOLF

Fort Worth, Tex., Oct. 14 (AP). — Favorites advanced without exception today in the opening match play of the Texas Women's Open. Mary Agnes Wall of Menominee, Mich., won from Mrs. Bob Duncan of Dallas, 9—7, and Patty Berg of Minneapolis defeated Mrs. Vincent Hoescht of Dallas, 7—6. Other results:

Polly Ann Riley, Fort Worth, defeated Elizabeth Wing, Chicago, 4—3.

Mrs. R. S. Johnson, Kansas City, defeated Mrs. E. P. Mayo, Chicago, 5—4.

Even the Judge Has Davey Day on the Ropes

Davey Day, lightweight fighter who conducts his marital battles under his real name of David Daitch, yesterday ducked blows coming from every corner, including the referee's, in court.

Mrs. Sylvia Daitch, 24 years old, of 2100 Lincoln Park West, has filed suit for separate maintenance and last week obtained an injunction tying up Day's share of the Bob Montgomery fight purse. [Montgomery knocked out Day in the first round in Chicago Stadium last Friday.] Day countered yesterday with a cross-complaint for separate maintenance from her and for dissolution of the injunction.

Charge Davey Took a Dive.

"He lost that fight on purpose," said Sylvia. "He told me once how it could be done."

"He laid down; he threw the fight," her attorney, Charles C. Cooley, added.

Then came a blow Day found it hard to dodge, coming as it did from the referee in the present instance, Judge Randolph Desort.

"I saw that fight," said the judge. "He didn't lay down. He dove down."

Day didn't reply. Judge Desort asked him whether he could support his wife.

Davey Is Pessimistic.

"No, the future doesn't hold much for me," Day said. "I lost my last fight. I don't know if I'll ever get another fight and I don't know whether I want to."

In his countercomplaint for support, Day denied he had an income of $10,000 a year and asserted that Mrs. Daitch has a "lucrative shoe store at 1300 Milwaukee avenue." It went on to say that "by means of her persuasive charms and eloquence, she sought to gain all of his possessions, wickedly and fraudulently took his money, leaving him penniless, living from hand to mouth on the charity of friends and relatives."

Mrs. Daitch was outraged at the suggestion that she support Day.

Plans to Join Navy.

"I dont' know how I can pay separate maintenance to him!" she said. "I have nothing. Why, he married me to avoid the draft. He won't fight for me. He only fights with me."

Day objected. Last week Lieut. Comm. Gene Tunney of the navy was in Chicago and Day tried to join up as a physical instructor, he said.

"I expect to go soon," he added.

All the motions were continued for hearing Oct. 24. The couple was married for the second time Oct. 15, 1940, and separated again last February.

FIVE LINEMEN REPLACED IN DRASTIC MOVE

Kepford Moves Up in Chambers' Place.

BY WILFRID SMITH.

Northwestern's varsity lineup yesterday was drastically altered by Lynn Waldorf and his assistants as the Wildcats prepared for their homecoming battle with undefeated Michigan Saturday afternoon in Dyche stadium.

Several of the six changes may be rescinded before kickoff time, but, as of yesterday's defensive scrimmage against the Wolverine plays, five new performers were in the starting lineup, and Capt. Tuffy Chambers had yielded his right half back spot to Ike Kepford.

The Northwestern captain, however, has not been convicted of indifferent playing. Rather the change has been made because of Kepford's superior performance against Wisconsin last Saturday. At all times Kepford and Chambers have been nearly on a par and this also is the situation at several other spots.

Guard Against Overconfidence.

Northwestern has won two games. The general public may wonder why personnel changes have been announced in view of the 51 to 3 victory over Kansas State and the opening conference licking administered Wisconsin, 41 to 14. But overconfidence is the bugaboo of the Wildcat coaching staff. Waldorf has this to say:

"We learned nothing about the defensive ability of our team from the Kansas State game. Last Saturday the performance of our ends was very disappointing. Northwestern never was able to stop Wisconsin's short reverse play all afternoon.

Line Play Disappointing.

"The Badgers' guards and ends blocked better than our linemen. Before the season started," Waldorf continued, "we thought we would have a line that would be equal to the 1940 line and that the backs possibly would not be as good. The situation now is reversed, as near as we can tell without having a complete check of our attack. The backs are ahead of our preseason estimate while the line, especially the right side, has not come up to our expectations."

Northwestern's coaches also are perturbed, since they do not expect to have the same type of game with Michigan that they had with Wisconsin. "Any Michigan game," so one of the staff asserted yesterday, "is a closely knit affair. When you score on Michigan you must do it the hard way."

It is true, of course, that Northwestern capitalized on Wisconsin's mistakes to pile up 41 points last Saturday. Two intercepted passes accounted for touchdowns. Return of a Badger punt scored another. The three touchdowns that were shoved over were accomplished with total gains of approximately 100 yards. Fumbles added to the confusion. In brief, after a bitterly fought first half, the Wisconsin attack collapsed and all the breaks went to Northwestern.

Michigan's Line Strong.

"Much of our attack last Saturday was negative," Waldorf said. "We were helped by the other fellow's mistakes."

Michigan's strength rests in its line, which figures to outplay the right side of the Wildcat line. While the Wolverines cannot be the same constant threat that they were with Tom Harmon, they have the line to hold Northwestern's thrusts. Only in the first half against Iowa has Michigan shown a letdown in efficiency that has characterized Michigan line play for years. Forty points against Pittsburgh, in view of Purdue's 6 to 0 victory over the same team, points to a Michigan superiority.

Except at right end, Michigan has a veteran line. In addition, the guards have been strengthened by two sophomores and one of these, Mervin Pregulman, has earned a starting berth.

When Michigan uses a six man line, that defense is backed up on one side by one of the best defensive men in the conference, Center Bob Ingalls. He and Forest Evashevski helped the Wolverine line hold all opponents last year to five touchdowns.

MICHIGAN SEEKS PASSERS.

Ann Arbor, Mich., Oct. 14 [Special]. —Convinced that a more adequate passing attack might well make the difference between Michigan and Northwestern when they meet in Evanston Saturday, the Wolverine coaching staff intensified its efforts today to develop a formidable aerial game for the Wildcats. Michigan's percentage of completed passes thru the first three games has been far too low, according to the coaching staff.

Pitching for the varsity in drills this week have been Sophomores Tom Kuzma and Don Robinson. Kuzma was regarded as the most consistent passer until the Pittsburgh game, when Robinson was introduced late in the contest to put on a stellar display of sharpshooting.

ALL-STAR MEET LIKELY TO WRITE BOWLING HISTORY

Early Matches, Too, Will Amaze Fans.

BY C. H. BEUKEMA.

The All-Star individual bowling eliminations and national match game championship tournament to be put on in the Coliseum Dec. 7 thru 14 may resolve itself into a series of the kind of matches that the bowling public long has visualized—and in a few instances has had an opportunity to see.

The men who reach the match play stage, of course, will have had to be in top form during the first four days of the event, the period in which 60 selected stars will roll 20 games—medal play—in an effort to get into the final four days of the matches. Then during the match play division of the event, the 11 high men of the first four days of competition, will meet each other in five-game matches. Joining them will be the loser of the match game championship event, either Ned Day or Lowell Jackson.

Remember Blouin-Smith Match.

But to return to our original theme, there are bowling fans in Chicago—yes, thousands of them—who recall that grim match between Jimmy Blouin of Blue Island and Jimmy Smith of Brooklyn for the match title, rolled at Bensinger's Randolph center away back in 1922. It is recalled as the greatest match of all time, bowled before a crowd that was limited to 400 for each session. Blouin won in the last three of the 60 games after pulling into a tie at the 57th game.

There have been other great championship matches involving such stars as Frank Kartheiser, who claimed the title after Blouin's retirement and turned back three successive opponents before losing to Charlie Daw of Milwaukee; Adolph Carlson, who beat Daw; Joe Scribner, Joe Falcaro, Hank Marino, and now Ned Day.

Day, who once beat back a challenge by Jackson, expects to do it again, while Jackson, on the other hand, believes he has reached his peak, and is ready to succeed Ned as individual match game champion of the world. Either one will be in the round robin and may well find himself matched, among others, with two of the former champions, Daw and Kartheiser. Daw already has filed an entry and almost certainly will be named in the field of 60 who will start the eliminations. Kartheiser has said he intends to file.

Chicago Has Its Stars.

But there are other great names already in the field—men, who must first be invited and after that must get thru those eliminations, but whose past performances indicate that they will clear both hurdles. Joe Wilman of Berwyn is one of these.

Walter Ward of Cleveland is another bowler, the mere mention of whose name is sufficient to the 16,000,000 tenpin players of the country, and Nelson Burton of St. Louis is another. Walter Wellman of Bucyrus, O., is a competitor who has ranked high in previous eliminations for the title, and the Pacific coast is ready to back the winners of its big sectional tournaments, Jim Toomey of San Francisco and Gene Gagliardi of Los Angeles. Chicagoans have followed the games of Joe Traubenik, George Theel, Johnny Small, and Bill Hargadon.

All these are among the bowlers who already have mailed entries to Secretary Eddie Linsz of the Bowling Proprietors' Association of America, which with the Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc. is to sponsor the event. Bowlers are notoriously slow in filing entries, often awaiting the final days—in this case the closing date is Nov. 7—but the tournament committee is gratified by the early entries and by the caliber of the men who have filed.

The Monarch and Blatz Beers, each of whom has won 11 games and lost 7, meet in tonight's feature Classic league match at Faetz & Sons, 5961 Ridge avenue. Schlitz, division leader, meets National Bowling Equipment; Pabst opposes Ambrosia, and Koenig Brau meets the Washington Shirts. . . . Congress Women's league matches tonight follow:

Double Colas vs. Newarts; Logan Square Buicks vs. Riddell Shoes; Goranson's 20 Alleys vs. Bruck's; Clark Shoes vs. Bireley's Beverages; Bolium vs. Bee Vac; Universal Log vs. Budweisers; Villa Moderne vs. Rovick Shoes; Marigold Arcade vs. Metz Shoes; Williams Jewelers vs. Mario's; Congress Recreation vs. Pabsts.

The Randolph league Joseph L. Gills meet the Gold Coast Gill team in an exhibition at the opening of the Lake View center, 3212 Broadway, Friday night. . . . The Nonebetter Ice Creams' three game defeat of the Gills at Windy City Major, Monday night moved the Nonebetters into a tie for second place with the Gills. Budweisers are out front with 16 won and 2 lost record, the Gills and Nonebetters are two games back, and four other teams are tied for fourth, four more games back.

The City and County Employés league opens its 27th season at Randolph tonight, with 10 teams participating. Ray Gleason is secretary and Art Cook, secretary. . . . John Klein's 298 game was the Jay Bee junior league's high for the season.

Women's star of the last week and season? Without a doubt, it's Dorothy Saunders. She rolled 214, 202, 265—681, at Stevenson's Friday afternoon and 199, 169, 210—578 at South Shore in the evening.

A few women's honor scores:

Bruck's Major—Carrie Enders, 553; Agnes Pitelka, 540; Bee Hochstadter, 545; Jean Little, 529; Mae Kerr, 179, 255, 172—606; Pearl Ammon, 534.

Pladium Major—Emma Freitag 211, 586; Celia Grob, 247, 622; Ruth Hartmann, 200, 205, 569; Emily Deering, 219; Nina Van Camp, 565; Kay DeBonis, 225, 564; Bee Hochstadter, 204; Mary Gordon, 203; Laura Stellmacher, 218, 590; Dot Miller, 202, 560; Lillian Olsen, 208, 567; Florence Doern, 534; Rose Burger, 536; Eleanor Lorig, 207, 541; Marge Immel, 223, 214, 592; Sally Ostrowski, 221, 220, 601.

Marzano's Major—Pauline Comerford, 201, 529; Marie Johnuson, 526; Mae Kerr, 203.

Stevenson's Friday Major—Dorothy Saunders, 681; Flo Waterman, 563; Isabel Pritchard, 523.

Schalk's Wednesday Major—M. Aaronson, 543; Theresa Wymer, 520.

Robertson Wins Again, but Waits Until Last Race

New York, Oct. 14 (AP).—The members of the Jockey Alfred Robertson Rooting club had to wait until the final race at Jamaica today before letting out a cheer. Robertson, riding sensation of the present meeting, was up on Mrs. Dodge Sloane's Mettlesome, 9 to 10 favorite, in the Sergt. Byrne purse, but finished out of the money. The race went to the Sanford stud farm's Vintage Port, an $18.60 for $2 shot, in the field of eight.

Not until the seventh did Robertson hit the wire first. He brought Sun Galomar home ahead of the field in the 1 mile and a furlong test, paying off at $27.40, $9.30, and $5.30. Sun Galomar also was one of the six winners Robertson rode on Oct. 9.

Joseph Keating last night was elected president of the Northwest Athletic club. Bruno Wagner was chosen chairman of the athletic committee and George [Jabber] Young, secretary. The club is to sponsor its first bimonthly amateur show Oct. 17.

Milt Aron, Chicago middleweight who was knocked out by Fritzie Zivic in his last competitive appearance, underwent a blood transfusion in Michael Reese hospital Monday, it was learned yesterday. After the transfusion Dr. I. I. Ritter, the fighter's physician, said his condition was good. Fred Begun, brother of Jack Begun, Aron's manager, was the blood donor. Aron entered the hospital 10 days ago to received treatment for pneumonia, but complications set in.

Willis [Shorty] Hogue and his twin brother, Willard, more popularly known as Big Boy, will meet Johnny Barbara and Mike Sopko, respectively, in 10 round matches in the Coliseum Oct. 24, Promoter Ross Miller said yesterday. The show is topped by a 10 round event between Bob Montgomery and Julie Kogon. Gene Spencer, South Chicago lightweight, may oppose Joey Pirrone of Cleveland in an additional 10 rounder.

A Bear Story Is Checkmated by Bears' Boss

When the Chicago Bears report in Wrigley field at 9:30 o'clock this morning to continue preparations for their game Sunday with the Detroit Lions, Rennie Wykowski, the clubhouse boy, will be startled by Owner-Coach George Halas' command to step into a uniform.

"They can't do that to us," said Halas last night, this being his reaction to a report from Detroit that Coach Bill Edwards had drafted his clubhouse equipment man to fill in at full back because of injuries to Lloyd Cardwell and Ned Mathews, back field men.

He'll Be Ready to Do or Die.

Halas declared that he would not be outsmarted by any one and that if the Lions were going to such lengths for strategy, he would fight fire with fire.

"As far as I know," said Halas, "our Mr. Wykowski's football experience is limited to being a head linesman at sandlot games and watching us in action from the dugout. But if they go thru with this plan to use their clubhouse man I know that Rennie will be ready to do or die for us."

Mr. Wykowski could not be reached last night for a statement.

Rennie Trains Seriously.

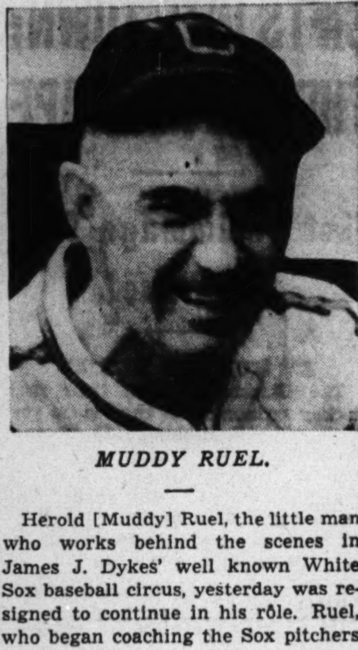
Steve Belichick is the name of the Lions' clubhouse attendant. He played full back for Western Reserve when Edwards coached at that school. He weighs 190 pounds.

"He might outweigh our man, Wykowski," admitted Halas, "but I think Rennie put on a few pounds in training camp, as there were a number of fine training spots in the vicinity of Delafied, Wis., which remained open after midnight."

Ex-Hockey Goalkeeper Killed in Fall at Mine

FLIN FLON, MAN., Oct. 14 (AP).—Roy Musgrove of Winnipeg, 29 years old, former star goal keeper with Winnipeg teams and the Wembley Lions of the English National Hockey league, was killed today when he fell down a stope in the Hudson Bay Mining and Smelting company's mine here.

He'll Stay



MUDDY RUEL.

Herold [Muddy] Ruel, the little man who works behind the scenes in James J. Dykes' well known White Sox baseball circus, yesterday was re-signed to continue in his rôle. Ruel, who began coaching the Sox pitchers back in 1935, attached his name to a three year contract, the longest term with one exception in the American league's history. Frank Shellenback of the Boston Red Sox signed for a similar stretch as a coach.

In making the announcement the club intimated that Ruel had been rewarded with a substantial pay boost.

A signed contract also was received yesterday from Dr. Ad Schacht, the club trainer who recently returned to his Seattle home to prepare for removal of gallstones.

CENTRAL HIGH OF SOUTH BEND WINS TENNIS HONORS

South Bend, Ind., Oct. 14 [Special.]—South Bend Central today won the tennis championship of the eastern division of the Northern Indiana High school conference for the second straight season by defeating Elkhart, 3 to 2. The conquest of Elkhart enabled Central to finish a schedule of eight conference matches undefeated.

Elkhart was unbeaten in seven straight conference matches before meeting Central. When the western division winner is determined Central will meet that team for the conference championship.

Gills Take 3; Hold Lead at Stevenson's

Paced by Eli Maricich's 660, the Joseph L. Gills rolled 3,057 to win three games from Swan-Lorish and maintain their two game lead in the Stevenson Major Bowling league last night. The Walter C. Eden Insurance team, runnerup, won three games from the Krause Hardwares. Scores:

George Morrison, who has quit the Classic league, Monday night placed the Schneider Funeral Directors to a 3,180 series, including an 1,185 last game, which was good for two victories over the Monarch Laundries in the South Shore Major. The 1,185 was just four pins shy of the highest game reported to the ABC this season. Morrison ad 714, including a 289 game. The Monarchs got 1,097 in that last game, giving the two teams a total of 2,282 pins.

The Monarch Beers, Washington Shirts, Rheingolds, W. C. Edens, Playdium, and Schlitz took the prizes in the Stack and Ryan sweepstakes. Monarchs' first place was good for $120.

Brucks had high series, 3,079, and Charley Zeman solo high total, 683, in the South End Traveling league. The leading Internationals again won a full set to make their record 17-1, which gave them a four game margin over Chicago Recreation, runnerup.

Chad of Hawks Is Serving with Canadian Army

REGINA, Sask., Oct. 14 (AP).—Johnny Chad, former Saskatoon and Edmonton Junior hockey star who played with the Chicago Blackhawks of the National Hockey league last season, is serving with the Canadian [reserve] army at Regina under the four months' compulsory training plan.

[Members of Chad's family in Prince Albert, Sask., said he has applied for authority to obtain a passport in hope he will be able to return to the Blackhawks this season, but that his application has not been ruled upon.]

CHAMACO ADDS TO LEAD IN MATCH WITH SCHAEFER

Averaging 1.19 points an inning, Joe Chamaco, the Mexican champion, led Jake Schaefer by 37 points at the halfway mark last night in their 400 point exhibition three cushion billiard match in Bensinger's Wabash Avenue Recreation.

At the start of play yesterday, Chamaco led, 100 to 71, and he increased his lead by 10 points, trimming Schaefer, 50 to 40, in the afternoon block. Schaefer won last night's block, the fourth of the match, 52 to 50 in 56 innings, the same score he turned in Monday night to lead the Mexican.

Chamaco had two high runs of 8 in the afternoon block yesterday, while Jake had a high cluster of 6. Jake repeated with a 6 last night, while Chamaco's high run was 4. They play again today and tomorrow, games starting at 3 and 8 p. m. each day.

MICHIGAN STATE VISITS CHICAGO ON WAY TO COAST

Spartans Believe They'll Whip Santa Clara.

Michigan State's football squad, 35 strong, made a 25 minute stopover here yesterday en route to San Francisco for Saturday's game with undefeated Santa Clara. Coach Charley Bachman said the 13 to 7 victory over Marquette had boosted his team's morale to the point where Santa Clara "will have its hands full."

All of the Spartans, he said, were in excellent physical shape.

A brief stop-off is scheduled today at Denver. A two hour early morning workout will be held tomorrow at Salt Lake City. The team will arrive in San Francisco Friday.

The following 35 players are making the trip:

QUARTER BACKS—Wilford Davis, William Milliken, Glenn Johnson.

FULL BACKS—Bob Sherman, Charley Carey, Cliff Eckel, Morgan Gingrass.

CENTERS—Tony Arena, Don Robart, Howard Beyer.

GUARDS—Bill Kennedy, Bernard Neubert, George Danciu, Bill Rupp, Walter Kutchins, Donald LeClair.

TACKLES—Tom Johnson, Mike Miketinac, Ted Smolinski, Fred Carter, Frank Karas, Dick Mangrum.

ENDS—Bob Friedlund, Roy Fraleigh, Les Von Eberstein, Lew Smiley, Robert McNeil, Glen Deibert.

NOTRE DAME TAKES IT EASY.

Notre Dame, Ind., Oct. 14 [Special].—Notre Dame's regulars got a light workout today while Coach Frank Leahy observed the second and third teams in scrimmage.

The Irish schedule hits a low spot, with Carnegie Tech at Pittsburgh this week, to be followed by a buildup process which includes Illinois, Army, Navy, Northwestern, and Southern California in that order. Leahy is taking advantage of this week's breather to let the minor bumps of his regulars mend, while trying to develop reserve strength to cope with the heavy November schedule.

INJURIES PLAGUE TECH.

Pittsburgh, Pa., Oct. 14 (AP).—Their undermanned squad riddled by injuries, the Carnegie Tech Tartans counted principally on their traditional spirit today to stave off a football massacre at the hands of Notre Dame next Saturday.

Coach Eddie Baker said he probably would start what he likes to call his shock troops against the Irish but this move is a case of necessity because all except one or two of his first stringers are on the casualty list. Casualty No. 1 is Virgil Cantini, star pass throwing sophomore, who suffered a neck injury against Muhlenberg last Saturday and may be thru for the season.

ILLINI LOSE ASTROTH.

Champaign, Ill., Oct. 14 [Special].—Lavere [Liz] Astroth, first string quarter back, will be lost to Illinois for the Drake game Saturday because of an eye infection. He should be ready for action against Notre Dame, however, the team physician today said. Dick Good will replace him.

John Genis, 178 pound tackle from Fenger High school in Chicago, was promoted to the first team today as Coach Bob Zuppke worked the squad against Drake formations employed by the freshmen. Genis played a large part of the Minnesota game, convincing Zuppke that his ability offset his light weight.

Ken Cheeley and Bob Cherry will move up to first and second center positions.

IT'S MISHAWAKA, SO. BEND CENTRAL BIG GAME WEEK

South Bend, Ind., Oct. 14 [Special].—Students at South Bend Central and Mishawaka High schools today started getting into the spirit which annually grips the two schools during the week of the football game between their teams. Next Saturday afternoon Central and Mishawaka, bitter gridiron rivals since 1902, will meet in Notre Dame stadium in the 29th game of the historic series. The contest will be played before a throng of between 20,000 and 25,000.

Cheer sessions, parades and bonfires are scheduled activties of the rival student bodies. Parades in the two cities are set for Friday afternoon with a bonfire and rally to follow. Impromptu cheer sessions, however, will prevail in the halls thruout the week.

Central has won 17 games, Mishawaka 7 and 4 have resulted in tie scores. There have been two breaks in the series due to high feeling following contests.

The Big Guns in St. George Football

Coached by brothers and sparked by two young half backs who are also track stars, the St. George High school football team, winner of four straight, hopes to add St. Philip to its list of Catholic High School league victims this Sunday. The brother-coaches are (left) Dr. Ed J. Norton, head coach, and Dr. J. A. Norton (extreme right), line coach. Graduates of Loyola, both are dentists. The players are Tom Powers (left), 17 years old, right half back, and Don Edwards, 18, left half back. [TRIBUNE Photo.]

ST. GEORGE AIMS AT FIRST CATHOLIC PREP TITLE

BY JAMES SEGRETI.

A suburban prep eleven may be the Catholic league representative in Mayor Kelly's all-city game in Soldiers' field on Nov. 29 for the first time since the event was inaugurated by Chicago's Own Christmas Benefit fund in 1934. Two years ago St. George of Evanston fell short of its goal when the title march was abruptly halted by St. Ignatius. This season, however, followers of St. George predict the squad will reach its objective on the flying feet of two half backs—Don Edwards and Tom Powers—who distinguished themselves as members of the St. George track team last spring.

St. George already has four consecutive victories, conquering De Paul, 26 to 7, and Loyola, 18 to 12, in nonleague games, and defeating Joliet Catholic, 18 to 7, and De La Salle, 18 to 0, in league competition. Edwards has been the hero in each victory and leads the squad in league scoring with four touchdowns. The third south section triumph will be sought Sunday afternoon when the north shore eleven meets Marv Adams' St. Philip eleven in St. Philip stadium, Van Buren and Albany streets.

Behind the scene in St. George's latest title drive are two brothers—Drs. Edward and J. A. Norton—who have pooled their knowledge of dentistry and occupy offices on the north side. They also decided to get together in bringing St. George a football championship, Dr. Eddie serving as head coach and his brother handling the husky St. George linemen. Both are graduates of Loyola university. Dr. J. A. Norton played end on Loyola's last football team in 1930, which was coached by Dr. Eddie.

ZIVIC REPLACES COCHRANE AS FOE FOR ROBINSON

New York, Oct. 14 (AP).—Fritzie Zivic of Pittsburgh, former welterweight boxing champion, today was named by Promoter Mike Jacobs to replace Red Cochrane, 148 pound title holder, as the opponent for Ray [Sugar] Robinson in a 10 round nontitle bout in the Garden Oct. 31.

Cochrane declined the fight since his manager, Willie Gilzenberg, is under a six months' suspension in this state for instructing his fighter to hold back during the early rounds of his recent fight with Lew Jenkins.

Hapless Pitt Panthers Next for Gophers

Pittsburgh, Pa., Oct. 14 (AP).—The Pitt Panthers, who once ate 'em alive on the nation's gridirons, today refused to concede that a deëmphasis diet had tamed them, despite a 40 to 0 shellacking by Michigan last Saturday.

That pasting was the worst in modern Pitt football history and there probably is more to come with Minnesota in the offing next Saturday, followed by Ohio State, Duke, Fordham, and Nebraska.

But the Panther coaching staff and players, undaunted by reports of Minnesota's awesome power, will invade the Gophers' lair, determined as Head Coach Charley Bowser puts it:

"To go all-out in this one."

Coach Doesn't Believe It.

"We don't think that Michigan thing is a true indication of what this club can do," Bowser declared.

"We're going to put 11 players in there against Minnesota who want to go," Bowser declared, adding:

"We're trying to make consistent the play that kept us on fairly even terms with Michigan the first half and put us on Purdue's 1 yard line in the first five minutes of our opening game."

That means, according to Bowser, that there will be a drastic shakeup in the starting lineup for the Minnesota game.

Fans blame all of the Panthers' woes on football deëmphasis, but a Pitt spokesman insisted:

Kickers Badly Needed.

"We still are getting fine players—but not so many of them. We need more men like Quarter Back Walter West, End Stan Gervelis, and Guard Ralph Fife and a good punter. The team lost something Saturday when its kickers failed to make the sticks [kick over 10 yards] several times."

Recalling that little Geneva walloped Pitt 57 to 0, in 1903; Notre Dame ran up a 35 to 19 count against a Jock Sutherland machine in 1930, and Southern California battered the Panthers 47 to 14 and 35 to 0 in Rose bowl games in recent years, this spokesman said:

"We didn't quit then—and we won't now."

Sweiger Injured; Gophers Search for a Right Half

Minneapolis, Minn., Oct. 14 [Special].—The right half back spot which was the major problem in Minnesota's back field makeup before the Washington game cropped up again today. It appears to be the jinx position since the departure of George Franck, who finished his eligibility last season.

There was a stopper for the Washington game when Senior Bob Sweiger was shifted from full back, since Bill Daly appeared adequate there. Now Sweiger has been injured and undoubtedly will be withheld from the Pittsburgh game Saturday. So the hunt is on again.

Stepping up are two standout candidates, Sophomore Herman Frickey and Junior Gene Bierhaus. The latter showed marked improvement in drilling against the freshmen, and may provide the solution.

The Gophers were back at work today after concentration yesterday on blackboard sessions. The Pittsburgh game is expected to ease the ticket office's troubles, but the pressure on the Michigan and Northwestern games is terrific. No more tickets are available here for the Minnesota section at the Michigan game, pointing toward a capacity crowd of 87,000 there Oct. 25. And more than 50,000 seats have been sold for the Northwestern homecoming game here, the next home start after Saturday's Pittsburgh game.

BOMBERS MEET WINKLERS.

The Brown Bombers, featuring Bernie Jefferson, will meet the Winkler A. C. tonight in Spencer Coals park, 4200 North Central avenue.

72,000 to See Purdue Battle Ohio Saturday

Columbus, O., Oct. 14 [Special.]—Indications were today that more than 72,000 persons would see the football game here Saturday between Purdue and Ohio State. All tickets in the regular horseshoe structure have been sold and only temporary and bleacher seats remain, 7,500 of which were placed on sale yesterday and were practically gone today.

Coach Paul Brown ran the first three teams against each other in a long hard scrimmage late last night and repeated the work tonight, most of the time stressing offense for the Boilermakers.

No changes are expected in the starting Buckeye lineup which started the first two games. These were Anderson and Hershberger at ends, Daniell and Captain Stephenson at tackles, Bruckner and Huston at guards, and Rosen at center. In the back field Fisher and Kinkade will be at the halves, Graf at full back and Hallabrin at quarter back.

TWO PURDUE MEN BACK.

Lafayette, Ind., Oct. 14 [Special].—Purdue's line prospects began to take on a brighter hue this afternoon as the Boilermakers continued drills for their Big Nine opener with Ohio State in Columbus on Saturday.

With Barry French and Bruce Warren indicating they will be able to step back into the tackle spots after a week's layoff due to injuries, John Vecs and Wes Stevens, sturdy reserve guards, returned to action to bolster the center of the line.

Working in dummy scrimmage, the coaches stressed protection for passers and kickers. Kenny Smock, Bob Chester, and Walter Cook, being groomed to take over John Galvin's spot at left half back, along with Tony Berto, veteran right half back, all turned in effective jobs as forward passers. Smock and Chester also were punting nicely.

HOOSIERS DRILL ON DEFENSE FOR HUSKER PASSES

Also Concentrate on Own Offensive Plays.

Bloomington, Ind., Oct. 14 [Special].—Renewed work on pass defense and attention to mastery of plays used in their first three games, featured today's drill as Indiana continued preparations for its invasion of Nebraska Saturday.

Coach Bo McMillin, announcing that no new plays will be given the squad this week, concentrated on perfecting the offensive strategy already dished out. Russell [Bud] Harrell of Indianapolis was elevated to the second team at quarter back to bolster the spot weakened by the temporary loss of injured Eddie Herbert.

Billy Hillenbrand, whose punting in the TCU game last week was regarded by the Indiana coaches as encouraging, engaged in kicking practice with Earl Doloway, Indiana's No. 1 booter.

SOLVE INDIANA PLAYS.

Lincoln, Neb., Oct. 14 (AP).—Nebraska's No. 1 and No. 2 teams took a long look at Indiana plays as demonstrated by the scouts today and found them not too difficult to solve. All hands, with the exception of Tail Back Howard Debus and Tackle Clarence Herndon, participated in the two and a half hour drill, one of the season's longest. Herndon, who has a sore shoulder, spent his time giving Joe Martig, his replacement, tips on tackle play, and Debus, who has a back injury, said he was feeling a lot better and should be ready by Saturday.

WINLETTE SHOWS AT SPORTSMAN'S SHE LIKES MUD

Beats Weisenheimer in Jackson Park Purse.

BY HOWARD BARRY.

Winlette, 4 year old mare which hitherto had enjoyed no reputation for mud running ability, took full charge of the Jackson Park purse, main event of yesterday's program at Sportsman's Park. She went to the front immediately after the break and led all the way thru swampy footing in this 5 furlong event, beating Weisenheimer by three lengths while Pari Sucre was saving third money.

Weisenheimer, which had shown a great liking for the Sportsman's Park track in previous meetings, was backed down to the position of 9 to 5 favorite. He was outrun all the way, however, despite the fact that he saved considerable ground while Winlette was going wide on the first turn. The prices on the winner were $10.00, $4.60, and $3.40 across the board.

Double Pays $858.40.

Following the exceptionally small $9.80 double of opening day came a thumping good one yesterday—$858.40 for the combination of Trade West in the first and Queen Echo in the second.

It would have been difficult, of course, to give any sound reason for betting on Trade West in the first—but many who attend the ladies' day performances do their wagering on the same basis as they would choose red or black in playing a roulette wheel, which probably would be just as well if there weren't more factors than red and black to worry about in a horse race.

At any rate, Trade West finished like a stake horse to nip Comex by a head in the closing strides of this five furlong dash. Those who backed the winner across the board collected $104.00, $25.60, and $22.40.

Brooks' Horse Third.

Trade West's companion in the double—Queen Echo—was considerably more popular, getting to the post at odds of a little less than 5 to 2. She led all the way in the five furlong second race to beat Lewistown by slightly more than a length. Ambo, which shared the major public support with Queen Echo finished third with Steve Brooks aboard.

Brooks, following his unusually successful showing at Hawthorne, has been just one of the boys during the first two days at Sportsman's Park. This may have been partially due to texture of the running strip. In the marshy going, Brooks' strong-arm tactics haven't been working as well as they did on the dry tracks which prevailed thru most of the Hawthorne meeting. His horses have been bogging down in the mire instead of delivering the strong stretch runs which carried him to 59 victories in 30 days at Hawthorne.

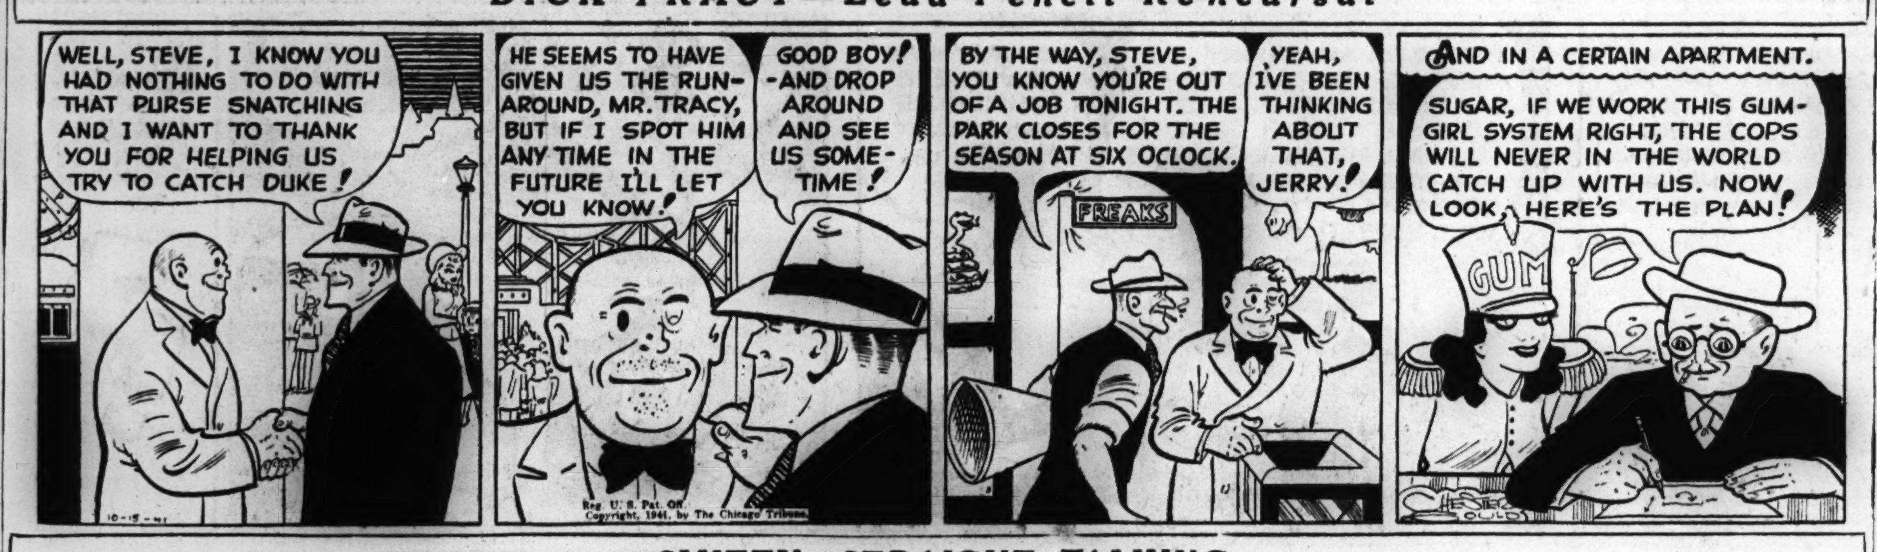
DICK TRACY—Lead Pencil Rehearsal



WELL, STEVE, I KNOW YOU HAD NOTHING TO DO WITH THAT PURSE SNATCHING AND I WANT TO THANK YOU FOR HELPING US TRY TO CATCH DUKE!
HE SEEMS TO HAVE GIVEN US THE RUN-AROUND, MR. TRACY, BUT IF I SPOT HIM ANY TIME IN THE FUTURE I'LL LET YOU KNOW!
GOOD BOY! - AND DROP AROUND AND SEE US SOME-TIME!
BY THE WAY, STEVE, YOU KNOW YOU'RE OUT OF A JOB TONIGHT. THE PARK CLOSES FOR THE SEASON AT SIX OCLOCK.
YEAH, I'VE BEEN THINKING ABOUT THAT, JERRY.
FREAKS
AND IN A CERTAIN APARTMENT.
SUGAR, IF WE WORK THIS GUM-GIRL SYSTEM RIGHT, THE COPS WILL NEVER IN THE WORLD CATCH UP WITH US. NOW, LOOK, HERE'S THE PLAN!

Subject of Pro Huddle: How Bears Did It

huddle would be in the grand ballroom.

Cards Release Three.

The Cardinals last night announced the release of J. V. Higgins, guard from Trinity college in Texas; Avery Monfort, half back from the University of New Mexico, and Walter Rankin, half back from Texas Tech.

Off his fine showing against the Bears, Frank Balazs, former Packer, has become the Cards' No. 1 full back. Marshall Goldberg was running at left half in yesterday's drill. Milt Popovich, full back, will be shifted to guard to bolster the line. The Cards play the Dodgers Sunday in Brooklyn. The Bears meet the Detroit Lions Sunday in Wrigley field.

FINE SPIRIT EARNS FINE

The Bears were going over their mistakes, if any, in the wake of their 53 to 7 victory over the Cardinals.

"You," said Coach George Halas to Full Back Joe Maniaci, in private, "you failed even to try to tackle Marshall Goldberg when he was right in front of you."

Maniaci, an individual with an inherent sense of fairness, was downcast.

"Coach," he said, "instead of bawling me out, you should fine me."

"O. K., Joe," was Halas' quick return, "you're fined $10."

The fine stuck.

"It was the first time in my memory that a player had asked to be fined," said Halas later, "and I wasn't going to stand in the way!"

M'CONNELL AND YACCINO TAKE BIKE RACE LEAD

MONTREAL, Que., Oct. 14 (AP).—The team of Andy McConnell of Montreal and Charley Yaccino of Chicago rode into the lead in Montreal's six day bike race tonight when they took a lap margin over the erstwhile leaders, Rene Cyr and Angelo De Bacco.

The Cyr-De Bacco combination dropped back into a second place tie with Jules Audy and Cecil Yates, but maintained a wide margin in sprint points with 259. Standings:

	Miles.	Laps.	Pts.
McConnell-Yaccino	744	8	157
Cyr-De Bacco	744	7	259
Audy-Yates	744	7	195
Peden-Peden	744	6	207
Kuehn-Eiler	744	6	74
Bedard-Rodman	744	6	72
Anderson-De Bacco	744	5	126
Desroches-Logan	744	4	131
Debaets-Schlestraete	744	4	76

MEADE DENIES BETTING AGAINST HIS OWN MOUNT

New York, Oct. 14 (AP).—The New York State Racing commission today said that Jockey Don Meade had denied to Marshall Cassidy, presiding steward representing the commission, that there was any truth in the report he had bet on a horse other than his own in a race in which he rode at Jamaica on Oct. 7.

The denial was made during a preliminary investigation ordered by Chairman Herbert Bayard Swope. The report was that Meade, who earlier had placed a bet on Tonypandy, accepted a late engagement to ride Belay in the same race. Tonypandy finisher second and Belay third.

BADGERS WORK ON OFFENSE FOR HAWKEYE GAM

Two Sophomores Contin on First String.

Madison, Wis., Oct. 14 [Special]. —With the first string lineup the same that started against Northwestern, the Wisconsin football squad went thru a long offensive scrimmage against the freshmen this afternoon in preparation for the Iowa game Saturday.

Two sophomores, Lee Seelinger and Pat Harder, continued to work at the first string berths at left half back and full back, respectively. Today's drill indicated the Badgers may take to the air early in the Iowa encounter, with Seelinger, Mark Hoskins, right half back, and Tom Farris, quarter back dividing the forward passing.

Two other sophomores, Dick Doepfe at left tackle, and Pat Boyle at left guard, also are almost certain to start against Iowa. Thruout today's scrimmage, Coach Harry Struhldreher emphasized blocking.

IOWA PASSES CLICK.

Iowa City, Ia., Oct. 14 [Special].—Tommy Farmer threw passes all over the Iowa practice field from the regular left half back position today as the Hawkeyes went about the business of improving their offensive attack.

Farmer hit with regularity to Ends Bill Burkitt and Bill Parker. Full Backs Bill Green and Bill Stauss also took part in the aerial drill.

DRILL ON FUNDAMENTALS.

Milwaukee, Wis., Oct. 14 [Special]. —Fundamentals such as blocking and tackling, departments in which his team was lax in the Michigan State game, were stressed today by Coach Tom Stidham in Marquette's football practice as he drilled the Hilltoppers for next Saturday night's game with Kansas university here.

A freshman team has worked for two weeks on Kansas plays and provided a demonstration in scrimmage today. The Marquette defense has been warned against the Jayhawkers' versatile back field, and particularly about Quarter Back Ralph Miller, one of the nation's leading forward passers.

Bob Fritz, second string center, was absent from practice today as the result of a back injury. Two sophomores, Jimmy Sullivan and Marty Silovich, are bidding for his position.

Fred Rice, alternate first string full back who was lost for the season when he suffered a knee injury in the Michigan State game, has been named Marquette's game captain for Saturday night.

LA GUARDIA GETS BLAME IN CIVIL SERVICE EXPOSE

Nepotism, Favoritism and Red Coddling Charged.

New York, Oct. 14 [Special].—A city council committee, after a 17 month investigation, today held Mayor Fiorello La Guardia jointly responsible for favoritism, nepotism, political influence, and discrimination found rife in administratior of the municipal civil service commission.

The report of 125 pages charged that Paul J. Kern, La Guardia appointed president of the commission, had ignored specific cases of communism cited by its own investigating bureau and that confidence in the merit system has been undermined.

The report charged flatly that La Guardia was jointly responsible with Kern for failure to put into effect new rules for civil service examinations as provided by law, altho it was stated Kern "freely admitted that the rules were in chaotic state and still are in a hopeless morass."

Mayor "Too Busy" to Act.

Kern was quoted as saying that the rules had been revised and submitted to the mayor two years ago, "but that the mayor had been unable to approve them for the reason that he had been 'very busy.'"

"The mayor's delay of more than two years in acting on these rules is unreasonable," the report continued, "and in the light of Kern's testimony both the mayor and he must accept responsibility for this intolerably loose and chaotic condition which, in the words of Mr. Kern, hampers efficiency, is wasteful, leads to litigation, causes unnecessary delays and other hindrances in the administration of civil service in the city."

In addition to his job as mayor, for which he is seeking a third term, La Guardia heads the United States Conference of Mayors, is chairman of the joint United States-Canadian Defense commission, and is chairman of the Office of Civilian Defense, a federal agency engaged in an effort to whip up war hysteria.

Favors Shown Communists.

Emil K. Ellis, counsel for the Democratic sponsored investigation, cited instances of favoritism to persons with communist leanings. He also charged Kern was disinclined to enforce the Devaney act, requiring that applicants for jobs take an oath that they do not advocate overthrow of the government by force.

The report is the result of a lengthy, stormy investigation by a committee headed by Councilman Alfred E. Smith Jr.

The section of the report released today is given over to detail on how certain persons were favored in ways charged to be improper. It tells how Sanitation Commissioner William F. Carey got a baseball team by hiring a bunch of baseball players as able-bodied seamen on scows.

MRS. FLORENCE FRENCH, MUSIC JOURNALIST, DIES

Mrs. Florence French, editor and publisher of the Musical Leader magazine, died yesterday in the home of her daughter, Mrs. LeRoy Demerath, 6916 Oglesby avenue. Her death was caused by pneumonia, which set in after she suffered an attack of influenza last Friday.

With her husband, the late Charles F. French, Mrs. French established the Musical Leader 41 years ago. She traveled extensively to attend musical performances and was instrumental in promoting many musical events in Chicago. She aided several students in reaching the opera and concert stages. An accomplished pianist, Mrs. French was a pupil of Leopold Godowsky.

Surviving are two daughters, Mrs. Sidney Smith and Mrs. Will D. Ward of New York City. Funeral services will be held in St. Philip Neri Catholic church, 2132 East 72d street at 10 a. m. tomorrow.

FIND MAN'S BODY IN RIVER.

The body of an unidentified man about 40 years old was taken from the Chicago river at Washington street yesterday. The man was 5 feet 8 inches tall, weighed 160 pounds, and had brown hair.

WALTER B. SMITH'S DEATH PLUNGE HELD ACCIDENT

Walter B. Smith, member of the law firm of Woods, Smith & Blumenfeld and a professor at the Kent College of Law, died yesterday morning in a fall from his room in the YMCA hotel, 1000 Grove street, Evanston. He was 71 years old. A coroner's jury returned a verdict of accidental death after hearing evidence that Smith had been repairing a window in his fifth floor room.

Smith's sister, Mrs. Margaret Kaufmann, died Sunday in a sanitarium at Montclair, N. J., police said, and his wife, Lola, is in a sanitarium in California. Also surviving him are his daughter, Janet, a professor of home economics at Iowa State college; a brother, Frank W. Smith, a department manager at the Chicago Title and Trust company, and two sisters, Ellen Smith of Evanston, and Mrs. Luther Bradley of Boston.

Smith was a title officer for the Chicago Title and Trust company for 30 years. He is the son of the late Rev. Daniel F. Smith, founder and first rector of St. Luke's Episcopal church in Evanston.

PICKET SCARE AT BLOOM HOME BRINGS POLICE

Washington, D. C., Oct. 14 (AP).—Two policemen were sent tonight to the home of Chairman Sol Bloom [D., N. Y.] of the house foreign affairs committee when his daughter, Vera Bloom, reported that six black veiled women who were picketing the residence created a disturbance and tried to enter.

The women were demonstrating against the measure permitting the arming of American merchant vessels on which Bloom's committee completed hearings today.

Police kept watch until the women dispersed after marching on the sidewalk about an hour.

WAR NEWS PUTS STOCK MARKET A NOTCH LOWER

Early Recovery Attempt Quickly Fades.

New York, Oct. 14 (AP).—Brief and tentative recovery moves in the stock market today faded before another wave of apprehension regarding Russia's ability to prevent the taking of Moscow by the Germans.

Altho the war news seemingly became blacker in the holiday interim, the market encountered no burdensome offerings at the opening and this encouraged enough demand to lift a fair number of stocks fractions to around a point.

Index Lowest Since July 1.

The recovery stalled near midday and thereafter the list paced out a slow retreat to finish with most of the leaders lower by fractions to a point or more. Certain coppers, rubbers, and specialties resisted the downward pull.

A closing loss of .3 of a point in the Associated Press 60 stock composite after the rather steep slide last week carried the market to the lowest average levels since July 1 at 41.6.

Transfers were small, totaling 435,000 shares compared with 485,020 last Friday.

CHICAGO PRICES SAG.

Chicago Stock exchange prices tended lower yesterday on transfers of 23,000 shares. Of the issues traded 34 advanced, 47 declined, and 33 closed unchanged. Volume leaders included Commonwealth Edison, 1,200 shares, at 25⅛, off ⅛; Katz Drug, 1,200, at 4¼, up ⅛, and Serrick corporation, 700, at 5, up ⅜.

GRAIN MARKETS RALLY AFTER DIP IN EARLY TRADING

Grain, soy bean, and lard futures rallied yesterday after early liquidation had carried prices to new low levels on the current downturn.

Uneasiness over the German-Russian war furnished the background for the selling. The late rally followed a proposal by Sen. John H. Bankhead [D., Ala.] that the government make loans on crude soy bean and cottonseed oil.

Wheat closed ⅛ to ½ cent higher on the Chicago Board of Trade and corn gained ⅜ to ⅞ cent. Oats showed independent strength and closed 1 to 1⅝ cents higher while rye was up 1 to 1⅛ cents.

Soy beans had a range of about 5 cents a bushel and closed unchanged to ¾ cent higher. Lard reduced early losses to 7½ cents a hundred pounds at the close.

Commodities

Commodity futures advanced yesterday on renewed congressional support for higher farm staple prices. Cotton closed 20 to 35 cents a bale higher after early losses of as much as 75 cents a bale. The early reaction was traced to the government's September consumption estimate of 875,682 bales, about 50,000 bales under expectations.

Cottonseed oil futures rallied from losses of 0.35 cent to close 0.10 cent lower to 0.02 cent a pound higher on reports that the farm bloc in congress would seek a 14 cent a pound loan price for the staple. Futures ranged from 13.15 to 13.20 cents a pound.

World sugar futures slumped 0.02½ to 0.04½ cent a pound on the announcement that the British ministry of food believes its current sugar reserves are sufficient for present needs. Lack of demand pushed coffee futures down 0.17 to 0.24 cent a pound. Cocoa was slightly higher and wool and hides declined moderately.

U. S., ARGENTINA SLASH TARIFFS IN TRADE PACT

Grant Concessions on Many Products.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 14 (AP).—The United States and Argentina tonight signed at Buenos Aires a reciprocal trade agreement—the first comprehensive commercial arrangement between them since 1853—designed to improve trade relations during the present emergency and afterward.

It is the 12th trade agreement to be concluded with American republics and will go into effect provisionally Nov. 15, entering into full force 30 days after exchange of ratifications. Subject to certain special provisions, it will remain in force for three years and may continue in force indefinitely thereafter.

Under it Argentina grants concessions to the United States on 127 products which in 1940 accounted for about 30 per cent of all United States exports to Argentina—about 32 million out of 106 million dollars.

Concessions on Products.

These concessions take the form of reductions in tariffs or agreements not to raise tariffs. Included are fresh apples, pears, grapes, raisins, prunes, tobacco, motor vehicles and parts, automatic refrigerators, specified electrical machinery and apparatus, agricultural and industrial machinery, office appliances, and forest products.

Argentina, in return, gets reductions in duties or assurance of the continuance of existing tariffs on 84 products which in 1938 and 1939 accounted for about 93 per cent of her exports to the United States. Included are tariff reductions on flax seed, canned corned beef, coarse wools, quebracho extract, casein, tallow, oleo stearin, cattle hides, and Italian type cheeses.

The United States agreed to keep many products on the free list, including furs and skins and various animal by-products.

Special Provisions Listed.

Because of abnormal conditions growing out of the war, the agreement embodies certain special provisions not previously included in trade pacts negotiated under authority of the trade agreements act. These include:

[1] Provision for a commission representing both governments to consult on all matters affecting the pact.

[2] A separate schedule of concessions granted Argentina on products which the United States formerly received from other sources now cut off by the war. The concessions are subject to modification or termination by this country on six months' notice after the war between England and Germany ceases. Principal products on this list are wines and liquors, Italian type cheeses, macaroni and similar products, and sunflower oil.

[3] Provision that a certain proportion of the tariff reductions granted the United States shall not become effective until Argentine customs revenue from imports again equals at least 270 million paper pesos a year [about 81 million dollars and the approximate 1931-'40 average].

Cut Meat Duty in Half.

Among the concessions granted Argentina is a 50 per cent reduction in the duty on canned meats and flaxseed, prime export products of the southern republic. The duty on canned meats was reduced from 6 to 3 cents a pound.

Two provisions apply to the reduction on flaxseed. One confined to the present emergency cuts the rate from 65 cents a bushel to 32½ cents. The other, termed a permanent reduction, drops the rate to 50 cents. The pact provides that the lower duty on flaxseed can be terminated by a proclamation by President Roosevelt.

Other major reductions in duty include:

Grapes—If entered between Feb. 15 and June 30, from 25 to 12½ cents per cubic foot.

Prunes and plums—If entered between Feb. 1 and May 31, from ½ to ¼ cent a pound.

Hides and skins of cattle—From 10 per cent ad valorem to 5 per cent.

Rope-soled footwear known as alpargatas—From 35 per cent ad valorem to 17½ per cent.

Wools—Not finer than 40s, in grease or washed, from 24 to 13 cents a pound; scoured, from 27 to 16 cents.

Automotive Duties Cut.

Tariff concessions to the United States include a 30 per cent reduction in the duty on prunes, a 40 per cent reduction on canned salmon and mackerel, 49 per cent on fresh apples, 50 per cent on fresh grapes, 35 per cent on raisins, 30 per cent on canned sardines, 10 per cent on automobile parts, with certain exceptions; 25 per cent on asbestos brake lining, 20 per cent on rubber hose, 9 to 37 per cent on various types of lumber, 10 to 29 per cent on radio receivers, and 50 per cent on kraft lighter board.

In an analysis of concessions obtained by the United States, the state department said that while 127 tariff items were involved, many of these covered whole groups of products, so that the number of individual products benefiting from the agreement was in reality much larger.

Sen. Hugh Butler [R., Neb.] criticized the agreement as "one more evidence that this administration is not interested in the welfare of the American farmer." Producers of beef cattle, dairy products, wool, and flaxseed, he said, are once again to be "sacrificed under the time worn excuse of a national emergency."

Sen. Thomas C. O'Mahoney [D., Wyo.] said: "The reduction of tariff duty on agricultural products which would compete with our own western agricultural products are really much smaller than many of us in the west had feared might be made."

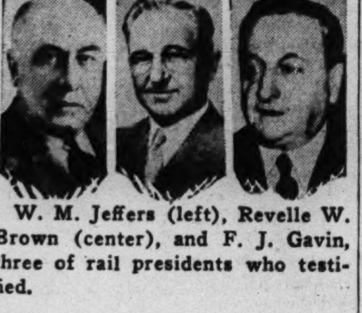
Four Railroad Presidents Hit Pay Boost Plea

Four railroad presidents yesterday told President Roosevelt's fact finding commission in Kimball hall their reasons for opposing the wage increases demanded by their employés. The railroads have announced that they are willing to increase wages on a modified scale, but not at the rates of 30 per cent asked by the operating unions and at 30 cents an hour sought by the nonoperating unions.

The railroad executives who presented testimony yesterday were Revelle W. Brown of the Lehigh Valley, who started as a laborer for the Baltimore and Ohio at East St. Louis; F. J. Gavin of the Great Northern; W. M. Jeffers of the Union Pacific, who started as a janitor and messenger boy, and William White of the Lackawanna.

Hits Too Many Helpers.

Brown, citing his own experiences, said that whereas 40 years ago a railroad worker had to be a jack-of-all-trades he now is specialized. For example, repairing a stationary engine was a job the engineer could perform alone in the old days. Now such a job requires a steamfitter and helper, a plumber and his helper, and a boilermaker and his helper. Division of work under modern procedure has multiplied labor costs, he said.



W. M. Jeffers (left), Revelle W. Brown (center), and F. J. Gavin, three of rail presidents who testified.

Gavin submitted a statement which declared that the greater part of a wage increase on his road would have to be borne by northwestern industries, farms, mines, forests, whose production can only be carried on by the maintenance of cheap railroad transportation. If wage rates are boosted the railroad will have to increase its freight rates proportionately, he declared.

Urges Long Range View.

Gavin said that while the Great Northern came thru the last postwar period in solvent condition it "had to scrape the bottom of the barrel in 1933." He added that it is in the interest of railroad workers to take a long range view of the situation. Railroad workers only have work when their employers have traffic to carry, he said.

Jeffers told the commission that the traffic volume, which has been moving upward for months, has been flattening out in recent weeks.

White submitted a statement to the commission after which J. H. Parmelee, head of the bureau of railway economics, gave further details on the methods the railroads use as a basis for their proposed wage increases.

3 CHICAGO RAILROADS REPORT PROFITS; HAD NET LOSSES YEAR AGO

Rule Out Ford CIO Contract for 14 Plants

Washington, D. C., Oct. 14 [Special].—The National Labor Relations board has held, in effect, that the Ford Motor company has no right to make a closed-shop contract with the United Automobile Workers [CIO] covering all its employés, because the CIO had been certified as the spokesman only for the employés in the River Rouge and Lincoln plants, and the question of representation as between the CIO and the AFL was still open in other plants.

As a result of a formal petition by the AFL, it was disclosed today that the NLRB has ordered an election by employés in 14 Ford feeder plants in Michigan where the federation says it has majorities.

Included in CIO contract.

These plants were included in the contract signed by the Ford company with the CIO on June 20, when it granted a closed shop and check-off to the CIO, which had previously won an election in the Rouge and Lincoln plants.

The company's generosity in voluntarily including all its employés in the wage agreement, altho the question of representation had only been settled in two plants, is now embarrassing it and threatens to embarrass it further. The AFL is demanding that the company cease checking off monthly dues from employés of the 14 Michigan plants and turning this money over to the CIO.

Basis of Demand.

The basis for this demand is that many of these employés are members of the federation, have never been included in a CIO unit, and have not authorized the company to deduct their dues.

Further, the AFL also is demanding that the Ford company refund to employés in the 14 plants who were members of the AFL when the Ford-CIO agreement was signed the total amount of dues checked off on behalf of the CIO under the contract.

The AFL threatens to proceed against the Ford company and prefer charges of unfair labor practices.

CIO Threatens to Strike at All American Can Company Plants

The Steel Workers Organizing Committee [CIO] last night threatened a nation-wide tieup of American Can company plants unless a labor dispute in two Chicago plants was settled "very shortly." Harry Harper, sub-district director of the SWOC, said international officers of the union had notified the company of their intentions after a breakdown in negotiations for a new contract.

Harper asserted the union has contracts covering workers in 16 of the company's 27 plants, and has more than 15,000 members in all plants. Two thousand workers left the Chicago plant Sept. 15 after police had been summoned by company officials because of what they termed a "sort of a sitdown strike."

Hits Wage Differential.

Harper said the union asked elimination of the differential between wages paid in west coast plants and Chicago, a modified vacation plan and a union shop. He said minimum wages in Chicago have been 60 cents an hour for men and 51 cents for women, while the coast minimums were 77½ and 68½ cents.

Negotiations resumed under sponsorship of the department of labor after the September walkout have produced no results, Harper said. Company officials could not be reached for comment.

SETTLEMENT UP TO BOARD.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

The Defense Mediation board was asked by the department of labor in Washington yesterday to try to settle an interunion strike which has delayed production of transmissions for army tanks and "jeeps." The case was certified to the board after a labor department concilator had failed to bring about an agreement between the Hillsdale [Mich.] Steel Products company and rival CIO and AFL United Auto Workers' unions.

CIO unionists struck last Thursday, protesting that 11 of their members had been discharged. The mediation board was told that the AFL union, which recently won a plant election, had threatened to strike if the company rehired the CIO workers.

Makes Most of "Jeeps."

The Hillsdale company is a subsidiary of the Spicer Manufacturing corporation, Toledo, O. The CIO has a contract at Spicer and has refused to handle parts produced at Hillsdale.

A shortage of chassis frames supplied by the strike-bound Midland Steel Products company, Cleveland, caused the Hudson Motor Car company to close its Detroit plant during the day. Hudson employs about 8,000 hourly paid workers and has been producing 1,000 cars a week.

A general strike of 75,000 eastern members of the United Automobile Workers [CIO] was threatened as presidents of eastern UAW locals voted in New York to "take immediate and proper action" unless President Leroy Hill of Air Associates, Inc., Bendix, N. J., agreed to negotiate a strike of 350 production workers.

FARM WAGES HIGH.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 14. (AP).—Farm wage rates have advanced to the highest level since 1930, the department of agriculture reported today. It attributed the climb in large part to the loss of workers to the army and armament industries.

Packers Term NLRB Stand a Breach of Law

The national defense mediation board, in its recommendation for arbitration of a labor dispute involving three Chicago packing companies, took a stand which is contrary to law and would encourage union breaches of no-strike contracts, counsel for the packers charged yesterday.

Lewis F. Jacobson, counsel for the companies, announced he would file a protest today with the board charging that the proposal would make labor contracts meaningless and loose a wave of strikes in violation of union agreements.

Willing to Arbitrate.

At the same time Jacobson announced that the companies are ready to proceed with arbitration as provided for by the contracts, but not in the manner suggested by the board. The companies' objection to the board's arbitration plan, he said, was that the board proposed that the arbitrator should consider circumstances, such as orders from "higherups," in determining whether an employé should be reinstated. Under the procedure in the standard contract the only issue is whether the contract was broken, Jacobson said.

"No strike" clauses in contracts would be meaningless if violators were permitted to excuse themselves on the ground that they acted on orders from union higherups, the companies will contend, Jacobson said.

Strikes Started Aug. 28.

The board's recommendation, made Sunday, concerned the companies' refusal to rehire 17 union leaders of six strikes which the companies declared unauthorized.

The strikes began Aug. 28, and following a brief peace, were renewed Sept. 11. The three plants were those of Illinois Meat company, Agar Packing company, and P. Brennan company. About 900 of the 1,500 members of the Packinghouse Workers Organizing committee [CIO] were said to have obeyed the strike call.

After hearings in Washington, the mediation board recommended that the strikers return to work Monday and that the standing of the 17 leaders be determined by an arbitrator to be named by Mayor Kelly. The union announced acceptance of the recommendations, and most of the strikers went back to work Monday.

Officers Not Reinstated.

Among the 17 not reinstated were the presidents of three locals of the PWOC. Arthur Goldberg, counsel for the PWOC, said yesterday that if the leaders are not reinstated, the union will ask the mediation board to intervene again.

Judge Philip J. Finnegan of the Circuit court issued 106 additional contempt citations against strikers.

Those cited to show cause why they should not be held in contempt of court included J. C. Lewis, national chairman of the CIO Packinghouse Workers' Organizing committee, three local units of the United Packinghouse Workers of America, and union officials. A total of 298 citations have now been issued for alleged violations of injunctions prohibiting mass picketing, violence, and intimidation.

MARKETERS RAP 'NEEDLESS' LACK OF OIL IN EAST

There is no reason for any oil shortage in the east, and if one exists all that needs to be done to correct it is to put idle facilities into use, the National Oil Marketers' association was told yesterday at its convention in the Morrison hotel.

D. O. Groce, St. Charles, Mo., oil jobber and member of the marketing committee for district No. 2 in the oil coördination system established by Federal Oil Coördinator Harold Ickes declared:

"I do not believe there is any reason except a self-made one for a shortage of petroleum products on the east coast or any other place in the United States. I believe we have a sufficient supply of crude. If we haven't, all we need to do is to release restrictions."

J. Howard Marshall, chief counsel to the oil coördinator, defended the administration's imposition of an all-night closing order on service stations in eastern states.

STATE SALES TAX EXEMPTION FOR U. S. NEEDS URGED

Exemption of goods sold to the federal government from the state's 2 per cent sales tax will be urged Thursday by Illinois manufacturers at a conference in the Union League club.

Arguing that they are handicapped by the tax in bidding against plants in other states for government contracts, the manufacturers have requested the state finance department to issue a ruling lifting the tax from sales to the government. The department now requires payment of the tax if the goods are delivered to government agencies within the state.

George B. McKibbin, state finance director, will meet with attorneys representing the association and other business groups and various army and naval officials in the Chicago area.

NELSON ADVISES DOUBLING ARMS OUTPUT TOTALS

New York, Oct. 14 (AP).—Donald M. Nelson, executive director of the Supply Priorities and Allocations board, pleaded today that the nation "shoot the works" to beat Hitler. Nelson told a luncheon meeting of the New York Sales Executives club:

"I think we ought to realize that our best and quickest way out of the trouble we are in is to plunge straight ahead and double everything we have done."

RETAILERS CURB PRICE UPSWING, SAYS MACLEISH

Increases Exceeded in Other Indices.

United action by the nation's retailers has prevented retail prices from rising as swiftly as have wholesale prices, Bruce MacLeish, vice president and secretary of Carson Pirie Scott & Co., yesterday told the Newspaper Advertising Executives association at a meeting in the Blackstone hotel.

Bruce MacLeish.

The consumer has reaped the benefit of this policy, he said, as indicated by a bureau of labor statistics index which shows retail prices have risen only 7.5 per cent since June, 1939, whereas industrial wages have advanced 29.1 per cent, farm products 47.2 per cent and wholesale prices 19.4 per cent.

"The retail price index of clothing shows a 5.6 per cent increase as contrasted to the wholesale price increase of 16.4 per cent," he continued. "And retail food prices, which have received almost all the consumer criticism to date, have increased 15.4 per cent as compared with the wholesale price increase of 29 per cent."

Bolsters Buying Power.

"Consumer prices have been kept stable enough to give labor an increase in real wages of 8.6 per cent on an hourly basis and 21 per cent on a weekly basis."

MacLeish attributed a substantial part of the good showing made by retailers in stabilizing prices to the economic advisory committee formed by the National Retail Dry Goods association. That group has worked with the retailers' advisory committee, headed by Miss Harriet Elliott of the Office of Price Administration.

Commenting on the necessity for maintaining good customer relations, MacLeish said this was particularly desirable at present.

"The consumer sees only the price he pays," he explained. "He does not know that the price increase took place at primary levels long before it became bad news for him at the retail counter.

Interests are Identical.

"The retailer and the consumer have identical interest in the price that will encourage the maximum production and use of goods. The retailer gets a fair profit out of volume sale at low prices and the consumer gets more goods and better living out of the same condition."

Ian H. Macdonald, general manager of the bureau of advertising, Canadian Daily Newspaper association, Toronto, discussed the effect of the war on newspaper advertising in Canada. He said that many companies, including large automobile manufacturers whose product advertising has been curtailed because of the war have used advertising space in the newspapers to support various government activities.

"The homespun values of the newspaper and its place in the community are being recognized," he said. "Aside from the automotive, newspaper advertising is continuing in robust fashion."

PLEDGE MACHINE TOOL MAKERS TO PEAK OPERATIONS

Full day and night operation of toolmaking machinery in an effort to speed production for the armament program was called for in a resolution adopted yesterday by the National Machine Tool Builders' association in the Edgewater Beach hotel.

The resolution also pledged association members to increase the amount of subcontracting to the smaller makers of parts and machines and to operate essential machines on Sundays when possible.

Several officials of the Office of Production Management, including Mason Britton, chief of the tool section, and Howard Dunbar, technical chief of the section, discussed priorities and related problems at the meeting.

Clifford S. Stilwell, executive vice president of Warner & Swasey company, Cleveland, O., was elected president of the association.

LET CONTRACTS FOR 10 NEW LAKE IRON ORE SHIPS

Washington, D. C., Oct. 14 (AP).—The maritime commission awarded a contract today to the Great Lakes Engineering works, River Rouge, Mich., for 10 bulk ore carrier vessels for the Great Lakes.

Six of the ships will be constructed at River Rouge while the other four will be built at the company's plant at Ashtabula, O. All will be delivered during the spring of 1943, the commission said.

Award of the contract completed the commission's Great Lakes ore carrier building program for the present. It previously awarded a contract to the American Shipbuilding company for six ships. The estimated cost for construction of the 16 vessels is about 30 million dollars.

Chicago Firm Gets Army Contract for Gun Parts

Washington, D. C., Oct. 14 (AP).—A $396,274 contract was announced today by the war department to Hannifin Manufacturing company, Chicago, for recoil mechanisms.

Chicago's Builders Face Heavy Job Loss; City Loses Meetings

27,500 May Be Idle

Restriction of public and private building activties to only those essential to the armament program or to public health, as ordered last week by the Supply Priorities and Allocation board, will throw out of work at least 27,500 building trade employés in the Chicago area and mean the loss of several million dollars annually in wages, union officials here predicted yesterday.

Building contractors and real estate men estimated, at the same time, that the order will slash building in the metropolitan area next year by about $25,000,000.

Figures Are Minimums.

These figures were considered minimums, based on the Office of Production Management's own estimate that the restriction of building to rearmament necessities would cut construction by 25 per cent and take the jobs of 22 per cent of the building trade workers.

Building trade mechanics in the Chicago area number nearly 125,000, according to Earl McMahon, secretary of the building trades council [AFL]. These include chiefly some 40,000 carpenters, 40,000 painters, 20,000 pipe men [electricians, plumbers, steamfitters, etc.], 6,000 bricklayers, 2,000 plasterers, 1,500 lathers, and 800 asbestos workers.

The latest study put the average yearly wage of these workers at $1,500, McMahon said.

Building Permit Figures.

Total value of the city building was about $40,000,000 and of suburban building approximately $60,000,000, a total of $100,000,000 for the Chicago metropolitan area.

The OPM estimate of a 25 per cent cut here would mean the loss of units valued at $25,000,000 in the city and suburbs.

Actually the loss to workers and industry may be much greater. Both contractors and union officials emphasized that the SPAB announcement was a statement of policy. Until the board clarifies the statement with definitions and ruling no one can say with certainty how hard the ruling will hit construction. There also are local complications.

"With restrictions getting more and more severe, there soon may be no building in Chicago, defense or otherwise," said Charles Joern, of William Joern & Sons, one of the city's largest home builders. Joern was one of 30 builders who met recently with government agencies in Washington, D. C., to discuss regulation of the industry.

The following figures show the average amount of metals per home used in the 600,000 homes of the $6,000 class built in the United States last year, and what per cent of the country's production of each metal was used in the 600,000 homes:

	Amount per home.	% of nat'l product'n.
Steel	2 tons	1.33
Lead	200 pounds	5 to 10
Copper	144 pounds	4.32
Zinc	77 pounds	2.56
Chromium	⅔ ounce	[missing]

According to one builder, a $7,500 home uses only $10 worth more metal than a $6,000 home.

Two Conventions Go

Loss of Navy pier for convention purposes and the increasing stress on armament production under priority regulations have caused Chicago to lose two big conventions, W. J. Hennessy, convention manager of the Chicago Association of Commerce, reported yesterday. Hennessy spoke at a meeting of the convention bureau of the Greater Chicago Hotel association in the La Salle hotel.

W. J. Hennessy.

"Chicago definitely will lose one large show which we were assured would come here if the pier were available—that of the Dairy Industries Supply association," he said.

"The meeting of the American Road Builders association which had been scheduled for Chicago for the third week of January has been canceled, because of the rush of priority orders. Practically every manufacturer in the association is producing war materials of some kind."

Navy pier has been rented by the navy to provide quarters for housing and training aviation mechanics.

Loss of the two conventions will cost Chicago businesses 3 million dollars in trade, Hennessy said.

Motor Coach Line Fights Dividend Ban

Counsel for the Chicago Motor Coach company asserted at a hearing before the Illinois Commerce commission yesterday that the company's reputation and credit have been seriously damaged by a recent order of the commission prohibiting dividend payments on the company's stock.

The charge was made at a hearing in connection with the commission's inquiry to determine whether the 10 cent motor coach fare should be reduced. When the commission launched its inquiry Aug. 13, it entered an order forbidding dividend payments. The hearing yesterday was marked by a clash between Irvin Rooks, attorney for the bus company, and Chairman John D. Biggs over the dividend ban.

Explains Company's Position.

"The order forbidding dividend payments was entered without the ghost of legal foundation and without even granting the company a hearing to defend itself," Rooks asserted. "We are asking the commission to vacate the order immediately. The company's credit and reputation are being irreparably damaged because the commission's order has created the impression that there is some financial reason why the dividends should not be paid. There is no such reason."

"It is up to the coach company to prove that the order should be vacated," Biggs replied. "If you can convince the commission, the order will be lifted promptly. Is our position clear?"

"Your position is perfectly clear and absolutely wrong," Rooks retorted. "The order was void in the first place and we refuse to recognize it."

The commission then instructed the bus company to submit evidence today to show why the order should be lifted. Rooks said the coach system would not coöperate in such a proceeding inasmuch as he believed the order is void.

Tells of "L" Losses.

Meanwhile, Herbert M. Johnson, attorney for the Chicago Rapid Transit company, yesterday began to submit evidence to the commerce commission in support of the company's petition for an increase in "L" fares from 10 to 12 cents.

Clement A. Whonsetler, financial officer for the elevated road, testified that the company had a net loss in the year ended May 31, 1941, of $586,036. This was after allowing for operating expenses, but before considering any return to investors, he said. Wage increases effective June 1 have increased this loss at the rate of $807,000 annually, he said.

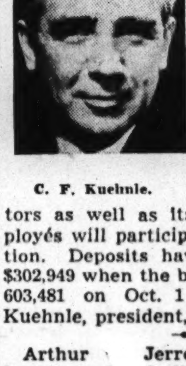
35 PCT. OF AUGUST'S AIRPLANE PRODUCTION SENT NATIONS ABROAD

Washington, D. C., Oct. 14 [Special].—Aeronautical products valued at $52,331,213, or about 35 per cent of all domestic production, were exported during August, the department of commerce reported today. This represented an increase of $9,386,000 over July.

Shipments of all aeronautical products during the first eight months of 1941 were valued at $379,071,608, an increase of 91 per cent over a year ago.

People and Events

The Central National Bank in Chicago is celebrating its fifth anniversary today with an open house and formal reception in the bank building at Roosevelt road and Halsted street. The celebration will also mark the opening to public view of improvements made in the interior of the bank. The institution's depositors as well as its officers and employés will participate in the celebration. Deposits have increased from $302,949 when the bank opened to $18,603,481 on Oct. 1 this year, C. F. Kuehnle, president, reported.



C. F. Kuehnle.

Arthur W. Jerrems, Chicago, has been appointed district traffic manager of United Air Lines at Des Moines, Ia. He formerly was manager of sales in the heavy industry field in the company's Chicago office.

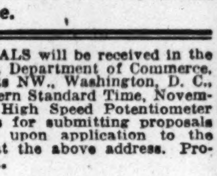
L. A. Herrmann, office manager for for Servel, Inc., Evansville, Ind., will address the Office Management Association of Chicago at its dinner meeting in the Merchandise Mart tomorrow.

George G. Ungar, secretary-treasurer and controler of the Hub, Henry C. Lytton & Sons, has resigned, effective today. No successor has been named, and Ungar has not made known his future plans. He joined the company in 1931 as assistant controler.

Gustave Heding, Chicago, vice president of the Teletype corporation, has been named president of the corporation at a meeting of the board of directors in New York. He succeeds Stanley Bracken, who resigned.



Gustave Heding.

Fifty successful candidates will be presented with certified public accountant certificates by the University of Illinois at a dinner meeting of the Illinois Society of Certified Public Accountants Oct. 23 in the Union League club. The society will present a gold medal to Robert M. Trueblood, Chicago, for the highest record in the May examination. Milton Falkhoff, Chicago, will receive a silver medal for second place.

SEALED PROPOSALS will be received in the Weather Bureau, Department of Commerce, 24th and M Streets NW., Washington, D. C., until 2 p. m., Eastern Standard Time, November 3, 1941, for High Speed Potentiometer Recorders. Blanks for submitting proposals may be obtained upon application to the Weather Bureau at the above address. Proposal No. 9011-41.

OPM SETS NEW CURB ON COPPER AND CHEMICALS

Acts to Save Zipper Making Center.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Oct. 14.—New drastic restrictions on civilian uses of copper products are planned by the Office of Production Management, it was disclosed today along with an announcement of rigid control over certain chemicals.

The copper regulations are designed to conserve supplies vital for armament purposes. The priorities order applying to chemicals was announced as a step to save ingredients needed for rearmament and for fumigation purposes in the production of foodstuffs.

In another order the OPM certified Meadville, Pa., zipper center of the country, to the war department for rearmament contracts. The city faces severe unemployment because priorities have denied materials to its principal industry, Talon, Inc., zipper manufacturer.

Sharp Curtailment Planned.

Priorities Director Donald M Nelson disclosed in a New York speech that the OPM is drafting an order "sharply curtailing innumerable uses of copper." He said:

"For the rest of the emergency, for example, no one will be allowed to make such things as vases, pitchers, candlesticks, andirons, cuspidors, ashtrays, and doorknobs containing copper. You will not, after the first of the year, be able to buy copper stripping or screening for your house; if you die you can't be buried in a bronze casket, and your family will not be able to put up a bronze memorial marker in your memory."

Nelson estimated copper supplies for 1942 at 1,800,000 tons, of which at least 1,550,000 tons are required for military use and to maintain power, transportation, communication and other essential services.

Fourth Normal Needs.

This leaves only 250,000 tons for ordinary civilian uses which normally exceed a million tons, he said.

An OPM statement said that "copper is now being allocated by the division of priorities in such a way that the most essential defense needs can be filled, but for the time being there is little or no copper left over for ordinary civilian purposes."

Along with his warning of civilian restrictions, Nelson from his Washington headquarters issued two orders affecting copper. One provides priorities' assistance to Latin American copper mines producing large quantities of the metal. The order grants a high priority rating to the mines on maintenance materials and other operating supplies, enabling the operators to procure them more quickly.

The OPM hopes this action will speed production schedules of the companies which include Cerro de Pasco Copper corporation, Andes Copper Mining company, Chile Exploration company, and Braden Copper company.

Aid May Be Extended.

Similar assistance may be extended to other South American copper mines, the OPM said. The four companies are producing about 516,000 tons of copper a year, most of which is acquired by the United States government.

The other priorities order on copper gives a high preference rating, A-10, to about 150 refineries, smelters, and other remelters of copper scrap and copper base-alloy scrap to facilitate their acquisition of supplies for armament purposes.

Each company using copper gets an allocation certificate every month from the OPM certifying the amount of metal to which it is entitled. The October allotment totaled 139,000 tons, altho OPM officials said that demand for the metal for armament purposes alone amounted to 145,000 tons, indicating a shortage of 6,000 tons.

The order assigns the high priority rating of A-10 to all armament orders for these solvents. Also, each producer is required, after making provision for deliveries on arms orders, to set aside for an emergency pool 5 per cent of each chlorinated hydrocarbon solvent produced each month.

SCRAP ALUMINUM CUT.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 14 (AP).—Price Administrator Leon Henderson said today he would reduce ceiling prices for aluminum scrap and secondary ingot 1 to 3 cents a pound and set specific premiums for shipment of scrap in quantity. The revised prices will go into effect Nov. 1, one month after the reduction in the price of virgin aluminum from 17 to 15 cents.

9 Month Air Conditioning System Sales Set Record

All previous Chicago records for sale of air conditioning systems and electric room coolers were broken in the first 9 months of 1941, the Commonwealth Edison company reported yesterday. A total of 406 central plant installations of temperature control systems, with an aggregate capacity of 12,267 horsepower, were contracted for. This compares with 347 systems with a combined rating of 7,571 horsepower sold in the corresponding period last year.

PLAN FOR ARMS CLINIC ATTRACTS WIDE RESPONSE

Chicago Meeting to Draw Big Contract Holders.

Acceptances by large companies at work on government contracts of invitations to attend a three day production clinic starting Oct. 22 in the Stevens hotel are being received in large number by the contract distribution division of the Office of Production Management, W. Homer Hartz, Chicago coördinator, said yesterday.

"Altho this clinic was announced only Saturday, wires of acceptance from prime contractors have been streaming in," Hartz said. The clinic is designed to promote the farming out of armament jobs to smaller plants and is the first sponsored in this area by OPM.

Four hundred prime contractors from the entire country have been invited.

Booths to Be Provided.

"Each company participating will be represented by at least two production engineers or purchasing men," Hartz explained. "These men will be given a booth and table for their subcontracting activities.

"The prime contractors' requirements will be forwarded before the clinic opens to the division of contract distribution office at 164 West Jackson boulevard. Blueprints, specifications, and data on production for the advice of potential subcontractors will be analyzed there. The types of machine tools needed also will be specified."

The engineering department will analyze the prime contractors' requirements in advance and small manufacturers with the needed facilities will be directed to the proper booths, thus avoiding delay caused by interviewing unqualified bidders, Hartz said.

The production clinic will be held with the coöperation of trade, business and other groups in Illinois, Iowa, Indiana, Wisconsin, and Michigan, and various branches of the army and navy.

Need Admission Cards.

Manufacturers can gain admission to the clinic by inquiring at the contract distribution office. If they have not previously registered their facilities with that office, they will be required to do so before they will be given admission cards.

A feature of the clinic will be an exhibit by the various prime contractors of the component parts of military items which might be made or assembled by subcontractors.

Hartz last night opened a series of eight forums on how to adjust business to the armament program. The forums are held in the headquarters of the Chicago Commission on National Defense at 176 West Washington street and are sponsored by the commission and the defense training committee of the Illinois Institute of Technology.

AIRCRAFT ENGINE MAKER REPORTS BIG PROFIT GAIN

Continental Motors corporation reported yesterday it realized net profit of $2,236,164, equal to 75 cents a common share, in the ninth months ended July 31. In the same 1940 period net income was $389,138, or 13 cents a share.

National Malleable and Steel company earned $402,099, equal to 83 cents a share, in the quarter ended Sept. 27, compared with $312,457, or 64 cents a share, in the quarter ended Sept. 28, 1940. It set aside $652,500 for federal excess profits taxes against $204,000 in the 1940 period.

APPROVE PLANS TO LIQUQIDATE NICHOLS' BANK

Stockholders of the First National Bank of Englewood met yesterday and voted formal approval of the liquidation program announced recently by John M. Nichols, president.

Nichols announced after the meeting that a liquidating dividend of $525 a share will be paid in cash to the stockholders about the middle of December. Later a small final dividend will be distributed when the last of the accounts is settled.

The bank is paying off all depositors in full and going out of business because, Nichols said, he does not care to be custodian of other people's money under conditions such as exist and are in prospect.

First of Englewood Safe Deposit company, the bank's safety box unit, will continue to operate, Nichols said.

Small BUSINESS MAN'S Department

This department is prepared to help the small business man who is seeking information on priorities, substitute materials, and related subjects. Inquiries should be directed to the Small Business Man's department, Chicago Tribune, Chicago, Ill. All inquiries will be given careful attention. Letters on subjects of broad interest will be published and commented on.

MORE COPPER.

We are advised that shipments of brass sheets, wire, and rod from our mill sources will henceforth be limited to A-10 priority ratings or better. We are further advised that these mills have capacity but are unable to operate at capacity due to insufficient supply of copper.

Why is there no amendment to the order fixing the ceiling price of copper at 12 cents a pound to permit operation of the high cost copper producing mines of Arizona, New Mexico, and Michigan? An allowance as high as 5 cents a pound for some of these mines would result in an advance in brass of only 3 cents a pound as the mixture of the metal is approximately only 60 per cent copper. The effect of such an advance in brass would approximate 5 per cent on products made entirely of brass and a lesser percentage when combined with other material.

Answer: Price Administrator Leon Henderson has not appeared receptive to suggestions that he raise the 12 cent a pound ceiling on copper. In August when the ceiling was imposed, he stressed the fact that the 12 cent level had prevailed for about a year.

He said he recognized, however, that high cost copper would also be needed in the armament program, and recommended that the Metals Reserve company, an agency of the government's Reconstruction Finance corporation, buy copper which cannot be produced profitably under the ceiling.

Henderson commented that more than 90 per cent of the current domestic output of copper can be produced without loss for 12 cents a pound. He argued that if the price were allowed to rise 1 cent a pound [or $20 a ton] the cost to the government and industry of the more than one million tons produced annually would increase 20 million dollars or more.

He said that negotiations would be undertaken between the Office of Production Management and copper producers to expand the output of their mines. The progress of these negotiations has not been reported.

U. S. IS WORLD LEADER IN BEER MANUFACTURING

The majority of beer manufactured and consumed thruout the world is now brewed in the United States, George W. Eads, an official of the National Beer Wholesalers' association, said yesterday. The association is holding its fourth annual convention in the Hotel Sherman.

The war caused the beer industry to shift from Europe to the United States, Eads said. Since Czechoslovakia, Germany, Austria, and England, former leaders in the brewing industry, have curtailed production for home consumption and have eliminated exports, American breweries supply the bulk of the world's beer, he added.

Warren G. Bailey, Chicago district manager of the Office of Production Management's priorities field service, will speak today at the closing session of the convention.

SECURITY OFFERINGS

An offering in the American market of 15 million dollars of 1 to 15 year serial debentures is being planned by Hiram Walker-Gooderham & Worts, Ltd., and its American subsidiary, Hiram Walker & Sons, Inc., H. C. Hatch, president and chairman of both companies, announced yesterday. The proceeds of the financing will be used to pay off bank loans and the entire issue of $3,747,000 of the companies' 10 year 4¼ per cent convertible debentures, due Dec. 1, 1945.

Mellon Securities corporation reoffered $8,927,000 of first mortgage 30 year bonds of Mississippi Power company bonds which it had won earlier in the day on a bid of 102.114 in spirited competition for the 3⅛ per cent issue. The interest cost basis to the utility was 3.0174 per cent. The winning bidder reported that most of the bonds were sold before the end of the day to institutional buyers. The price was 102.45.

MONOPOLY QUIZ CHIEF DESCRIBES INQUIRY ON FOOD

Baldridge Says Chains Have Co-operated.

Three of the seven major food chains in the country have been investigated by the government anti-trust division since its food price inquiry was started last May, Holmes Baldridge, chief of the trial section of the anti-trust division of the justice department, said yesterday. He spoke at the annual meeting of the National Association of Food Chains in the Drake hotel.

Baldridge said that chain organizations willingly have opened their files to his investigators who are seeking evidence on complaints that chain stores engage in monopolistic practices. The purpose of the investigation is to eliminate "costly and artificial" distribution methods and to assure fair competition to the food industry, he explained.

Not Opposed to Bigness.

He asserted that the anti-trust division does not hold that bigness or mass buying power in themselves are economically wrong or that chains should be broken up because they are large aggregations of wealth.

"The answer to monopoly does not consist of destroying the efficiency of organized industries if they pass the savings from this efficiency on to the consumer," Baldridge declared.

Chain stores cannot be condemned, he said, if savings are effected thru efficient methods as the result of mass purchasing and distribution, and if these economies reduce the cost of food to the public. The goal of the food chain investigation is to determine to what extent the savings are passed on, he added.

Retailing a Lesser Activity.

The anti-trust attorney said the inquiry had disclosed that 80 per cent of corporate chains' profits was derived from the intermediate transaction of purchasing, processing, and brokerage, and only 20 per cent on the retail sales.

"How much of this 80 per cent of the profit could have been passed on to the consumer?" asked Baldridge. "We are trying to find out whether the complaints are true that the chains obtain a systematic purchasing advantage thru coercive buying practices, whether their great buying power is used to establish local and regional monopolies."

SELLING IN RAILS GIVES BOND LIST MIXED CLOSING

New York, Oct. 14 (AP).—The bond market was slightly unsettled by the reappearance of selling orders in the rails today and ended with minor gains and losses about evenly divided in the main groups.

Volume was the smallest in about three weeks at $5,070,300, par value, compared with $5,825,700 last Friday.

United States government obligations were quiet on both the stock exchange and over the counter. Longer term maturities held closely to levels of last week, but some nearby maturities dropped.

YOUNGSTOWN ISSUES.

I would like information on the Youngstown Sheet and Tube company's first mortgage 3¼s and debenture 4s. What is the investment position of these issues from the standpoint of earnings, the company's place in the steel industry, assets and security? —N. C. B.

Answer: The first mortgage sinking fund series D 3¼ per cent bonds, due Nov. 1, 1960, were outstanding in the amount of $45,000,000 at the end of last year. The convertible debenture 4s, due Sept. 1, 1948, were outstanding in the amount of $20,000,000. The company's total funded debt, including serial notes and serial debentures, was $82,500,000. The bonds are secured by a first mortgage lien on substantially all real properties owned in fee by the company and on other interests and securities. The debentures are a direct obligation not secured by mortgage and are junior to the first mortgage bonds.

Youngstown Sheet and Tube ranks sixth in the country's steel industry. The company has large earning power in years of good steel demand, and has shown sharply higher profits under the rearmament program. From a loss of $658,934 in 1938, earnings rose to a profit of $5,004,484 in 1939 and $10,815,468 in 1940.

Net income in the first six months this year was $9,342,194, compared with $2,423,212 in the same 1940 period. Fixed charges in those respective periods were covered 8.08 and 2.31 times. Fixed charges were earned 4.13 and 2.34 times in 1940 and 1939, and for 10 years thru 1940 an average of 1.50 times.

The company reported total assets of more than $251,000,000 at the close of last year. Current assets were more than $95,500,000.

GYPSUM AND 6%.

I was interested in the table in Investors' Guide the other day showing the recent earnings per share of certain corporations and how much profit per share would be if limited to 6 per cent on invested capital as proposed by the treasury. What would this be for U. S. Gypsum? Have profits been gaining? —C. I.

Answer: Latest 12 months net income for United States Gypsum company was $5.17 a share. Using the 1940 tax law invested capital base, per share profit would be limited to $2.70 under the 6 per cent proposal.

Net income the first six months this year was $3,211,826, compared with $2,781,458 in the corresponding 1940 period. Net income was $4,725,497 in 1938, $7,365,847 in 1939, and $7,052,974 last year.

How Much Do You Need?
Simply tell us how much you need, your name, address, and where you work. That is about all we ask when you phone us for a loan. Yes, it is just as simple as that.
But don't take our word for it. Why not phone us and prove it for yourself?
